White Goods Trade Unanimous for a Walk-Out in Sympathy with Garment Employes.

EXPECT CALL NEXT WEEK

Throngs at Cooper Union and Labor Temple Meetings Cheer Proposal to Quit Work.

MANY TRADES INVOLVED

Allied Strike, Leaders Assert, Will Be the Greatest Ever Called in the Clothing Industry.

Another step by labor leaders to swell the ranks of the men's and boys' ready-to-wear garment workers, who are now on strike in this city, to 200,000 by calling out those employed in the women's garment industry, exclusive of the cloak, suit, and skirt trade, was taken last night when white goods workers who packed Cooper Union and the Labor Temple in Fourteenth Street, voted almost unanimously in favor of a strike of the 16,000 employes in their department of the women's garment industry.

This step followed directly on the meeting at the Hippodrome on Sunday afternoon of the shirtwaist makers, representing 60,000 workers, and it is expected that to-night the kimona and wrapper makers, representing 15,000 more workers, will take action. All told, the workers in these three departments of the industry approximate 90,000 persons, and these added to the 110,000 garment workers already on strike will bring the total number of those who have quit work to 200,000.

No vote was taken last night for an actual strike. It was merely a movement to ascertain the "feeling" for a strike, as the labor leaders explained. The balloting, it was explained, would begin on Wednesday. It was a foregone conclusion, it was asserted, that the vote would favor a general strike, and it was also understood that the strike in the three separate departments of the trade, under the auspices of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, would be called simultaneously, probably next Monday afternoon.

The Cooper Union meeting had been advertised for weeks, and as in the case of the meeting at the Hippodrome thousands were turned away by the police because of lack of room.

Miss Rose Schneiderman, Vice President of the Woman's Trades Union League, presided at the meeting, and the speakers included B. Weinstein, Joseph Panken, the union lawyer; Hugh Frayne, General Organizer of the American Federation of Labor, and Sam Shor, Organizer of the White Goods Workers' Union. The same speakers addressed those at the Labor Temple meeting.

Young girls composed the audience, for the most part; girls who were holding their first jobs. It was to them the stirring appeals for a general strike were made, and they cheered enthusiastically in proof of their willingness to follow the orders of the union.

Tells of Trade Abuses.

Miss Schneiderman made the first appeal for a strike. She recalled that this was the first strike ever attempted in the white goods industry, and read telegrams from the Woman's Trades Union League and the United Hebrew Trades telling the working girls that they were justified in striking because they had exhausted every other means to bring about better working conditions.

"At the present time there are white goods sales in all the stores," she said, "and it is well for the public to reflect when they buy these goods upon the conditions under which they are produced. The public should know that you young girls who make these white goods get as low as $3 a week. That is why you have a right to strike, and the public, I know, will agree with you.

"You women are the lowest paid and worst treated of any class of women in New York. Your average wages is less than $5 a week. Out of this, in many of the factories, you are forced to pay 35 cents a week for thread, 40 cents a week to pay for the electric power to run your machines. The fining system still further reduces your pitiful wages. If you are a few minutes late you are docked for hours in some factories.

"The bosses set themselves up as your 'fathers' in many cases and punish you by slapping you in the face, just like a father does. I am sure that when people once realize what is going on popular indignation will be roused and we will have the sympathy of every one to help us win this strike"

Joseph Panken, the young Socialist lawyer, who won the plaudits of the crowd in the Hippodrome on Sunday, spoke again last night. He spoke in Yiddish, and as a Yiddish orator he is said to be without rival throughout the whole east side.

Lawyer Panken started in low tones. Then he lifted his voice and began to walk from one side of the platform to the other. Soon he unbuttoned a lower vest button. Still his enthusiasm grew, and finally his vest was entirely unbuttoned. He pictured the girl in her teens entering a factory with glowing cheeks, bending under the strain of work, and finally losing her job because of her physical inability to endure longer the grind of commercialism.

The girls in the audience, most of them with ribbon in their hair, seemed to see nothing but humor in his address, for they giggled throughout much of it. The organizers on the platform, though, including Miss Schneiderman, when Lawyer Panken ended his speech, congratulated him.

Sam Shor was the last speaker. He spoke in Yiddish and seemed to be a great favorite with the girls. He told of the reforms he thought should be made in the white goods factories and frequently used the word "strike," which has been adopted as a Yiddish term. Each time the word was used it brought cheers. Finally he reached the point which the audience had been waiting for: "All those who favor a strike stand up," he cried.

The girls arose, waving their hands and handkerchiefs in the air, and many standing on their chairs. The demonstration, according to the leaders, left no doubt that the balloting in the week would be almost unanimously in favor of a strike.

Employers Unite to Fight Strike.

After a meeting of representatives of the New York Clothing Trade Association and the United Manufacturers and Merchants' Association, the two organizations controlling the men's and boys' ready-to-wear garment industry in this city, at the Hotel Lafayette yesterday,

BELT LINE STEEDS RUN AWAY

One Drowned in the River—New at the Job the Explanation.

A Belt Line horse car, one of the number plodding a weary round of the ferries in West Street, was on its way up that thoroughfare at 6:30 o'clock last evening, and had paused at Warren Street to allow a woman to get out, when, quite inexplicably—Lent, the driver, never did know what was the matter with them—both the horses bolted.

They bolted so abruptly that the coupling snapped and the car was left stranded. Then they swept up West Street, trailing their harness and pursued by a small troop of West Street characters. Just as they approached Jay Street, a truck lumbering down toward the Battery blocked their course, and they veered toward the Jay Street dock, where all through the Summer days the ice from up the Hudson is unloaded, and where, in these Winter months, many of the contractors dump the snow they have gathered from the streets of Manhattan.

The horses ran on this dock, still at full speed, and crashed into an empty fruit truck, standing there under the "bonnet." The collision dropped one of the team with a broken foreleg, and freed his mate. The second horse, thus freed, plunged right on, across the few remaining feet of the dock, over the low string piece and into the river. For the next ten minutes the pursuers peered over, watching the horse floundering in the driftwood, and then finally dip down beneath one of the Erie floats and disappear for good. The horses were newcomers on the line, it was said.

ROCKEFELLER BILL SHELVED.

Measure Creating $100,000,000 Foundation Sidetracked in House.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Peters Bill for the Federal incorporation of the proposed $100,000,000 Rockefeller Foundation was sidetracked to-day in the House of Representatives. This is the second time within a year that the measure has been called up in the House and failed of passage. With less than two months of the session remaining, and the appropriation bills commanding attention, it is now not believed that the bill will pass before March 4.

When Mr. Peters called up the bill, Representatives Fitzgerald of New York, Bartlett of Georgia, and Garrett of Tennessee, Democrats, and Willis of Ohio, Republican, spoke in opposition. Finally Representative Mann raised the point of no quorum, and the House adjourned without action.

The opponents of the bill criticised it as an attempt to incorporate a private fortune. Its advocates pointed out that Mr. Rockefeller had consented to all the changes necessary to meet the original objections, and that the purpose of the bill was to advance civilization in the acquisition and dissemination of knowledge, to prevent and relieve suffering, and encourage all the elements of human progress by eleemosynary and philanthropic means.

W. ROCKEFELLER AT NASSAU.

Reached There Friday from Miami—Is Apparently Well.

NASSAU, Bahama Islands, Jan. 6.—William Rockefeller, whose presence as a witness before the House Money Trust Investigating Committee at Washington has been particularly sought by Chairman Pujo, arrived at Nassau on Friday.

He is apparently in good health.

Special to The New York Times.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6.—Rumors have been current here for several days that William Rockefeller arrived at Miami Thursday and took passage on the Peninsular and Occidental steamer Miami for Nassau. Railway and steamship officials refuse to talk, saying: "We have instructions not to talk about Rockefeller."

The Miami was held for an hour and a half on Thursday awaiting the southbound train. The private car of J. R. Parrot, President of the Florida & East Coast Railway Company, backed into the siding on the dock, and four elderly persons, two men and two women, from the car boarded the boat for Nassau. One of the men was said to be Mr. Rockefeller. They bought no tickets here, but evidently obtained through passage elsewhere.

Steamboat officials refuse to confirm, but would not deny the rumors.

It is said here that people who were at Nassau recognized Mr. Rockefeller at the Colonial Hotel there.

Dr. Walter F. Chappell of 7 West Fifty-fifth Street, personal physician to William Rockefeller, did not appear surprised when told last night that his patient was reported as having arrived at Nassau.

"I am kept informed of Mr. Rockefeller's movements," he said, but he declined to say that his information agreed with the reported presence of the former Standard Oil official at Nassau, or that he had advised the voyage for the benefit of the health of Mr. Rockefeller.

"I have said all that I can say about Mr. Rockefeller's case in the statement made of his malady," said the physician in reply to the question if he expected improvement in his patient's condition as the result of the trip.

Mr. Rockefeller and his attorneys have announced that he will not be able to appear as a witness before the Pujo Committee on Jan. 13 because of his poor health.

PLOT TO BLACKMAIL PRIEST.

Alleged Conspirators Lured to Jersey City and Trapped.

A plot to blackmail the Rev. Father John Dyminski, rector of St. Joseph's Church, a Polish Catholic church, at Avenue E and Twenty-third Street, Bayonne, which is said to involve another priest in New York, was revealed yesterday when Cornelius Traczweski of Batavia and John Nizek were arraigned before Recorder Mara at Bayonne.

Father Dyminski received a number of newspaper clippings early in November which purported to tell of an attempt to kill a New York priest, and threatened him with a similar fate unless he paid $150. Father Dyminski turned the papers over to the Bayonne police and a trap was laid for the conspirators.

It was ascertained that no attempt had been made on the life of a New York priest, and in the correspondence that followed, that of Father Dyminski being dictated by a Bayonne detective, a letter was sent to the blackmailers informing them that the writer had no cash, but would send a check which could be cashed in Jersey City. It was to cash this check that the men in custody went to Jersey City and fell into the trap arranged for them.

ADRIANOPLE'S FALL BELIEVED IMMINENT

SUSPEND PEACE CONFERENCE

Allies' Envoys Are Angered by Turkey's Reply—Expectation That the Powers Will Now Act.

VIENNA, Jan. 6.—A Sofia dispatch says that, at the request of the commander at Adrianople, Bulgarian and Turkish delegates met this morning.

It is supposed that the meeting was for the purpose of discussing the question of capitulation.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 7.—"Suspension" is one term used to describe what happened at yesterday's meeting of the peace conference. It is also spoken of as an "adjournment sine die."

The Turkish delegates, while refusing to accede to the allies' demands, offered further concessions. They said they were ready to abondon Ottoman suzerainty over Crete and to make another slight adjustment of the frontier of Thrace, but on the vital issue Turkey's answer was uncompromising—neither the City of Adrianople nor the Aegean Islands would be surrendered. The Turkish statement ended:

"If, despite these vast sacrifices, the allies, eschewing all intention of opening the way of concession, are minded to break off the negotiations, all the responsibilities for the consequences of this rupture will fall upon them."

The Balkan delegates' answer was brief and emphatic. The Turkish proposals were pronounced "unacceptable," and, without further parley, the allies suspended the sittings.

The Balkan delegates were careful to avoid the word "rupture." The chief Greek delegate, M. Venizelos, answering Rechad Pasha's question as to the meaning of their action, said:

"We have reached a point beyond which you have made it impossible for us to advance. It would be a waste of time to meet again unless and until that obstacle is removed. If you consider our action tantamount to a rupture, it is open to you to do so, and also to draw the consequences from your conclusion."

The unwillingness of the allies to proclaim a rupture of the negotiations, according to Dr. Dillon in The Daily Telegraph, hardly calls for explanatory comment. The reasons lie fairly near the surface, he says, adding:

"In the Ottoman proposals the odium of breaking off the negotiations and causing a fresh outbreak of war was dangled before the eyes of the allies. Both sides are sorely in need of Europe's good-will and moral support, and therefore neither is disposed to incur the blame that would attach to such a rupture."

Dr. Daneff, the chief Bulgarian delegate, in a statement after the adjournment, indicated that two days would be given to the Turks to reconsider their decision, which means that at the end of that time there would be still another delay between the announcement of the discontinuance of the armistice and the resumption of hostilities. During these intervals diplomacy, as already indicated in NEW YORK TIMES dispatches, will have an opportunity of getting in its finest work.

The Times says: "A rumor was current yesterday that the Turkish Government had succeeded in arranging a loan of an unspecified amount, to be secured on war taxes. Nothing is known of any such operation in the best-informed quarters of the city, where the resolution not to supply or assist in supplying any of the belligerent powers with the means of renewing hostilities is still adhered to firmly."

First Stage Ended.

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 7.—The first stage of the peace negotiations, which is regarded by diplomats largely as one of pretense on Turkey's part in order to avoid the appearance of yielding to the demands of the allies without pressure from the powers, is now over. It is expected that the second stage will soon begin, with the powers acting behind the scenes and pulling strings which will compel Turkey to concede the bulk of the allies' demands.

Without money, her army inadequate and demoralized, Turkey, her statesmen realize, is in no condition to resume hostilities with the slightest chance of success.

At yesterday's sitting of the Peace Conference Turkey renounced in favor of the allies her rights in the Island of Crete and promised a further rectification of the Thracian frontier, but insisted upon the retention of Adrianople. The allies declared that this was not satisfactory and suspended the conference.

That does not mean a rupture of the negotiations. The conference may be resumed either by a notification from Turkey that she has fresh proposals to submit or by the allies on the ground that they have communications to make to the Turks. It is generally expected that the work of the conference will be taken up

SMART HEIRS SEEM NOW TO BE A MYTH

No Mention of Widely Sought Children in Will of Wealthy Man Lost on Titanic.

HE NEVER SPOKE OF THEM

His Friends Recall Now After World Search That They Merely Thought That He Had Two.

Two children, a boy and a girl, the former 20 years old and the latter 18, for whom a world-wide search was made after John Montgomery Smart, a lawyer and President of the American Cold Storage and Shipping Company, went down on the Titanic last April, were not mentioned at all in Mr. Smart's will, which was filed yesterday in the Surrogates' Office for probate, although the children were supposed to be his only living relatives. The absence of any mention of the children in the will aroused the suspicion for the first time in the minds of Mr. Smart's many friends here that perhaps he had been childless.

Those who had always supposed him to be the father of two children, whom he was educating in European schools, recalled that they had not heard Mr. Smart speak of them, and that their belief that he had two children was based entirely on what amounted to no more than gossip.

Mr. Smart's wife was supposed to have died ten years ago, and he, at that time, when his supposed son and daughter were still small, was presumed to have placed them in European schools with the idea that by moving them from country to country he could assure to them an intimate acquaintance with the languages of Europe.

That was Mr. Smart's history, as his friends had come to believe it, but when they questioned themselves they found that the lawyer, always a reticent and retired man, had never been sponsor to their beliefs. Nevertheless, when Mr. Smart died, the world-wide search for the children was instituted. Consuls were asked to start inquiries in the countries to which they were accredited and advertisements were inserted in many papers abroad, asking information of the missing heirs.

For months these inquiries brought no results, but last August word was received from Belgium that the children were supposed to be there, that their names were believed to be George and Annie. They were said to be in a Belgian convent. The American Consul at Brussels was asked to complete the investigation, but no further trace of the children was found.

Now that Mr. Smart's will has failed to make any mention of his children, the belief is being generally adopted by his friends that he never had any children. The will was dated in 1897, when the children would have been 5 and 3 years old, respectively. Yet their existence was not indicated by so much as a mention of them.

The will decreed that after all debts had been paid one-third of the estate should go to Jeremiah Twomey and the remainder to Annie Frances Brown, friends of Mr. Smart, living in Melbourne, Australia.

JAIL FOR BAD MEAT MEN.

Time Gone By, Says Court, When Offender May Escape with Fine.

Judge Hough broke away yesterday in the Federal District Court from the usual custom of imposing fines on those who ship immature veal to this city and sentenced two to prison. As he did so he said:

"The time is gone by when unwholesome meat may be shipped into this city and the offender be permitted to escape with a fine."

The first man arraigned was Michael J. Hanley of New Hampton, N. Y., who pleaded guilty to expressing the carcasses of five calves, one immature, to Charles M. Herring & Co. of West Washington Market. In extenuation he said that he was only a farm hand at $20 a month and had been acting under orders.

"The boss gave me $50 to pay any fine I might get," he said.

"You get $20 a month wages," said Judge Hough, "and have $50 in your pocket for a fine?"

"Here's the money," replied Hanley, pulling out five ten-dollar bills.

"Keep the money for yourself," said the court, "and take three days in jail," and Hanley smiled as he was led away.

Ralph D. Davenport of New Milford, N. Y., pleaded guilty to shipping five carcasses of calves to W. H. Mowerson of this city, but maintained they were fit for human consumption. Judge Hough gave him thirty days in jail.

Arthur P. Gibson of New Milford and Jane Lingenburg of Florida, N. Y., pleaded not guilty to similar charges and were held for trial.

SIX ARRESTED FOR $100,000 ROBBERIES

TWO FLATS YIELD RICH LOOT

Ex-Employes Confess to a Series of Thefts at Hotel St. Andrew—Many Houses Entered.

Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, Inspector Faurot, and half a dozen detectives last night locked up at the West Forty-seventh Street Station four men and a woman charged with complicity in burglaries in which jewels worth nearly $100,000 were stolen, and James Pritchard, proprietor of the Pawnbrokers' Sales Store, 253 West Forty-second Street, where jewels and other valuables worth $250,000 were found, in part identified as stolen property. The arrests followed an investigation of the series of burglaries which took place recently at the Hotel St. Andrew. Two of the prisoners, former employes at the hotel, confessed, it is said, to a long list of burglaries, telling the police that they disposed of their loot through Pritchard.

After Miss Frances Barnes was robbed of jewelry worth $10,000 at the Hotel St. Andrew on Nov. 15, following a number of other burglaries at the same place, Commissioner Dougherty stationed Detectives Hughes and Heinz at the hotel. Detectives Finn, James and Gus Riley, Moore, and Mugge were assigned to follow the night bellboys and elevator boys, who were discharged.

According to Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, Percy Wycoff was the first bellboy to fall under suspicion. The detectives trailing him found him frequently in the company of Harry Willis, an elevator boy discharged in November. The detectives Sunday entered the apartment occupied by the two at 245 West 102d Street and found it stocked with jewelry and unset stones.

Leaving the place undisturbed, the detective reported to Commissioner Dougherty. He decided that the time had come to act. Wycoff was the first to be arrested. He had obtained a position as elevator boy at the Hotel Rector, and was arrested there Sunday night at 9 o'clock. Detectives were immediately detailed to watch the apartment at 245 West 102d Street, and later in the evening Willis was arrested.

Confession After Auto Ride.

After he had been taken into custody Wycoff was placed in an automobile with Mr. Dougherty, Inspector Faurot, and several detectives. As the machine was driven about Wycoff was questioned. For a time he maintained that he knew nothing about the robberies, but he weakened gradually, it is said, finally confessing

The machine was driven about till 4 o'clock yesterday morning before the police had finished questioning their prisoner and hearing his story. When he learned that Wycoff had confessed, Willis likewise broke down and corroborated the story in all the details relating to the burglaries at the St. Andrew.

Both Wycoff and Willis are what are known as "dinner" men. Their burglaries were all committed between 6 and 8 o'clock in the evening, while the families they robbed were at dinner. Their choice of the kind of people to rob was so good that they seldom got loot worth less than $1,000.

Some of Their Victims.

Here are some of the burglaries in which they say they and other members of their gang took part:

J. Greenberg, 136 East Fifty-sixth Street, Nov. 19.

J. M. Willett, 30 West Fifty-second Street, Dec. 18.

J. Rosenfeldt, 21 West Forty-fifth Street, Dec. 21.

Herman Clifford, 561 West Fiftieth Street, Jan. 1.

Dr. M. Cordoza, 143 West Seventy-fourth Street, Dec. 23.

Herman Ridder, 128 West Seventy-first Street, Dec. 7.

D. G. Brussel, 28 West Seventy-fifth Street, Jan. 4.

Dr. J. H. Abraham, 126 West Fiftieth Street, Nov. 27.

Sol. Traub, 155 West Eighty-sixth Street, Dec. 7.

Search of the Pawnshop.

After getting the confessions Mr. Dougherty decided to keep watch on the pawnshop till it could be raided when an actual transaction of receiving stolen goods was in progress. Becoming fearful, however, that the arrest of the two men would be discovered, Mr. Dougherty, Inspector Faurot, and several detectives went to the place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. When Pritchard was informed that he was under arrest he protested innocence and became abusive as the police started to search the place.

While this was going on a young man entered the place. Catching the situation at a glance he started to run out, but was in the grip of the detectives before he was out of the door. On searching him the police found that he had come to pawn a diamond pin worth $300 and a three-stone ring worth $350. He was identified as George Carr, alias Vogel, an ex-convict, whom the police were waiting to arrest as one of the members of the gang.

His apartment at 151 West Ninety-ninth Street had been under watch all day. Before the detectives had finished searching him the detectives called up the detectives watching at 151 West Ninety-ninth Street and told them to enter the apartment and wait to arrest Carr's confederates.

Late in the afternoon a young woman known as Kitty Carr, alias Kitty Cortney, entered the apartment and was placed under arrest. She has an 18-month-old baby with her. She gave her occupation to the police as a dealer in jewelry. As she was wearing a ring, which was recognized as part of the loot of a recent robbery, she was charged with receiving stolen goods. Shortly after her arrest a young man entered the place. He was another for whom the police were seeking in connection with the same robberies. He gave his name as George Madox.

A search of this apartment revealed a wealth of valuables of all kinds.

In the meantime the search proceeded at the Pawnbrokers' Sales Store. In the small room occupied by the shop the detectives found a veritable treasure house of jewelry, furs, silks, and gowns. In the safe were hundreds of unset gems of all kinds, and in the showcases were the made-up jewels, mostly of a kind which it would be difficult to identify. After a hurried survey of the stock, Commissioner Dougherty announced that it must be worth at least $250,000. A policeman was stationed in front of the place, and several detectives were kept busy nearly all night making an inventory of the contents of the place.

NO WORD FROM THE PANTHER

Ships Within Range of Wireless Have Not Reported Her.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Jan. 6.—Both the Marconi and Government wireless stations, notified by THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent of the alarm over the repair ship Panther of the Atlantic fleet, queried all the ships within range this afternoon, but no steamer reported having seen or heard of her.

The Panther put to sea, bound for Guantanamo, Cuba, last Thursday. Soon after she cleared Sandy Hook she ran into the storm that raged in the last days of last week. The opinion of naval officers is that her wireless was put out of commission.

WINTER MOSQUITOS ARRIVE.

New Brunswick Neighborhood Troubled for the First Time.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Jan. 6.—Mosquitos at the present time are almost a plague in South River, Milltown, Sayreville, Highland Park, and several other places in this vicinity. Oldest residents say they never remember mosquitos at this time of the year before, and they attribute them to the extreme mild weather.

The mosquitos are big and brawny, as the citizens can well attest from the bites they have received.

ROOSEVELT PUT UP AGAIN.

Entered for Campaign of 1916 on Republican Blank in Nebraska.

Special to The New York Times.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 6.—Theodore Roosevelt's name was to-day filed as a candidate for the Presidency in the campaign of 1916. The petition was received at the Secretary of State's office late this afternoon, following what was called a "Get Together" meeting of Republicans and Progressives.

Mr. Roosevelt's name was filed on a Republican blank and nothing was said about the Progressive Party. The signatures to the petition were practically the same as those which placed Mr. Roosevelt in nomination in Nebraska during the last campaign.

HOLLYWOOD COURT BURNS.

Guests Flee in Nightclothes as Old Lakewood Hotel Is Destroyed.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Jan. 6.—Hollywood Court, one of the largest and oldest hotels here, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The firemen saw the hotel was doomed and worked successfully to save surrounding dwellings.

The fire is supposed to have started in the laundry in the basement by some clothes blowing over a gas jet. The blaze rose through the elevator shafts and mushroomed out on the various floors of the hotel. Guests were forced to flee in their nightclothes, but no one was hurt. Many of them lost their clothing and personal property.

The loss was estimated at $30,000. Hollywood Court was a frame building and for several years had been known as the Arcadia.

LIZARD ALIVE IN HIS THROAT.

Coughed It Up and Now Getting Well After Two Years.

Special to The New York Times.

LAFAYETTE, N. J., Jan. 6.—Evan Jones, who is beginning to recover from a cough that has made his life miserable for the past two years, says the cause was nothing less than a lizard three inches long.

Jones declared to-day that he brought up the reptile while out driving the other day. He had a paroxysm of coughing on the road. At the end of it he choked, he said, and reached down his throat for relief. He seized the lizard and drew it to the light of day.

The agony of coughing that Jones endured is ascribed to the frantic efforts of the lizard to liberate itself.

LAWSON'S SON QUITS STOCKS

Abandons Market to Finance a Wool-Washing Device.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Arnold Lawson, son of Thomas W. Lawson, has left the stock market for the wool washing business and is now the senior member of the firm of Lawson & Milson, with an office here.

Young Lawson is financing an invention of Mr. Milson, a machine which will utilize wool scraps ordinarily thrown away by the mills. It is said that while the apparatus was being perfected young Lawson became interested in its success and frequently donned overalls in working on the device.

It also become known to-day that his wife, Mrs. Arnold Lawson, is to sell her kennel. She is the owner of some of the best-known and most valuable dogs in the country. She will dispose of practically all of these, retaining only a few special favorites as pets. One of these will be her champion prize bulldog, Noswal Nabob. Noswal Kennels, which she owns, are located in Winchester. The name is Lawson spelled backward.

GETS DECREE, LOSES CHILD.

Mrs. Brennan Wins Divorce Suit, Church Has Custody of Daughter.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., Jan. 6.—The last judicial act of Judge Orr, who to-day retired from the bench of the district court here worn out after six years of arduous service, was to settle the prolonged quarrels over the custody of their little child, between Edward J. Brennan, a contractor, of Yonkers, N. Y., and his wife, Mary K., whose wrangles have kept them in the limelight here since last June, when the wife filed her application for divorce.

Brennan followed her here, and a succession of stormy street encounters, arrests, and court charges resulted.

Judge Orr's decision is the first of its kind in the history of the local divorce court, in that, in granting a decree to the wife, he orders that the custody of the daughter be given to the Catholic Church. Bishop Thomas Grace, of the Diocese of California and Nevada, is to have the personal care and education of the child, at Sacramento, the father having deeded certain real estate in Yonkers to the Bishop for the benefit of the child.

COURT CONDEMNS DISSOLUTION PLAN

REJECTS SHIFTING OF STOCK

CASE ON ITS OWN MERITS

Standard Oil and Tobacco Decisions Not Held to be Precedents—Called a Step Forward.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Supreme Court of the United States in a decision to-day held that the Union Pacific Railroad Company's plan for dissolving its merger with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the simple process of distributing or selling the Southern Pacific stock in its possession to the Union Pacific stockholders would not be in accordance with the court's decree, which was that the combination must be disintegrated. The court's declaration on this point is in amplification of its decision of Dec. 2, in which the dissolution was ordered. The case came before the court on the petition of Attorney General Wickersham and counsel for the Union Pacific to clear up a disputed point on which the Government and the defendants failed to reach an agreement.

While to-day's decision is a distinct victory for the Government, its chief interest lies in the fact that the Government's contention, to-day sustained by the court, is accepted as constituting a great advance from the position it assumed in the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company and the Tobacco Trust. In those cases dissolution distributed the stock of the component companies to no one outside the list of stockholders in the dissolved corporations. President Taft and Mr. Wickersham, when criticised for not asking for a further ruling from the Supreme Court, stoutly contended that such dissolution was effective.

The Court's Purpose.

In making its decision to-day the court does not formally modify its mandate in the Tobacco and Oil cases. It simply repeats that each case must stand on its own merits, and that the only purpose of the court is to break up the offensive monopoly and restore something like the competition that existed before the combination was effected. In the Standard Oil merger the offense lay in the combination of eighteen companies. Therefore the distribution of the Standard Oil stock to holders of stock of the original companies ended the illegal merger.

In the Union Pacific case, however, the distribution or sale of the Southern Pacific stock, in the court's opinion, to the Union Pacific stockholders would not effect any disjoinder of interests and the Union Pacific's domination of the Southern Pacific might continue as well as before. The allegation that the Union Pacific stock is distributed among 22,150 stockholders failed to convince the court that it would be impossible for the control of the 46 per cent. of Southern Pacific stock now owned by the Union Pacific to fall again into the hands of a limited group of Union Pacific stockholders.

The court points out that many of the smaller Union Pacific holders might not wish to acquire the Southern Pacific stock that would be offered to them. Their assignments might then fall into the hands of the larger stockholders, who now dominate both roads, and the control would be as perfect as before. The only certain effect of the stock disposition desired by counsel for the Union Pacific would be, in the court's belief, that the Southern Pacific stock now held for the Union Pacific by the Oregon Short Line would be transferred directly to the Union Pacific stockholders. As the control of a corporation rests ultimately with its stockholders, this change is a change in form and not in substance.

The decision was handed down by Associate Justice Day without dissent. It is as follows:

Decision of the Court.

"On Dec. 2, 1912, this court handed down an opinion and remanded this case to the District Court of the United States, whence it came, with instructions to enter a decree which would provide an injunction as to voting the stock of the Southern Pacific Company acquired by the Union Pacific Railroad Company and directed the court to further hear the parties in order to make a decree effectually concluding the operating force of the combination created by the purchase of the Southern Pacific Company's stock. The parties were given three months from the receipt of the mandate of this court by the District Court to propose plans, and it was directed that any one adopted by the court should be such as would effectually dissolve the unlawful combination

"The mandate of this court not having issued, on Dec. 19, 1912, motion was made in which the Attorney General of the United States and counsel for the appellees, the Union Pacific Railroad Company and the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company (the latter holding the stock for the Union Pacific Company) joined in asking this court "to instruct the United States District Court for the District of Utah, by a provision incorporated in the mandate of this court, when issued, or otherwise, whether or not the sale of the Southern Pacific Company shares held by said appellees to the shareholders of appellee Union Pacific Railroad Company, substantially in proportion to their respective holdings or a distribution thereof by dividend to the Union Pacific stockholders entitled to such dividend, would, in the opinion of this court, constitute a disposition of said shares in compliance with the opinion herein filed on Dec. 2, 1912.

"In pursuance of the request thus preferred by the United States and the appellees named, it becomes necessary now to determine whether the distribution or sale proposed of the Southern Pacific Company's shares will comply with the decree ordered to be entered by the former opinion of this court.

"The Southern Pacific Company's stock held by the Oregon Short Line Company for the Union Pacific Company amounts to $126,650,000 par value, in shares of $100 each, and constitutes 46 per cent. of the Southern Pacific Company's stock, enough, as we have heretofore found, to effectually control the Southern Pacific Company. As stated by the appellees, the Union Pacific Company has outstanding $99,569,300 par value of preferred stock and $216,646,300 par value of common stock, all in shares of $100 each, amounting in all to $316,215,600, and also has outstanding $37,000,000 of bonds convertible into stock, and the appellees further state that its stock is distributed among over 22,000 holders.

"It is contended on behalf of the appellees that the distribution of the Southern Pacific Company's stock, held, as we have stated, by the Oregon Short Line Company for the Union Pacific Company, among so many stockholders will effectually conclude the combination decreed to be ended by the former order of the court. It is insisted that such distribution will prevent the continued operation of the combination for the control of the Southern Pacific Company by a competing company, which the Union Pacific Company was found to be, and that it is authorized under the practice in respect to such decrees as settled by the previous decisions of this court in affirming the decree of the Circuit Court in Northern Securities Company vs. United States 193 U. S. 197, and Harriman vs. Northern Securities Company, 197 U. S. 244, and the decree of the Circuit Court in Standard Oil Company vs. United States, 221 U. S. 1.

Securities Case Cited.

"In the Northern Securities Company case, after providing for orders of injunction to prevent the continued operation of the Northern Securities Company, which controlled the Northern Pacific Railway Company and the Great Northern Railway Company, it was provided:

> But nothing herein contained shall be construed as prohibiting the Northern Securities Company from returning and transferring to the stockholders of the Northern Pacific Railway Company and the Great Northern Railway Company, respectively, any and all shares of stock in either of said railway companies which said the Northern Securities Company may have heretofore received from such stockholders in exchange for its own stock, and nothing herein contained shall be construed as prohibiting the Northern Securities Company from making such transfer and assignments of the stock aforesaid to such person or persons as may now be the holders and owners of its own stock originally issued in exchange or in payment for the stock claimed to have been acquired by it in the aforesaid railway companies.

"Uuon the affirmation of this decree by this court in 193 U. S. 197, the Northern Securities Company proceeded to reduce its outstanding capital stock from $395,400,000 to $3,954,000, providing for such reduction by requiring each holder to surrender to the company for retirement 99 per cent. out of the shares held by him, and upon surrender by a stockholder the company assigned and transferred to him proportionate amounts of the stock of the Northern Pacific Company and Great Northern Company which had been placed with the Northern Securities Company, the holding company, for the purpose of creating the combination, which the court had held to be illegal, and this plan of distribution was approved by this court in 197 U. S. 244. In other words, the stock of the holding company was reduced and the surplus of assets created by such reduction, the stock of the Northern Pacific Company and the Great Northern Company was distributed among the stockholders of the Northern Securities Company, thereby effectually ending the combination.

"In the Standard Oil Company case the majority of the stock of nineteen oil companies had been placed in the control of a holding company, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, with a capital stock of $100,000,000, the stock of the latter corporation being issued to the holders of the stock in the nineteen companies in exchange for their stock. This holding company was held to be a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce, and, after awarding injunctions, it was provided:

> But the defendants are not prohibited by this decree from distributing ratably to the shareholders of the principal company the shares to which they are equitably entitled in the stocks of the defendant corporations that are parties to the combination.

"It is evident in that case, as in the Northern Securities Company case that the distribution of the shares and stocks of the subsidiary companies, parties to the combination, among the shareholders of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, was to end the combination which had been decreed to be in violation of law, and prevent the continued control of the subsidiary companies by the holding company.

Each Case Stands Alone.

"As was said in the opinion filed in this case, however, each case under the Sherman act must stand upon its own facts, and we are unable to regard the decrees in the Northern Securities Company case and the Standard Oil Company case as precedents to be followed now in view of the different situation presented for consideration.

"The Southern Pacific Company's stock was mainly purchased from private parties, legatees and of the Huntington estate, and it is evident that it is impossible to restore the status quo by the return of such stock to the persons from whom it was purchased upon such vendors refunding the purchase money.

"The plan proposed in the present motion of distributing the stock among the shareholders of the Union Pacific Company, or of selling it to such shareholders will in effect transfer the stock from the Oregon Short Line Company, which now holds it for the Union Pacific Company, to the stockholders of the latter company, who own and control that company. Upon the face of it, this would seem to be a proposition to perpeuate the domination and control of the Union Pacific Company over the Southern Pacific Company, because of the power given to the Union Pacific Company's stockholders to choose the Directors of the Southern Pacific Company. The ultimate determination of the affairs of a corporation rests with its stockholders and arises from their power to choose the governing Board of Directors.

Unless otherwise provided by law, the stockholders may authorize the Board of Directors to delegate to an Executive Committee the authority to do any and all acts which the Directors are authorized to do. The Executive Committee thus derives its authority from the stockholders through the Board of Directors. (Union Pacific Railway Company vs. Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company, 163 U. S. 564, 597.) In the present case the record discloses this mode of management of both the Southern Pacific Company and the Union Pacific Company, and, since 1905, as the proof shows, a majority of both Executive Committees consisted of the same persons, and Mr. Harriman was Chairman of both committees.

"It is contended for the appellees, however, that in view of the great number of widely scattered stockholders of the Union Pacific Company there is no probability of their acting together to continue the control of the Union Pacific Company over the Southern Pacific Company. Indeed, this is said to be impossible. But we are unable to accede to this contention. Bearing in mind the object of the statute to end such combinations and the duty of the courts in dealing with them to make such decrees as will most thoroughly effectuate that purpose, it is not consistent with that end to order such distribution of the stock as may fail to discontinue the control denounced and as in all probability will fail to efficiently enforce the statute. It is by no means improbable, but quite likely that, if the stock was transferred to the stockholders of the Union Pacific Company by distribution among them, the large stockholders could, by purchases and transfers of the stock, get into their own hands the power of chosing Directors of both companies, and thus, though in a different manner, the Southern Pacific Company would continue to be in the practical control of the Union Pacific Company, which has been found to be a rival and competing company within the meaning of the law. So of the privilege of sale to the stockholders in proportion to the amount of their holdings.

"Considering these questions we must bear in mind not only the number of stockholders, but the character of the distribution of the stock among them. In the brief and exhibits of the appellees filed with this motion it is shown that of the 22,150 stockholders of the Union Pacific Company, 68 owning 5,000 or more shares each, hold together $139,782,700 of the stock, and 300 others, owning from 1,000 to 5,000 shares each, hold together $59,020,700 of the stock, and that the two groups (comprising 368 stockholders) hold $198,803,400, or 62.8 per cent. of the stock, while the remaining stockholders (21,782) control only $117,412,200 of the stock. Many small shareholders might not wish to purchase the Southern Pacific Company's stock, and the privilege might be readily acquired from them by the larger and more active interests vested in the hands of the large stockholders and thus again the condition forbidden be created and perpetuated.

Faithful Execution of Decrees.

"The main purpose of the act is to forbid combinations and conspiracies in undue restraint of trade or tending to monopolize it, and the object of proceedings of this character is to decree, by as effectual means as a court may, the end of such unlawful combinations and conspiracies. So far as is consistent with this purpose of a court of equity dealing with such combinations should conserve the property interests involved, but never in such wise as to sacrifice the object and purpose of the statute. The decrees of the courts must be faithfully executed, and no form of dissolution be permitted that in substance or effect amounts to restoring the combination which it was the purpose of the decree to terminate.

"In rejecting the plan for the transfer of the Southern Pacific Company's stock held for the Union Pacific Company either by distribution or sale to the stockholders of the Union Pacific Company we do not mean to preclude the District Court from considering and acting upon plans which may be submitted to it under the former opinion and decree of the court. We are of opinion, however, and now hold, that the proposed plan of disposition of the entire stock holdings of the Union Pacific Company in the Southern Pacific Company by transfer to the stockholders of the Union Pacific Company will not so effectually end the combination as to comply with the decree heretofore ordered by this court to be entered.

"So ordered."

LIABILITY FOR LOSSES.

Railroad and Express Companies Subject to Inter-State Laws Only.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Railroads and express companies won a great victory in the Supreme Court to-day when it was held that contracts limiting to small sums their liability for loss of shipments were not subject to State laws, but to inter-State laws. It was further held that contracts limiting liability to a small sum, in return for a low rate, were not in violation of the inter-State commerce laws, particularly not in violation of the Carmack amendment. Scores of such contracts have been held void under State laws.

The right of cities to impose license taxes upon State business of express companies and their agencies was upheld by the court in affirming the decision of the Supreme Court of Kansas that an ordinance to that effect in Leavenworth, Kan., was valid. The court distinguished this case from those where the tax was upon inter-State governmental business.

The court also held that the States, since the passage of the inter-State commerce law, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to penalize railroad companies for failure to furnish cars for inter-State shipment. The court declared unconstitutional the Minnesota reciprocal demurrage law, authorizing the recovery by shippers of a dollar a day for every day during which the railroad failed to furnish a car for the movement of freight. The changes thus affected revolutionize the practice in many States. The court to-day pointed out that previous to the passage of the Carmack amendment to the inter-State commerce law in 1906, the court had upheld an Iowa statute, under which a contract limiting the damages in case of loss, had been annulled and had also approved a Pennsylvania case in which it was held that the public policy of the States was opposed to such contracts. As a result of the passage of the Carmack amendment, however, the court, speaking through Justice Lurton, held that Congress had manifested its intention to deal with the subject of carrier's liability for inter-State shipments, and that being the case the State laws must give way. Consequently its decision at once annulled the Kentucky and Nebraska law, holding such contracts void. The court not only annulled State laws which seek to regulate the liability, but it held that the Federal law, as expressed in the Carmack amendment, dealt with the subject of railroad shipments and that it did not prohibit contracts limiting liability in return for a low rate.

Justice Lurton said it was just as reasonable to base rates on value as on the character of shipments. Furthermore, he added, it was not conformable to plain principles of justice to make it possible for the shipper to understate the value of his property for the purpose of reducing the rate and then recover a large value in case of loss. He laid down the principle that so long as a railroad or express company has published its rates based on the valuation of the property, the transportation company need not inquire as to the value. He declared that the shipper was bound by what the receipt for the goods showed and by the schedule of rates filed with the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

As to the reciprocal demurrage law for inter-State commerce, the court said that the Hepburn rate law expressly fixed the duty of carriers to furnish cars and that precluded the States from acting further on that subject.

In another decision the Supreme Court held that the United States Judges of the Eighth Circuit and not the District Judge in Missouri should enforce the recent decree of the court, holding that the St. Louis Terminal Company had violated the Sherman anti-trust law.

In so holding the court decided that the "expedition act" authorizing the calling together of Circuit Judges to pass upon important cases was not repealed by the Judicial Code which went into effect a year ago.

Officers of the Government say that this disposes of the point raised by certain navigation companies in Alaska charged with violating provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, and by officers of the United Shoe Machinery Company, under similar charges, to the effect that the criminal appeals act was repealed by the code. These claims, if supported, would have debarred the Supreme Court from reviewing decisions of lower courts which annulled counts in indictments against the companies concerned.

The court declined to interfere with the removal, by extradition, of John McNamara from New York to New Westminster, Canada, to answer to a charge of the larceny of an automobile. An attempt was first made to extradite McNamara on a charge of stealing $271,000 from the Bank of Montreal and McNamara fought the automobile extradition case on the ground that it was but a subterfuge in order to accomplish his return to Canada, where he would have to answer the charge made by the bank.

The Government won its fight to enforce restriction against the sale by Chippewa Indians of lands allotted to them in the White Earth reservation in Minnesota when the Supreme Court held to-day that the Park Rapids Lumber Company was liable to the Government for nearly $3,000 worth of timber cut from one allotment.

Notice by publication, to a person absent from a State, of a divorce suit against him or her is sufficient to give to the State jurisdiction over the absent person, if the State be the matrimonial domicile of the man and wife, according to another decision made to-day by the Supreme Court. The conclusion was reached in upholding the divorce granted by Virginia courts to Charles N. Thompson, a public school Principal in this city, who defeated a divorce suit in the District of Columbia, begun by his wife, by pleading that he had secured a divorce from her in Virginia, their matrimonial domicile, after notice of the suit by publication.

The opinion in the case by Justice Pitney upheld the famous Atherton divorce decision of Kentucky approved by the court several years ago, but since attacked as unsound.

MUST STAND TRIAL FOR COTTON CORNER

MAY MEAN PRISON TERMS

Decision Holds That Cornering Cotton Necessarily Involves Restraint of Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Supreme Court of the United States to-day partially reversed the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York in the cotton pool case, and declared it erred in sustaining demurrers to two important counts in the indictment against the defendants for criminal conspiracy in restraint of trade. The effect of to-day's decision is to send the case back to the lower court, with directions to proceed with the trial of the counts against James A. Patten, Eugene G. Scales, Frank B. Hayne, and William P. Browne. In case of conviction prison sentences as well as fines may be imposed.

The charges against the defendants were in general that they had conspired together to buy on futures such a proportion of the cotton crop for the year ending Sept. 1, 1910, as would enable them to withhold sales and enhance prices. As the court below defines the charges, they mean simply "running a corner" in the cotton crop of the country. The point before the Supreme Court was simply whether such a proposed corner constituted a conspiracy in restraint of trade within the meaning of the statute.

The Supreme Court held to-day that a corner in a commodity like cotton, which is raised in the South and largely marketed in New York necessarily contemplates effects on inter-State trade. Even without a specific declaration of intent to withhold sales, once the future contracts are perfected, the plan to corner necessarily involves an intent to withhold sales and tighten the market. As persons must be held responsible for the inevitable results of their acts, whether consciously planned or not, the plan to corner means necessarily a plan to obstruct commerce in the article to be cornered. That makes the chain complete, and the allegations, if sustained by the evidence, constitute a criminal violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust act.

End of Corners, Says Bullitt.

Solicitor General William M. Bullitt, who argued the case for the Government, expressed himself as delighted with the decision. Under its terms, he said, all pools could in the future be taken care of by the Sherman Anti-Trust act.

"By this decision," he said, "the Supreme Court has shown a way to stop corners and to punish gambling speculators who attempt to run pools and deals and corners in wheat, cotton, corn, lard and stocks on the big Boards of Trade and Stock Exchanges of this country. The Sherman anti-trust law is now an effective and powerful instrument to stop the running-up of prices by men who try to corner the market, for injunction proceedings can be brought to stop the deal before it has been fully carried out. Congress and State Legislatures have for years been vainly trying to pass laws to stop such corners, and now the Sherman law is shown to be a proper and effective method to reach the evil without in any wise interfering with legitimate sales for future delivery, whether 'long' or 'short.'"

The decision of the Supreme Court does not mean that the defendants were in fact engaged in establishing a corner in cotton in violation of the statute. That is expressly set forth as a question of fact to be determined in trial before the District Court. But the Supreme Court declares simply that the allegations, if borne out, bring the case within the purview of the Sherman act.

The contention of the defendants that running a corner, far from restraining competition, temporarily stimulates it, is cast aside summarily by the Supreme Court. Such a corner, says the court, "operates to thwart the usual operation of the laws of supply and demand," and to that extent is unlawful. The violation consists in hampering consumers, enhancing prices and producing almost precisely those evils which come from the suppression of competition.

The decision of the court was handed down by Assistant Justice Van Devanter.

Text of the Decision.

The decision is as follows:

"This is a criminal prosecution under the anti-trust act of July 2, 1890, (26, Stat. 209, c. 647,) the indictment being in eight counts. In the Circuit Court demurrers to the third, fourth, seventh, and eighth counts were sustained, and those counts dismissed, (187, Fed. 664,) whereupon the Government sued out this writ of error under the criminal appeals act of March 2, 1907, (34, Stat. 1,246, c. 2,564.) The case has been twice orally argued. At the second argument the Government expressly abandoned the third and fourth counts and challenged only the ruling upon Counts 7 and 8. Thus the propriety of the ruling upon the first two need not be considered.

"In passing upon the demurrers the Circuit Court proceeded first to construe the counts; that is, to ascertain with what acts the defendants are charged, and next to consider whether those acts are denounced as criminal by the anti-trust act, the conclusion being that they are not.

"The limitations upon our jurisdiction under the criminal appeals act are such that we must accept the Circuit Court's construction of the counts and consider only whether its decision that the acts charged are not condemned as criminal by the anti-trust act is based upon an erroneous construction of that statute.

"At the outset we are confronted with the contention that the decision is not based upon a construction of the statute. But to this we cannot assent. The court could not have decided, as it did, that the acts charged are not within the condemnation of the statute without first ascertaining what it does condemn, which, of course, involved its construction. Indeed, it seems a solecism to say that the decision that the acts charged are not within the statute is not based upon a construction of it.

Acts Charged in Indictment.

"Each of the counts in question charges the defendants and others with engaging in a conspiracy 'in restraint of and to restrain,' by the method therein described, 'trade and commerce among the several States' in the supply of cotton available during the year ending Sept. 1, 1910, such supply consisting of all the cotton grown in the Southern States in that year, and the cotton left over from prior years. The counts are long, and the acts which the Circuit Court treated as charged in them are indicated by the following excerpt from its opinion:

> These counts are alike, with the exception of the statement of overt acts, and each may be, broadly speaking, divided into three parts, which may thus be summarized:
> (1) The charging part contains a general charge of conspiracy in restraint of inter-State commerce, with the usual formal and jurisdictional averments.
>
> (2) The second part contains a "description of the trade and commerce to be restrained." Under this head it is stated, in substance, that cotton is an article of necessity raised in the Southern States, which moves in large volume in inter-State and foreign commerce, and that it is bought and sold upon the New York Cotton Exchange to such an extent as to practically regulate prices elsewhere in the country, so that future sales by speculators upon such Exchange of more than the amount of cotton available at the time of delivery would create an abnormal demand and resultant excessive prices in all cotton markets.
>
> (3) The third part contains a "description of the method devised and adopted by the conspirators for restraining the trade and commerce." It is alleged at the outset that the conspirators were to restrain trade and commerce by doing "what is commonly called running a corner in cotton." Averments then follow showing how the corner was to be brought about and its effect, which may be thus analyzed:
>
> (1) The conspirators were to make purchases from speculators upon the New York Cotton Exchange of quantities of cotton for future delivery greatly in excess of the amount available for delivery when deliveries should become due.
>
> (2) By these means an abnormal demand was to be created on the part of such sellers who would pay excessive prices to obtain cotton for delivery upon their contracts.
>
> (3) The excessive prices prevailing upon the New York Exchange would cause similar prices to exist upon other cotton markets.
>
> (4) As a necessary and unavoidable result of their acts, said conspirators were to compel cotton manufacturers throughout the country to pay said excessive prices to obtain cotton for their needs or else curtail their operations, and also, "as a necessary and unavoidable result" of said acts, an unlawful obstruction would be put upon inter-State trade and commerce.

Conspiracy to Restrain Charged.

"The offense charged, then, is a conspiracy in restraint of trade through the operation of a 'corner.'

"Although ruling that there was no allegation of a specific intent to obstruct inter-State trade or commerce, and that the raising of prices in markets other than the Cotton Exchange in New York was 'in itself no part of the scheme,' the court assumed that the conspirators intended, 'the necessary and unavoidable consequence of their acts,' and observed that 'prices of cotton are so correlated that it may be said that the direct result of the acts of the conspirators was to be the raising of the price of cotton throughout the country.'

"Upon the second arguments the defendants contended, and counsel for the Government expressly conceded, that 'running a corner' consists, broadly speaking, in acquiring control of all or the dominant portion of a commodity with the purpose of artificially enhancing the price, 'one of the important features of which'—to use the language of the Government's brief—'is the purchase for future delivery, coupled with a withholding from sale for a limited time'; and as this definition is in substantial accord with that given by lexicographers and juridical writers, we accept it for present purposes, although observing that not improbably in actual usage the expression includes modified modes of attaining substantially the same end.

"While thus agreeing upon what constitutes running a corner, the parties widely differ as to whether what is so styled in this instance contained the elements necessary to make it operative. The point of difference is the presence or absence of an adequate allegation that the purchasing for future delivery was to be coupled with a withholding from sale, without which, it is conceded by both parties, the market could not be cornered. But the solution of the point turns upon the right construction of the counts, and that, as has been indicated, is not within our province on this writ of error. We must assume that the counts adequately allege whatever the Circuit Court treated them as alleging. Its opinion given at the time, although not containing any express ruling upon the point of difference, shows that the courts were treated as alleging an operative scheme, one by which the market could be cornered. The court spoke of it as 'contrary to public policy,' as 'arbitrarily controlling the price of a commodity,' and as 'positively unlawful in any State having a statute against corners.'

"Evidently, it was assumed that every element of running a corner was present. We accordingly indulge that assumption, but leave the parties free to present the question to the District Court for its decision in the course of such further proceedings as may be had in that court.

"We come, then, to the question whether a conspiracy to run a corner in the available supply of a staple commodity, such as cotton, normally a subject of trade and commerce among the States, and thereby to enhance artificially its price throughout the country and to compel all who have occasion to obtain it to pay the enhanced price, or else to leave their needs unsatisfied, is within the terms of Paragraph 1 of the Anti-Trust act, which makes it a criminal offense to 'engage in' a 'conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States.' The Circuit Court, as we have seen, answered the question in the negative; and this, although accepting as an allegation of fact, rather than as a mere economic theory of the pleader, the statement in the counts that inter-State trade and commerce would necessarily be obstructed by the operation of the conspiracy. The reasons assigned for the ruling and now pressed upon our attention are:

> (1) That the conspiracy does not belong to the class in which the members are engaged in inter-State trade or commerce and agree to suppress competition among themselves;
>
> (2) That running a corner, instead of restraining competition, tends temporarily, at least, to stimulate it, and
>
> (3) That the obstruction of inter-State trade and commerce resulting from the operation of the conspiracy, even although a necessary result, would be so indirect as not to be a restraint in the sense of the statute.

Circuit Court Ruling Reversed.

"Upon careful reflection we are constrained to hold that the reasons given do not sustain the ruling, and that the answer to the question must be in the affirmative.

"Section 1 of the act, upon which the counts are founded, is not confined to voluntary restraints, as where persons engaged in inter-State trade or commerce agree to suppress competition among themselves, but includes as well involuntary restraints, as where persons not so engaged conspire to compel action by others, or to create artificial conditions which necessarily impede or burden the due course of such trade or commerce or restrict the common liberty to engage therein. (Loewe vs. Lawlor, 208 U. S. 274, 293, 301.) As was said of this section in Standard Oil Company vs. United States, 221 U. S. 1, 59:

"'The context manifests that the statute was drawn in the light of the existing practical conception of the law of restraint of trade, because it groups, as within that class, not only contracts which were in restraint of trade in the subjective sense, but all contracts or acts which theoretically were attempts to monopolize, yet which in practice have come to be considered as in restraint of trade in a broad sense.'

"It well may be that running a corner tends for a time to stimulate competition; but this does not prevent it from being a forbidden restraint, for it also operates to thwart the usual operation of the laws of supply and demand, to withdraw the commodity from the normal current of trade, to enhance the price artificially, to hamper users and consumers in satisfying their needs, and to produce practically the same evils as does the suppression of competition.

"Of course, the statute does not apply where the trade or commerce affected is purely intra-State. Neither does it apply, as this court often has held, where the trade or commerce affected is inter-State unless the effect thereon is direct, not merely indirect. But no difficulty is encountered in applying these tests in the present case when its salient features are kept in view.

Flat Declaration of Conspiracy.

"It was a conspiracy to run a corner in the market. The commodity to be cornered was cotton, a product of the Southern States, largely used and consumed in the Northern States. It was a subject of inter-State trade and commerce, and through that channel it was obtained from time to time by the many manufacturers of cotton fabrics in the Northern States. The corner was to be conducted on the Cotton Exchange in New York City, but by means which would enable the conspirators to obtain control of the available supply and to enhance the price to all buyers in every market of the country. This control and the enhancement of price were features of the conspiracy upon the attainment of which it is conceded its success depended. Upon the corner becoming effective, there could be no trading in the commodity save at the will of the conspirators and at such price as their interests might prompt them to exact. And so, the conspiracy was to reach and to bring within its dominating influence the entire cotton trade of the country.

"Bearing in mind that such was the nature, object, and scope of the conspiracy, we regard it as altogether plain that by its necessary operation it would directly and materially impede and burden the due course of trade and commerce among the States and, therefore, inflict upon the public the injuries which the anti-trust act is designed to prevent. (See Swift & Co. vs. United States, 196 U. S. 375, 396-400; Loewe vs. Lawler, 208 U. S. 274; Standard Oil Company vs. United States, 221 U. S. 1; United States vs. American Tobacco Company ibid, 106.)

"And that there is no allegation of a specific intent to restrain such trade or commerce does not make against this conclusion; for, as is shown by prior decisions of this court, the conspirators must be held to have intended the necessary and direct consequences of their acts and cannot be heard to say the contrary. In other words, by purposely engaging in a conspiracy which necessarily and directly produces the result which the statute is designed to prevent, they are, in legal contemplation, chargeable with intending that result. (Addystone Pipe & Steel Company vs. United States, 175 U. S. 211, 243; United States vs. Reading Company, Dec. 16, 1912.)

Conspiracy Covered the Country.

The defendants place some reliance upon Ware and Leland vs. Mobile County, (209 U. S. 405,) as showing that the operation of the conspiracy did not involve inter-State trade or commerce; but we think the case does not go so far and is not in point. It presented only the question of the effect upon inter-State trade or commerce of the taxing by a State of the business of a broker who was dealing in contracts for the future delivery of cotton, where there was no obligation to ship from one State to another; while here we are concerned with a conspiracy which was to reach and bring within its dominating influence the entire cotton trade of the country and which was to be executed, in part only, through contracts for future delivery. It hardly needs statement that the character and effect of a conspiracy is not to be judged by dismembering it and viewing its separate parts, but only by looking at it as a whole. (Montague & Co. vs. Lowry, 193 U. S. 38, 45-46; Swift & Co. vs. United States, 196 U. S. 375, 386-387.)

"As we are of opinion that the statute does embrace the conspiracy which the Circuit Court treated as charged in counts seven and eight, as construed by it, its judgment upon those counts is reversed and the case is remanded for further proceedings in conformity with this opinion.

"Reversed in part."

PATTEN LIKES DECISION.

His Attorney Says It Is Decidedly in His Favor.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—When the intelligence of the Supreme Court decision reached Chicago Mr. Patten was sitting in a large leather chair in the offices of Bartlett, Frazier & Co., brokers, intently watching the marker chalking up stock quotations. A velour hat of emerald green adorned the head of the big grain operator.

"I have heard that the Supreme Court handed down a decision in the case, but I am not acquainted with the full particulars of its decision," said Mr. Patten.

"What steps, if any, will be taken by your attorneys?" he was asked.

"That rests in their hands," he replied. "That's what attorneys are for."

"If the newspaper reports are correct, the opinion handed down by Judge Van Devanter was not a victory for the Government, but, on the contrary, was decidedly in favor of Mr. Patten," said G. P. Merrick, counsel for Mr. Patten, to-night. The finding was simply a criticism of the lower court's opinion and was not a decree sustaining the indictments.

"Mr. Patten won on the third and fourth counts, and after that on the seventh and eighth. Owing to the peculiar statute regulating the case, it is difficult to explain clearly to the average layman the true meaning of the opinion.

"The newspapers which declared that the opinion was a sweeping victory for the Government were very much mistaken. It was anything but that. In the first, second, fifth, and sixth counts we made no demur, and will go to trial on them. They allege the existence of a conspiracy, a contract, and a combination in restraint of trade.

"The third and fourth counts allege a power to restrain trade in cotton. The seventh and eighth counts charge that the market was cornered, while the indictment itself does not actually allege that.

"Mr. Patten is not guilty of violating the anti-trust law, and he won except in the criticism of the lower court's opinion that involuntary restrictions were not violations of the act. What I have said is based simply upon the reports, and I will not be able to make a more detailed opinion until after I have seen the court's opinion."

$105 FOR LINCOLN ITEM.

First 1913 Rare Book Sale In New Anderson Annex.

An extremely rare Abraham Lincoln broadside brought $105 yesterday at the sale of the collection of E. A. Housman of Brookfield Center, Conn., by the Anderson Auction Company. It was the first New York rare book sale of the year, and was held in the auction room of the recently completed annex of the Anderson Galleries, 15 to 17 East Fortieth Street. The broadside, which was bought on order, is dated Washington, April 20, 1865, and signed by Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War. It offers $50,000 for the apprehension of Lincoln's murderer and $25,000 each for the apprehension of "his accomplices," John H. Surratt and David C. Harold.

The rare revolutionary item, "An Impartial History of the War in America Between Great Britain and her Colonies," London, 1780, went to C. Gerhardt for $70. James F. Drake paid a high price, $68, for a clean and fine copy of the scarce first edition of Hall J. Kelley's "Geographical Sketch of that Part of North America called Oregon," published in Boston in 1830. It contains the folding map, not often found with this work.

KILLED ON ELEVATED STAIRS.

Leon Hirsch Tripped and Fractured Skull Against Iron Rail.

Leon Hirsch of 130 West Seventy-fifth Street, a member of the firm of Joseph Hirsch & Sons, cotton merchants at 132 West Twenty-first Street, was killed yesterday morning at 9:30 when he tripped at the top of the stairway at the northwest corner of the elevated station on Seventy-second Street and Columbus Avenue and fell to the landing at the middle of the flight.

Dr. Henry of the Polyclinic Hospital found Mr. Hirsch dead. His skull had been fractured by striking against the iron railing in falling. Mr. Hirsch was 43 years old and single. He was a brother of Nathan Hirsch, one of the Wilson Electors.

HOTEL SAVES BANKRUPT.

Its Profits Enable Fleischman to Pay Creditors in Full.

Judge Holt issued yesterday in the Federal District Court a discharge in bankruptcy to Joseph Fleischman, the florist, and head of the Fleischman Baths. This put an end to financial troubles, which began with the panic of 1907, and at one time threatened to involve the bath company.

Mr. Fleischman's individual liabilities amounted to more than $150,000, but his creditors are being paid in full. This has been made possible by the sale of one asset, owned by Mr. Fleischman, Le Marquis Hotel, which has just been transferred to the new Belgravia Realty Company.

Keeping a Valuable Secret

The U. S. Government uses paper for its currency made by a secret process from the very finest materials. This paper is used exclusively for making legal tender. It is the only paper that will stand the wear.

Library Bureau Standard Cards are also of a peculiar quality. The process is a secret. No other manufacturer knows how to make the same kind of stock. It is used exclusively for making L. B. cards. It is the only stock that will stand the wear.

The superiority of L. B. Standard Cards naturally makes them cost a trifle more per thousand than ordinary cards. They are worth it. A large user found that each card cost about one-fifth of a cent, while the cost of writing it up was approximately twenty-five cents. A card representing an investment of that amount should have the longest possible life and the quality to resist wear. All L. B. Standard cards have just that.

We have also any quality of card for any kind of record. Ten grades and ten prices. Whatever your requirements, whatever the price, L. B. Cards are right. Why not send to us to-day for estimates and samples?

THINK MONEYINQUIRY FORCED CHASE SALE

Pujo Committee Elated at Bank Passing from the Control of First National.

WILL SIFT AFFILIATION

Committee Hears of Bitter Salt Lake Clearing House Fight and of California Petroleum Deal.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Nothing since their investigation of the so-called Money Trust began has so highly elated the Pujo Committee as the announcement from New York of the passing of the Chase National Bank from the control of George F. Baker and his associates in the First National Bank. This was one of the financial affiliations upon which the Pujo Committee was focusing its attention, and the investigators feel that the announcement of their purpose to delve into the connection between the First National Bank, the Chase National Bank, and the First Security Company forced the transfer of enough stock to unbalance the preexisting equation in the relations of these institutions. The transfer will not halt the committee in its determination to investigate the control of the Chase National.

A. Barton Hepburn, Chairman of the Chase National, and George F. Baker of the First National, are to be called before the committee. When they appear they will be asked by Attorney Untermyer to explain this new development in the relations between the two banks. Mr. Hepburn is expected to appear before the Glass Banking and Currency sub-committee to-morrow to testify respecting his views as to monetary reforms, and before he leaves Washington he may be asked to take the stand before the Pujo Committee.

The Pujo Committee ridiculed the suggestion to-day that the Chase National Bank stock transfer is a flank move outgeneraling this committee. While members of the committee refuse to be quoted, it is known that they feel that they have already won a great victory.

When the Pujo Committee resumed its hearings this afternoon the trail led into two transactions, separated by a continent and presenting a striking contrast between East and West. One fork of the inquiry touched the financial struggle now at fever heat in Salt Lake City, between the newly organized National Copper Bank and eight rival banks in the old Salt Lake Clearing House Association, which organized a new Clearing House in June, after failing to force the National Copper Bank to vote for a new Clearing House rule prohibiting it from paying interest on open and checking accounts of depositors.

The other fork went to the heart of the recent formation in New York City of the syndicate, in which the firms of William Salomon & Co. and Hallgarten & Co. were interested, for flotation of the stock of the newly organized California Petroleum Corporation. From George G. Henry, a banker of 25 Broad Street, New York City, a partner of William Salomon & Co., the committee obtained copies of the confidential syndicate agreement under which the California Petroleum Company was formed and its stock marketed.

Tried to Break a Little Bank.

The story of the fight between the National Copper Bank and its eight associated rivals in Salt Lake City was as full of human interest as it was startling in its disclosures of Clearing House conditions in that city. The climax was reached when William W. Armstrong, President of the National Copper Bank, told how Frank Knox, President of the National Bank of the Republic of Salt Lake City, and J. C. Lynch, Vice President, went to Park City, a Utah mining town thirty miles from Salt Lake City, in November with $31,000 worth of checks and demanded payment of them in coin over the counter of the little bank. Its capital was only $50,000, but the Park City Bank, which is controlled by the National Copper Bank, paid the checks. Mr. Armstrong told the committee that these checks were presented in this manner in an effort to break the little bank; that this was only one chapter in the struggle between his bank and its eight rivals in Salt Lake City.

Mr. Armstrong, who has been President of the National Copper Bank since its organization on June 1, 1910, testified that it began with $500,000 capital and $50,000 surplus, and now has deposits of upward of $3,000,000. The National Copper Bank joined the old Salt Lake City Clearing House on June 1, 1910. There were then eight other banks in the association, the Deseret National, the Continental National, the National Bank of the Republic, the Utah National, and the Merchants' Bank, McCormick & Co., Walker Brothers, the Bankers for the Mormon Church, and the Utah Savings and Trust Company.

The following October the Executive Committee of the Clearing House adopted a new rule prohibiting any bank in the association from offering special inducements for customers. The National Copper Bank declined in writing to abide by this rule, and it was withdrawn. Nothing more was done, said Mr. Armstrong, until Jan. 11, 1912, when the Clearing House adopted a rule prohibiting banks in the association from paying interest on open or checking accounts. The eight rival banks voted for this rule, but the National Copper Bank refused to do so, and on April 29, 1912, the Clearing House Association demanded the vote of the National Copper Bank, which refused on the ground that to give it would create a trust in restraint of trade, in violation of the Sherman law, and that rules of this sort would be equivalent to delegating the partial management of the National Copper Bank to a Clearing House Committee and render its officers liable to prosecution. Other banks in Salt Lake City had been paying interest on some customers' checks, and whether they were or not, Mr. Armstrong testified, the National Copper Directors felt that this was a matter they alone should determine without dictation from the Clearing House.

Climax of Clearing House Fight.

Thereupon the withdrawal of the National Copper Bank from the Clearing House was demanded.

"We declined to withdraw," Mr. Armstrong testified, "and the Clearing House Committee adjourned for a week to consider expelling our bank. William McCormick moved that our bank be expelled, but nothing was done until June 1, 1912, when, failing to force us to submit to the new rule, the eight associated banks withdrew from the old Clearing House and formed a new Clearing House with all of the old and some additional objectionable rules. They invited us to join and subscribe to the new conditions of membership. We declined because we felt we would be violating the Sherman law and liable to prosecution for delegating our rights to the Clearing House.

Mr. Armstrong told of a recent conversation between himself and Charles S. Burton, Secretary of the new Clearing House, in a Salt Lake club, where he said Burton exclaimed:

"We are going to make you sign the new rules. It is eight banks to one against you and a fight to a finish. We are going to bring you to your knees."

5,000 CHASE BANK SHARES.

This Block Sold to President Wiggin for $11,250,000.

Albert H. Wiggin, President of the Chase National Bank, announced yesterday that the stock of the bank, which he bought from the First Security Company, as told in THE TIMES yesterday, amounted to 15,000 shares. The last bid for Chase National stock in the market was 760, and it is understood that Mr. Wiggin paid about $750 for his block, which would represent an investment of $11,250,000. Mr. Wiggin said:

"The First Security Company has for a long time held a large block of Chase National Bank stock. An opportunity to purchase a portion of this stock was recently presented. In order to increase my own holdings in the institution of which I am President, and which is to be my lifework, and in order that my associate officers in the bank and the employes of the bank might increase their financial interest in the institution, I have taken advantage of the opportunity presented and have purchased 15,000 shares of Chase National Bank stock. I hope to identify more closely with the bank important business interests which are now connected with us by offering them a stockholding interest to a limited amount."

The Chase National stock held by the First Security Company, it was learned yesterday, amounted to an actual majority of the 50,000 shares. Mr. Wiggin's purchase of 15,000 was more than half of the total amount, so that the First National interest is now in the neighborhood of 25 per cent.

When the First Security Company was formed, in 1908, its holdings of stocks, bonds, and mortgages were said to amount to $35,221,000. In order to tie the security and bank stocks together, stockholders in the bank were asked to sign the following form of indorsement:

> The registered holder of the within certificate is entitled for and in respect of each and every share of stock of the First National Bank of the City of New York represented thereby to share equally and ratably with all other holders of stock certificates of the bank similarly indorsed, according to their several interests, in the dividends or profits, and, in case of dissolution, in the distribution of the capital of the First Security Company, a corporation of the State of New York, organized in pursuance of a certain written agreement dated Feb. 14, 1908, between George F. Baker and others, Trustees, and J. Pierpont Morgan and others, stockholders, such interest of the owner of the within certificate, and all other like certificates, similarly indorsed, being subject to all the terms, conditions, and limitations of said agreement, such ratable interest to be sold or transferred ratably only by the transfer upon the books of the bank of one or more of the shares of the stock in the bank represented by a bank stock certificate bearing this indorsement, and all of the interest in and to or in respect of said Security Company or its capitall stock represented by a bank stock certificate bearing this indorsement shall pass ratably with and only with the transfer of such shares of the bank represented by such bank stock certificate, and upon transfer thereof upon the books of the bank, and an interest in the Security Company attached to any share of the bank shall be alienable only in connection with such transfer of such bank stock.
>
> No holder of the within certificate or any transferee of any share thereby represented shall be entitled in lieu thereof to demand or receive from the bank a new certificate except with this indorsement thereon, and a transfer of any part of the bank stock certificate shall be made by any holder thereof only to a transferee accepting therefor a new certificate bearing this indorsement.
>
> No right to vote upon or in respect of any stock of the Security Company passes to or shall be exercised by the holder of the within certificate, such voting right being reserved to and by the Trustees or their successors.

This was signed by practically all of the stockholders, and as Trustees for the security stock were named George F. Baker, H. C. Fahnestock, F. L. Hine, Henry P. Davison, George F. Baker, Jr., and C. D. Backus, Cashier of the bank.

DAVIS AND OWENS SENTENCED

Ex-Alderman and Tombs Evangelist Sent to Prison for Extortion.

Ex-Alderman Percy L. Davis and Eben J. Owens, at one time a Tombs evangelist, who were convicted of attempted extortion, were arraigned before Justice Goff in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday and sentenced to not less than one year or more than one year and eight months each in State Prison.

Davis and Owens were convicted of attempting to extort $5,000 from Mrs. Eva B. Carroll of 2 Pinehurst Avenue. This was done after Owens had obtained an affidavit from Viola Dawson, a woman servant who had worked for Mrs. Carroll, making charges against her former employer. The affidavit was obtained after Mr. Carroll had Viola Dawson arrested for forging a check for $146. When Davis demanded money to suppress the Dawson girl's charges Mrs. Carroll communicated with the District Attorney, and detectives were sent to her house and arrested both men after they had taken a check for $5,000 from Mrs. Carroll.

EARLY TRIAL FOR MELLEN.

Prosecution Announces Intention of Being Ready for February Calendar.

The Federal authorities intend to lose no time in prosecuting Charles S. Mellen, President of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company; A. H. Smithers, Chairman, and Edson J. Chamberlin, President of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada, on the indictments found against them recently for a breach of the Sherman anti-trust law. It is intended to put down the case for trial on the February term calendar.

Before that time other indictments may be found against some of the Directors of the two railroad companies.

Mr. Mellen and Mr. Chamberlin were called on to plead in the United States District Court yesterday when Judge Hough, on request of counsel, extended their time one week.

DEFER EDEY MURDER CASE.

District Attorney Much Interested in Mrs. Murdock's Testimony.

Special to The New York Times.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Jan. 6.—District Attorney Ralph C. Green and Coroner Moore of Bay Shore met here in conference this afternoon on the Edey murder case. They concluded to take no action until the cases now before the Grand Jury shall have been settled.

Then Mr. Green will make a thorough investigation of the shooting and of affairs leading up to it, especially paying attention to the suit for alienation of his wife's affections brought against Edey by Gardner Murdock.

Mr. Green said Mrs. Murdock's testimony concerning this phase of the case had interested him exceedingly, and that he would go into it more deeply. He promised that the least evidence would cause him to lay the facts before the Grand Jury.

DON'T WANT TARIFF CUT ON CHEMICALS

Witnesses' Testimony at First Hearing Embraces Poker Chips, Sponges, Potash, and Soap.

A GLUE TRUST SPECTRE

C. Delaney Fears One Were Duty Raised—Graphophone Company Pays $700,000 in Dividends.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A score of manufacturers, importers, and representatives of other interests affected by customs changes aired their grievances before the House Committee on Ways and Means to-day in the first of a series of hearings preliminary to the revision of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law at the coming extra session of Congress.

The discussion ranged from poker chips to sponges, and from caustic potash to laundry soap. The burden of the arguments was the maintenance of the present tariff instead of the changes proposed by the Democrats along the line of the terms of the Chemical Tariff Revision bill, which was passed and vetoed last year.

Henry Howard of New York, representing the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, contended that the committee should delegate the whole question of the chemical schedule to a sub-committee for expert investigation.

The spectre of a gigantic Glue Trust, whose tentacles reached over Europe and into South America, was raised by Charles Delaney, President of the National Association of Glue and Gelatine Manufacturers. Mr. Delaney pictured "the European Glue Trust" as doing its work with the approval of the various European Governments, absolutely controlling the glue manufacturing industry of Germany and Austria, with plants in Italy, France, Holland, and Russia, and as recently extending its operations to South America, controlling 75 per cent. of the output of glue of the Continent of Europe. The Glue Trust, he said, was also largely engaged in the manufacture of gelatine. The witness said the present tariff on glues and gelatine was not prohibitive, and that Government revenues from these articles had increased under the present tariff. He maintained that any material change in the present conditions would seriously weaken the industry.

The committee interrogated M. Dorian, Treasurer of the American Graphahone Company of Bridgeport, Conn., so closely about its business that he told the members he did not think it was their business to ask about private details. Mr. Dorian wanted shellac and copal kept on the free list, instead of making them dutiable, as proposed by the Democrats, and he intimated that the effect might be to shift the manufacture of their large export business to their London factory.

Mr. Underwood drew from the witness the admission that the graphaphone company pays seven per cent. dividends, amounting to $700,000 on a $10,000,000 capitalization.

William H. Wadhams, representing soap interests, passed a tribute to the great need of laundry soap. He portrayed it as a necessity of life and contended that to put the burden of a tariff on the raw materials used in an article that goes into the homes of the poor would be unjust.

Albert Hart, of New York wanted tariff encouragement for the infant industry of manufactured or bleached sponges.

T. F. Schoelkopf of Buffalo said the proposed reduction of duty on coal tar dyes or colors, of which about $7,000,000 worth annually are brought in, from 30 to 18½ per cent. would operate unjustly to the American manufacturers.

Chairman Underwood drew from him that he regarded his total labor cost as 20 per cent. of the cost of the finished product, and that if the coal tar dyes or colors came in free he still would have to pay virtually a 10 per cent. duty because of the freight charges, &c., from the customs house.

The committee adjourned until to-morrow morning, when there will be witnesses from New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland, and other cities on oils, salts, acids, and perfumery.

NEW B. & O. ISSUE.

Speyer Will Have a New Year Offering of $75,000,000 Convertibles.

Speyer & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will announce in a few days the first important piece of financing to be undertaken in the new year. The offering will consist of a large block of new convertible bonds of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. It is understood that the probable amount of the new issue will be $75,000,000, and that the bonds will bear 4½ per cent. interest.

At the present time the Baltimore & Ohio has no convertible bond issues. It is proposed to authorize an issue of $200,000,000 to care for future financing needs, the most pressing of which is the meeting of $50,000,000 of three-year 4½ per cent. notes, which fall due on the first of next June.

TO SUCCEED JEFF DAVIS.

New Arkansas Senator for Short Term J. N. Heiskell, an Editor.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 6.—Gov. George W. Dohaghey to-day appointed John Netherland Heiskell, editor of the Arkansas Gazette of this city, United States Senator, to succeed the late Jeff Davis.

The appointment is for the short term ending on March 4. Mr. Heiskell is 40 years old and a native of Tennessee. He did newspaper work in Chicago and Louisville before coming to Little Rock as editor of the Gazette, of which he is part owner. Mr. Heiskell never before held a political office. He said to-day that when the Legislature elects a Senator he will return to Little Rock and resume his editorial work.

JEWS HONOR MR. TAFT.

In Accepting Medal He Pays Glowing Tribute to Genius of Their Race.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—There was a distinguished gathering of members of the International Order of B'nai B'rith at the White House this afternoon when a gold medal was presented to President Taft in recognition of his services to the Jewish race, particularly in connection with the Russian controversy. President Adolph Kraus of Chicago in making the formal presentation said the B'nai B'rith desired to do honor to the man who, regardless of creed, had contributed most during the period of a year to the welfare of the Jewish cause. The presentation ceremonies took place after a luncheon at the White House, at which the Executive Committee of the order were guests. Those present were Adolph Kraus, Judge Philip Stein, Chicago; Jacob Furth, St. Louis; Rabbi E. N. Kalish, Richmond; Charles Hartman, New York; Jacob Singer, Philadelphia; L. I. Solomons, San Francisco; A. B. Seelenfreund, Secretary of the Committee; Simon Wolf, Washington, and Julius J. Peyser, Washington, President of District No. 5 of the order.

The medal was presented to President Taft in obedience to the action of the Executive Committee of B'nai B'rith taken at a meeting held in Berlin, Germany, on April 15, 1912. The committee made the following minute on that occasion:

"The convention of the order having directed that a gold medal be annually awarded to the man or woman, regardless of creed, who has contributed most during the year to the welfare of the Jewish cause, the awarding of the medal was next taken up.

"After full discussion it was decided that President William Howard Taft of the United States of America had on various occasions during the year fearlessly, justly, and vigorously enunciated doctrines and maintained positions on questions in which the Jewish people have a vital interest, albeit they are of not less significance to lovers of liberty and justice the world over; that the positions so taken by him as the head of a great Nation gave new hope of better days to come for the persecuted of our people; that in recognition thereof the medal should be, and accordingly it was, voted to President Taft."

President Taft, on accepting the medal to-day, said:

"I am very greatly honored and very much touched by this beautiful evidence of your testimony to the usefulness of efforts of mine, while exercising the office of President, to make it clear to the people and the world at large that in this country, at least, every man, woman, and child is equal before the law and entitled to enjoy those rights that were call inalienable; that in this country not only are those rights declared and secured by law, but that there is among the people a spirit that reflects and carries out the principles of our Constitution.

"Now, upon the Jewish people it is not necessary for me to pronounce eulogium. In their just pride of their ancestry, those of us who are not of the Jewish people have to be humble. The genius, the strength of your race, the patience, and the persistence with which you pursue your purpose to maintain your rights and exalt your race—all make yours an exceptional history in the history of the world. The persecutions to which you have been subjected because of your religion have in a sense doubtless developed the character and tenacity of your race, but it needs a free country like the United States to develop the flower and enable you to show to the world at large the wonderful capacity of the race as supporters of law and order in a Government of freedom and a Government that insists upon equality before the law.

"My father was a Unitarian and I was brought up in that faith. Across the street from the Unitarian Church in Cincinnati was the Jewish synagogue, of which the Rev. Isaac M. Wise was rabbi. Our clergymen exchanged pulpits, so in my boyhood days I sat at the feet of Dr. Wise in the Unitarian Church and listened to sermons which he delivered in the pulpit of that church. It is, therefore, not to be supposed that there is any prejudice of any sort in my mind or that there was anything but impatience at the suggestion of a prejudice that may exist in narrow minds.

"Now, Mr. Kraus and gentlemen, there is not any but doubt that a race like yours, as civilization goes, will forge itself to the front and overcome the inequalities and persecutions that unfortunately continue to exist in some countries. This is as certain as the day, and it is a great satisfaction that this movement of the Jews upward and onward to complete and world-wide recognition of their merit and to social justice everywhere has had its most successful impulse in this country.

"And now, gentlemen, I shall treasure this evidence as one of the greatest honors and as one of the greatest pleasures of my Administration, to show you that I am a broad-minded man in the administration of the Government."

PAPER STOCK DECREASED.

Heavy Shipments in November—Production Shows Falling Off of 3 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Stocks of news print paper on Nov. 30, 1912, according to reports of the American Paper and Pulp Association to the Commissioner of Corporations, were 43,504 tons, a decrease of 3,007 tons from October. Stocks on Nov. 30, 1911, were 38,650 tons. The decrease was largely due to heavy shipments during November, these being 109,801 tons.

The production was 106,715 tons, a decrease of 2,249 tons. The production was 94 per cent. of the computed normal, against 97 per cent. in November, 1911. The average actual daily output was 4,104 tons, against a computed normal of 4,366 tons.

For the eleven months ended with November the production was 95 per cent. of the computed normal, as compared with 93 per cent. in each of the full calendar years 1909, 1910, and 1911.

MERGER OF PORTS OPPOSED.

Jersey City Fears to be Consolidated with New York.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Fear on the part of the people of Jersey City that President Taft might make the port of that city a part of the Port of New York under an act of Congress which empowered him to consolidate the different ports of the country, led Representatives Hamill and Kinkead of New Jersey to protest to-day to the President and Treasury officials.

The representatives contended that if the ports were consolidated it would result in a great setback to Jersey City, whose shipping was becoming an important part of its business activity. The President promised the New Jersey Congressmen he would not take action until he had given representatives of Jersey City an opportunity to be heard.

NATION NEAR 100 MILLIONS.

Treasury Estimates Money in Circulation at $34.72 Each.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The latest estimate of the population of the continental United States places the figures at 96,496,000 on Jan. 2, 1913.

That figure was used by the Treasury Department experts in determining that of the total money in circulation in the country on that date, $3,350,727,580, the amount per capita was $34.72.

Blame Negroes for Depreciation.

A depreciation of more than 60 per cent. in ten years of real estate values in West Fifty-second Street as a result of the removal of large numbers of negro tenants into the district, is disclosed in an appraisal of the estate of Mary Ott, who had equity in 245 West Fifty-second Street. According to an affidavit accompanying the appraisal, Mary Ott paid $22,000 for the property, which consists of a lot with a twenty-foot front and a depth of 105 feet, and a four-story brick house. Since the arrival of the negroes, the affidavit says, the property has depreciated so that it now will not bring $14,000.

Burned to Death in Kitchen.

Miss Minnie Huran was burned to death yesterday afternoon in the kitchen of her home, 320 Eighth Street, Jersey City. The kitchen became ablaze from the kitchen range, and in trying to put out the flames her clothing caught fire. Miss Huran was housekeeper for her father and brother and had been preparing dinner when the fire started.

ARCHBALD STRONG IN HIS DEFENSE

Judge in Impeachment Proceedings Declared He Is Guilty of No Criminal Act.

HIS WIFE'S FIRM SUPPORT

Prosecution Evidently Impressed by Their Testimony — Friendly Act Turned Against Him, He Says.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Judge Robert W. Archbald of the Commerce Court and Mrs. Archbald to-day testified before the Senate in the Judge's behalf in the impeachment proceedings pending against him.

Mrs. Archbald's testimony was very brief, and consisted, aside from the identification of certain letters admitted by the defense, simply of a statement of the fact that Henry W. Cannon, who took her and Judge Archbald on a trip to Europe, was her cousin, and that the whole trip was a family affair, having nothing to do with her husband's judicial position.

Mrs. Archbald was an eloquent figure in defense of her husband's integrity. She said Mr. Cannon was her cousin; that the two families had been intimate for years, and that they had frequently enjoyed pleasure trips together.

The invitation to the Archbalds to go to Europe in 1910 came to Mrs. Archbald personally. She gave the Senate the letter from Mr. Cannon. This and other letters that passed between Mr. Cannon and Judge and Mrs. Archbald were filled with discussions of the trip, with injunctions to Judge Archbald to take heavy underwear and dress clothes for the European journey, and with personal exchanges to emphasize the close relationship that existed.

The testimony of Judge Archbald in his own defense is the first case of its kind in the history of impeachments before the United States Senate. While the effect of his testimony upon his hearers is problematical, he undoubtedly held the interest of Senators during the several hours of his examination by his counsel.

The Judge was absolutely self-possessed when he took the stand, and he impressed his hearers with his frankness, if not with the wisdom of his commercial enterprises. He said he was 65 years old and was beginning his twenty-ninth year as a Judge.

Many of the articles of impeachment against the Judge allege transactions which he admits, his offense, in the eyes of the managers, consisting in the impropriety and not the criminality of his actions.

He admitted his associations with Edward J. Williams of Scranton in negotiations for the Katydid refuse coal dump, owned jointly by a subsidiary of the Erie Railroad and by the firm of Robertson & Law.

He admitted that he had talked with Second Vice President Richardson and General Counsel Brownell of the Erie in an effort to expedite a decision as to whether the Erie would grant an option on its part of the dump, but he denied that he had tried or intended to influence them to act in his favor.

The letter which the Judge wrote to Vice President Loomis of the Lackawanna Railroad, suggesting a settlement of the road's difficulties with the Marion Coal Company, put Judge Archbald to-day in a new light. Though the Boland Brothers, who own the Marion Coal Company, are at present chief witnesses for the prosecution, the Judge said that previously he had been on such good terms with them that he called Christy Boland by his first name.

Christy, he said, had come to him and told him that the troubles of his company with the Lackawanna Railroad weighed so heavily on the mind of his brother, William P. Boland, that he feared for the latter's sanity. Unless a settlement was reached, he told the Judge, according to Mr. Archbald's testimony today, he feared his brother would end in an asylum.

"With my sympathies worked on in this way," said Judge Archbald, "I wrote the letter to Mr. Loomis."

To-morrow the managers for the House, appearing as the prosecutors in the case, will take up cross-examination of the jurist.

TO INSTRUCT JEWISH YOUTH.

Organization Started to Arouse Their Interest in Their Religion.

A campaign to combat parental and communal neglect and personal indefference toward the religiou education of young Jews, has been started by an organization launched by young Jews on the east side under the name of Young Israel. The organizers of the movement plan to extend throughout all parts of the city, and they will endeavor to arouse the Jewish consciousness in the thousands of Jewish young men and women without regard to reform or orthodoxy of faith, and their intellectual interest by acquainting them with the ideal of the Jewish religion and people, and their history, literature, and language.

It is planned under this movement to make synagogues social and intellectual centres for Jewish youth. Four synagogues have been procured for lecture purposes, each for one month. At the Kalvarier Synagogue, 13 and 15 Pike street, three Friday night lectures will be delivered under the auspices of the organization: Jan. 10, by the Rev. Dr. J. L. Magnes; Jan. 17, Prof. M. M. Kaplan, of the Jewish Theological Seminary; Jan. 24, the Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Hertz; Jan. 31, Prof. Israel Friedlender, of the Jewish Theological Seminary. Lectures will be given at the Shaarei Shomayim Synagogue, 89 Rivington street. On Feb. 7, Dr. Magnes will speak; on Feb. 14, Dr. Abraham J. Neuman; Feb. 21, Dr. Hertz, and on Feb. 28 Prof. Kaplan. In March four lectures will be given at Synagogue Anshei Bialystocker 7 and 11 Willett street, and in April they will be given at the Kahal Adath Jeshurun Synagogue, Eldridge street near Canal street.

MISS TARBELL ON THE NEWS.

Papers Serving the Truth and Not Fixed Policies, She Finds.

In praise of the attitude of the better class of newspapers, Miss Ida M. Tarbell told the students of the Columbia School of Journalism yesterday afternoon in a lecture on "The Truth in the News" that very conscientious efforts were being made by them to draw the exact picture regardless of the editorial policies. She said the deliberate twisting and distorting of the truth to meet certain ends was now a custom receiving no sanction from editors.

As an illustration of the efforts of the press to give the news truthfully, Miss Tarbell spoke of the thousands of dollars which New York dailies, which were almost solidly against the Progressive Party, and more especially its leader, spent in obtaining accurate and impartial reports of the speeches of that leader. She especially praised as a "newspaper classic" an account of the Bull Moose Convention at Chicago sent to a newspaper here, (which she did not name,) which, though editorially opposed to Col. Roosevelt's platform, she said, "faithfully printed every word as it came over the wires."

"How much of the truth one has found out should be published is frequently a grave question for an editor," said Miss Tarbell. "Mr. Dana used to say anything which the Almighty allowed to happen he was willing to print. Generally it is safe to follow this rule, only of course you should be sure that the thing you print the Almighty has allowed to happen. In important matters where there is doubt of the accuracy of a report the news should be withheld. We had such a case in the civil war. The North was disastrously and unexpectedly defeated at the battle of Bull Run. When that news reached Washington it was withheld as long as possible. On the whole I believe that this course was justifiable.

"The Titanic was a case in point. The effort to withhold the news of that disaster from the public caused much resentment. It may be that the steamship company had a reasonable doubt of the truthfulness of the report. When we remember that those who were on the ship had not the least fear for the first hour, so strong was their confidence that the ship could not sink, it is not strange that those on land should have refused to believe that she could sink.

"In the last ten or fifteen years we have had considerable controversy about a form of truth telling which we call muck-raking. As long as men continue to do evil muck-raking will be necessary, but no form of journalism should be handled with more care than that which reflects on the integrity of men and women. It is the reporter's duty to know what he says, and then to say rather less than more of the truth he knows."

Divorce for J. P. Manning.

Supreme Court Justice Kapper in Brooklyn awarded to John Pearce Manning yesterday an interlocutory decree of divorce from Adele Taylor Manning. The action was started a month ago. In his complaint Mr. Manning did not name a co-respondent, but it was understood that Walter Bowne of Millington, N. J., whose wife ran away with Jordan L. Mott, 3d, figured in the case. They are now in Peking, China.

A TRUE GOLDFISH TRAGEDY.

How Thirty-six of Them Ate Green Paint and Died.

Three dozen Japanese goldfish with a perverted taste for green paint have died in the last few days at the Hotel Walcott from overindulgence in the strange delicacy. The mystery of the dead goldfish was finally solved by a Jap Sherlock, and ranks as the season's most remarkable true fish story.

The dining room of the Wolcott was the scene of the finny tragedy. Manager McMann decided that an aquarium would add a picturesque touch. So he commissioned Sanzo Nishijima to construct a typical bit of Japanese landscape in miniature—a real island with a sugarloaf volcano; little rustic bridges leading to the mainland of rocks and moss, and stunted, dwarfed fir trees, some of them eighteen years old and yet only a few inches high; little Japanese mannikins—and womankins, too—to people the landscape; and, lastly, a small lake and canals for the goldfish.

Sanzo Nishijima finished the aquarium according to specifications, then added water, then goldfish to the number of twelve. The container was a large tin pan, painted green inside and out. For a whole day the goldfish played tag around the volcano, then with one accord turned up their fins to the fir trees. A second dozen was placed in the aquarium and lasted no longer. A third went the way of their fellows.

A hurry call was sent out for the Jap to come and solve the mystery. On emptying out the water and examining the sides of the aquarium, he found evidences that the goldfish had nibbled at the green paint.

Plans to Greet Amundsen.

ADRIANOPLE'S FALL BELIEVED IMMINENT

again at the end of the week, when the festivities in connection with the Orthodox Christmas are ended.

The allies yesterday held a short meeting before the official sitting. They discussed three possibilities with reference to the statement which Rechad Pasha had been asked to make respecting the Balkan States' ultimatum, and agreed on the reply of the allies. First, if Rechad Pasha's statement were arrogant and provocative, then, notwithstanding the advice of the powers in favor of moderation, they would break off the negotiations; second, if Rechad were courteous, but the new concessions were unimportant, they would suspend the conference; third, if Rechad made important concessions, without absolutely conceding the allies' demands, they would adjourn the sitting until Friday, in order to allow time to consult their respective Governments.

The Conference.

Expectation was intense when the Servian delegate, M. Novakovitch opend the session. Rechad Pasha, before reading his statement, made a brief speech. He said that Turkey was prepared to give further proof of her conciliatory spirit and desire to avert bloodshed, but he regretted that the allies seemed determined to concede nothing on their part and had turned a deaf ear to humanitarian considerations. He then read the following:

> If we refuse the session of Adrianople, it is because its cession is impossible, for the security of Constantinople and the Dardanelles. Besides, I must add that we are here with the firm intention of establishing a lasting peace, with such conditions as will insure friendly relations and commercial facilities profitable to both parties.
>
> We are still ready to-day to discuss the frontier line between Turkey and Bulgaria, but this frontier must leave Adrianople in Ottoman territory. Wishing to give new proof of our spirit of conciliation, we consent to desist from our rights over Crete, on condition, naturally, that the allies do not claim the cession of any of the islands in the Aegean Sea.
>

Allies' Delegates Displeased.

The Balkan plenipotentiaries could not conceal their dissatisfaction with the statement, which, although containing small concessions, left the situation practically unchanged. Various delegates asked Rechad Pasha if he could not add something to the statement [illegible].

The head of the Turkish delegation professed great surprise at having such questions addressed to him by the delegates of the allies, who, he said, were never satisfied, no matter how much Turkey yielded, while they themselves had not given up their demands one iota. M. Daneff remarked: "This was necessary because from the beginning the allies asked only what they had fought for and what they expect after the successes attained."

M. Novakovitch read the following statement:

> The propositions of their Excellencies, the Ottoman Delegates, do not correspond with the demands formulated by the Allies at the former sitting. The negotiations on the new proposed basis not being of such a nature as to lead to an understanding, the Allies see themselves obliged to suspend the sitting of the conference.

M. Novakovitch delivered to Rechad Pasha a copy of their answer signed by all the heads of the Balkan delegations, and dissolved the sitting.

Rechad Pasha rose immediately and protested energetically against this procedure, saying:

"When M. Novakovitch sits in that chair he is not the President of the allies, but the President of the whole conference, which includes the Turkish delegation. Therefore, the simple decision of the allies is not sufficient to suspend the sitting, without the opinion of the Turkish delegation first being heard."

M. Novakovitch answered: "It takes two to make a bargain. If one side declines to enter into a discussion, it is useless to continue the sitting."

Rechad Pasha retorted warmly and maintained his protest. He said he considered that the President's action exceeded his prerogative, and, wishing further to emphasize his protest, notwithstanding the explanations which came from all quarters, Rechad, followed by the whole Turkish delegation, immediately left St. James's Palace.

The other delegations remained for half an hour more to discuss the situation, especially the final incident.

The official report of the meeting says:

> Having examined the new proposals of the Turkish delegates in reply to the declaration of the allies at the last sitting, the latter declared the work of the conference suspended.

By suspending the sittings of the conference the delegates of the allies assert that they have left the next move to the Turks. Rechad Pasha, they say, has the alternativo of presenting fresh proposals following closely the demands of the Balkan league, and thus resuming the conferences, or of adhering to the Turkish claim for the retention of Adrianople and definitely rupturing the negotiations.

Move by Powers Expected.

The general hope now is that in the course of the three days' festivities of the Orthdox Christmas, which has in the Balkans all the poetical associations of ancient tradition, the olive branch will be offered in the shape of official or unofficial advice by the powers.

The Turkish delegation are very indignant over the attitude of the European powers toward the Ottoman Empire. They remark that when the Turks are defeated nothing is done to prevent their enemies' pretensions, whereas when they are victorious they are prevented from reaping the fruits of their efforts.

BATTLE WON BY GREEKS.

members of the associations said that the employers had determined not to grant the demands of the striking garment workers, particularly the one calling for the recognition of the union.

The meeting yesterday was said to be the first time in the history of the garment trade in this city that the Clothing Trade Association, which is said to represent the so-called "trust" in the trade, and the United Manufacturers' Association, the organization of the "independents," have joined hands in a matter affecting the garment industry. While the Clothing Trade Association represents only 35 per cent. of the garment manufacturers in New York, its thirty members own the largest plants in the industry. It was this organization which sent representatives to treat with the strikers last week at meetings arranged through the Chamber of Commerce.

One of the large independent manufacturers at the meeting was David Levine of Levine & Cedar, whose plant is at 663 Broadway. All of their employes have joined the strike, and Mr. Levine said he had plenty of time to attend meetings.

Mr. Levine was asked if he intended to increase the price of a suit of clothes 50 cents if he granted a 10 per cent. increase in wages next Fall.

"I certainly do," he replied, "and so does every other manufacturer. That 50 cents represents the price paid by the public for the strike."

Mr. Levine said that, so far as he and many other manufacturers were concerned, they would rather close their shops until next April than to pay a 10 per cent. increase in wages now.

Ten thousand strike pickets were sent out early yesterday morning. There was little trouble, though. In the evening, however, when the shops closed, there was much excitement in Broadway below Fourteenth Street, and rows at the Subway stations at Astor Place, Bleecker, Spring, and Canal Streets were frequent. Plenty of policemen were on hand, though, and serious trouble was averted.

In front of the factory of J. L. Taylor & Co., at 693 Broadway, where seventy-three strikebreakers, mostly girls, were said to have been employed, the most serious outbreak occurred. Some 1,000 strikers had assembled in front of this factory and awaited closing time. The workers were taken down in elevators and assembled in the small corridor to go out in a body. When the girls had gathered in the corridor, automobiles hired by Mr. Taylor appeared. Before the girls could be conducted to them, the strikers forced their way into the corridor and hustled the workers to the street, knocking down many girls in their rush. The police reserves finally drove back the strikers, and those girls who could be found were taken away in the autos.

At the headquarters of the strikers it was said last night that 110,000 men and women had quit work. There had been no negotiations for a settlement during the day, it was asserted. The striking Settlement Committee, it was said, had heard several independent manufacturers during the day, but had come to no terms with any of them.

STRIKE WAS ANTICIPATED.

Clothing Manufacturers Have Larger Supply of Spring Stock.

With the interest of clothing manufacturers centered largely in the strike, and few out-of-town buyers in the city, there is little to chronicle so far as business is concerned in this trade. Most of the road men are still at the home offices.

The trade, as a whole, seems optimistic regarding present conditions, and as a rule manufacturers are inclined to think that the strike will not last long enough to do any great harm. In most instances, it is said, the present disturbance was anticipated, and as a result manufacturers now have a larger supply of Spring stock made up than is usually the case at this time.

Advance orders have been satisfactory for the most part, and in some quarters of the trade the volume already booked is considerably larger than last year. Fancy waistcoats are said to be returning to favor, and a noticeable increase in orders for them is reported.

P. & O. LINE WON'T GO IN WITH THE CUNARD

Authoritative Denial from London of a Combination Reported Here.

A CUNARD IN BOTH BOARDS

But He Sits in the P. & O. Directorate in His Private Capacity Only.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—In reference to the revival of the rumor contained in New York dispatches that a combination of the Cunard and Peninsular and Oriental lines is in process of formation, The Times says:

"We have the highest authority for stating that the story is an absolute fabrication. It will be remembered that in the Autumn a reciprocal arrangement was entered into by the two companies, whereby the Cunard became the agent of the Peninsular and Oriental in the United States, and the Peninsular and Oriental became the agent for the Cunard in the Far East. This fact was recently brought out in Peninsular and Oriental official publications, and to it may not improbably be attributed the origin of this latest of many rumors.

"It is possible, also, that observers may have tried to deduce much from the fact that E. H. Cunard is a Director of both companies; but we understand that Mr. Cunard has had a seat on the board of the Peninsular and Oriental Company for many years in his private capacity.

PLAY BY KING NICHOLAS.

Anticipates the Present War, Though Written Forty Years Ago.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A three-act political drama by King Nicholas of Montenegro will shortly be produced in London. It was written some forty years ago, when the King was a mere princeling.

J. T. Grein, who holds the European rights of the play, describes the composition as not only a literary and dramatic curiosity, but also an intelligent anticipation—a "most striking example of political clairvoyance"—of events which are now making history.

The title of the play is "The Empress of the Balkans." It is dedicated to Montenegro, the whole idea being to rouse the people to a patriotic fever.

The play was produced some years ago in Germany with success. The English adaptation is now being done by an English poet.

London Paper Suggests There Are Several Which Would Be Impartial.

BUT PREFERS THE HAGUE

"Ife We Cannot Get a Fair Opinion There, Then We May Abandon Hope of Human Nature."

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 7.—The Morning Post in an editorial article on President Taft's arbitration statement says:

"The argument against The Hague Tribunal is apparently that all the European nations are against the United States in this quarrel, and look upon England as protecting or representing their interests. There is a measure of truth in this contention, since there can be no doubt that all sea-going nations are injured by the Panama act, although they have not been injured like England in express treaty rights.

"If, however, the United States despairs of finding judicial fairness where interests are concerned, there are still left one or two nations without a seaboard or with sea-going commerce so unimportant that they might fairly be reckoned as neutral in the quarrel.

"For our part, we think that, if the matter is indeed to be referred to arbitration, The Hague Tribunal offers of all sources the best chance of international justice and acumen and impartiality. If we cannot get a fair opinion there, then we may abandon hope of human nature."

Still Discussing Atlantic Lanes.

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 7.—The Times says it understands that the negotiations between the British and Continental shipping lines respecting the proposed alteration in the North Atlantic Summer tracks have not yet been concluded. At the moment nothing definite can be stated.

MANY FILMS EXPORTED.

11,000 Miles Sent Abroad—Also $30,000,000 Worth of Automobiles.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Eleven thousand miles of motion-picture films, or enough to stretch from New York to Manila, were sent to foreign countries last year by American manufacturers, according to a Government report of exports. Automobiles and parts, including tires, were exported to the extent of $30,000,000. Telephones worth $1,000,000 and aeroplanes worth $10[illegible]000 were included in the year's manufactures sent abroad.

The striking fact in the export of automobiles is the marked decline in price at which the machines are exported. In 1907 the export price averaged a little less than $1,000. Those exported were sold chiefly in British territory. The average price of aeroplanes exported in the year was $2,400 each.

Attempt Is to be Made to Break the Will of Senora Pinillos.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Jan. 6.—It is announced that a suit will soon be begun with the object of breaking the will of Señora Jorge Carvajal Pinillos, a Cuban society woman who was well known in New York. She died recently in Paris, bequeathing $2,000,00 to Pope Pius and $400,000 to Mgr. Sbaretti, formerly Bishop of Havana, while she left to her brothers, Marios and Manuel Carvajal, $100,000 each, and to her husband $1,000 a month.

Señora Carvajal made a will in Havana just prior to leaving here for Paris, in which she bequeathed the major portion of her fortune to Havana charities. Her later will, executed in Paris, does not mention Havana's poor. She was a daughter of the late Leopold Carvajal.

KILLS 8 ON FRENCH WARSHIP.

Explosion of a Steam Collector Pipe on the Battleship Massena.

TOULON, Jan. 6.—Eight men were killed to-day by an explosion in the stokehole of the French battleship Masséna.

The Masséna, accompanied by two cruisers, was proceeding for Bizerta. She was passing the Hyères Islands when the steam collector pipe of one of the boilers burst. The warship was immediately stopped and the engine room staff rushed to the stokehold, where they found a petty officer, six stokers, and an artificer lying on the steel floor dead. The ship put back and landed the bodies at the St. Mandrier Naval Hospital.

The cause of the accident has not yet been ascertained, but it has occasioned great surprise among the naval authorities, as the steam piping on the Masséna had been completely renewed two years ago and was thoroughly tested last year.

An officer of the Masséna says that immediately after the explosion men from the stokehole rushed on deck, but there was no panic, although at first it was feared that the explosion was due to "B" powder. Commander Bernard displayed great coolness. He ordered that everything possible be done to succor the victims in the stokehold, from which steam was pouring in great clouds.

The port Admiral has ordered an inquiry into the cause of the accident, which did considerable damage in the stokehold.

CHINA GROUP IN LONDON.

Distinguished Men to Watch the Interests of the New Republic.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A "China group" is to be formed in London, consisting of Members of Parliament, writers, scientists and other distinguished persons, whose object will be to watch and conserve the interests of the new Republic of China.

The foundation of the group was decided on at a meeting of members of the House of Commons this evening.

ACTRESS WAS COURT LADY.

Miss Hobson, Who Was Maid of Honor to Hawaiian Queen, Dies.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Maud Hobson, an actress of the old Gaiety Theatre, is dead. Although the parts she filled were not very prominent, she was a popular favorite. She left the Gaiety chorus to marry Capt. Hayley, who afterward became Chief Minister to King Kalakaua of Hawaii. The former actress was then a maid of honor to the Queen of Hawaii.

Miss Hobson a few years later returned to London and was re-engaged at the Gaiety.

LUNATIC THREATENED KING.

Young Man Also Sent a Letter Demanding Money to an Actress.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Threatening letters to King George and Lillah McCarthy, the actress, figured in a case that was heard in the Horsham Court to-day.

The letters were written by Percy Collins, a young man living at Horsham. The evidence showed that he had been an inmate of an asylum for the insane. His epistles were demands for money, with threats to shoot the addressees unless the money were sent.

Miss McCarthy appeared in court to give evidence.

WIFE CHIEF FACTOR IN PATRICK'S PLEA

Lawyer Convicted of Murdering Rice Sought Freedom on the Strength of Her Devotion.

TOLD OF OTHERS' DISTRESS

Opening of Papers on Which Dix Liberated Prisoner Shows Many Thought Accused Man Innocent.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—In accordance with his decision that all public papers in the Capitol should be accessible to the public, Gov. Sulzer to-day caused the lid to be lifted in the case of Albert T. Patrick, on whose application for clemency Gov. Dix acted in the closing moments of his Administration, only to seal up the papers as he did in the Brandt case. The phrase, "Lift the lid" literally is true in this instance, for the documents in the Patrick case are voluminous enough to fill a good-sized packing box.

There was nothing in the box of documents to indicate that any new evidence or anything of moment that had not come before other Governors in connection with the Patrick case had been submitted to Gov. Dix, with the exception of a long letter from Patrick to Col. Joseph F. Scott, Sate Superintendent of Prisons, in which he made a plea for clemency on sentimental grounds and said he desired not a pardon, but an "unconditional commutation" which would imply no admission of guilt and would leave him free to establish his innocence through a new trial. Gov. Dix granted a pardon.

In that connection Patrick wrote:

> If the Governor should act in my case, permit me to rely upon you to suggest to him that his action be not such as to require acceptance by me. I wish to be free to establish my inocence in court and to afford the State an opportunity to try me again for the murder of Rice. The Court of Appeals has held that the acceptance of a pardon by one Roberts was an implied admission of guilt and barred an action by him based upon his assertion of innocence. The Appellate Division, Second Department, held in my case that an unconditional commutation of my sentence did not require my consent or acceptance. While the question has never been passed upon by any court, I think it likely that the courts would hold by analogy to the case of pardon that the acceptance of a conditional commutation would be an implied admission of guilt and legality of conviction, and thus bar proceedings to obtain a new trial or otherwise establish my innocence, since a violation of the condition would involve execution of the sentence commuted.

Nervous About the Courts.

> The courts might likewise seize upon such acceptance to hold that I had likewise and thereby accepted the commutation by Gov. Higgins of my sentence of death to life imprisonment, which I have heretofore persistently rejected. It is idle to attempt to decide these questions in advance of the courts, since they no longer understand the subtle principles of law or endeavor to apply them, but administer a rude "justice" under color of law.

In the letter to Col. Scott, Patrick reaffirmed his assertion of innocence, asserted his conviction was the result of a conspiracy, and insisted that the conspirators still were active to have him kept in prison to the end of his days. Denunciation of the courts, and attacks on Supreme Court Justice John W. Goff, who as Recorder presided at the trial of Patrick and of Associate Judge John Clinton Gray, who as a member of the Court of Appeals wrote the prevailing opinion against giving Patrick a new trial, were features of a letter written by John T. Milliken of St. Louis, Patrick's wealthy brother-in-law, who worked steadily for his restoration to freedom. Mr. Milliken, in a letter written to Patrick after Gov. Higgins commuted his sentence to life imprisonment, said:

> I have the utmost contempt for Recorder Goff and Judge Gray. The former is a tyrant and a modern Jeffries. Judge Gray should never have sat upon your case.

Light was shed on Mr. Milliken's feeling against Judge Gray in a letter he sent to Dean Huffcut, now dead, who was legal adviser to Gov. Higgins at the time application was being made to the Governor for a pardon or commutation of sentence. Mr. Milliken wrote:

> Judge Otto Rosalsky told Morris Meers (a notary public who figured in the Patrick case) three weeks before the opinion of the Court of Appeals was handed down that it would be adverse to Patrick, and that Judge Gray would read the dissenting opinion. He told Meyers he got this information from the District Attorney's office; and at that time Judge Gray's son was Assistant District Attorney. I don't accuse Judge Gray of being bought or corrupted in this case, but I do believe he was influenced by some cause otherwise than the record of the case, as in the prevailing opinion he distorted the testimony and facts. If you do not believe this, ask Senator Hill. He can point out to you wherein it was done.

Chief Pleaders for Patrick.

William C. Church, foreman of the Grand Jury that indicted Patrick; Chancellor James R. Day of the Syracuse University, Representative Henry S. De Forest of Schenectady, ex-Senator Edgar Truman Brackett of Saratoga, and J. J. O'Neill of Syracuse, a law partner of ex-Gov. Horace White, who failed to act on an application for clemency in the Patrick case, were among the principal pleaders for Patrick with the Governors in office after Higgins.

Representative De Forest wrote that Grover Cleveland was convinced Patrick should have a new trial. A letter from Everett P. Wheeler, Chairman of the Committee of the American Bar Association on Reform in Legal Procedure, expressed the opinion that Patrick "has defeated the ends of justice by his trickery." That letter was written to Gov. White in December, 1910.

The letter from Mr. O'Neill, law partner of ex-Gov. White, written on Dec. 20, 1910, a few days before Mr. White retired from office, ran:

> I note in public prints that there is to be a hearing before you relative to the possibilities of pardon for Albert T. Patrick, a New York lawyer. It has occurred to me that it might be good politics for you to grant this pardon. It has attracted a widespread interest, and there is so little opposition to the pardon that it seems to me that it would be good politics to grant it. Of course, I am not familiar with the matter, except as I have gathered it from the newspapers, so I am not urging my opinion upon you basing it on any information which I have of the facts in the case.

In his long letter to Col. Scott Patrick told how his misfortunes had multiplied since his imprisonment. He said that when he "lay in the condemned dungeon" his father died. His wife's nervous system was breaking down. His daughter, just out of boarding school, after marrying in haste to repent at leisure, was getting a divorce in the West, and had "become infatuated with another stripling." His mother, who had surrendered all her possessions in his interest, was 77 and almost deaf, and in semiweekly letters expressed the hope that he soon might be free to comfort her in her declining years. His only aunt was near death.

Tribute to His Wife.

Of his wife, Patrick wrote:

> During all the twelve years which I have been in prison my wife has fought valiantly for me; given her entire life to my service. She visited me in the Tombs daily, and as often as the rules permitted came to the condemned dungeon for the almost five years that I languished there, and to the penal part of the prison for the nearly six years last past. History shows no record of sacrifice, loyalty, and devotion such as hers. She has been constantly engaged with my affairs, and her health has been shattered by her sacrifices and the continual alternation of hope and despair.
>
> Time and again things have come to light which in the ordinary course of events would have set any man at liberty against whom there was not a continuing conspiracy. But as hope has been dashed to earth time and again she has survived the shock and sought resolutely for a man who was unafraid and unpurchasable, and yet had the power to act. Thus the young years of her life have been passed, and thus her health has been shattered.
>
> Such was the state of my wife when, last Spring, some one with good intentions led her to believe and confidently expect that upon Gov. Dix's return from abroad he would forthwith set me at liberty, and straightway all her plans and hopes were built upon that happy event, the dream of her life. I would give her the care and attention, she thought, which in her constant thoughtlessness of herself in behalf of myself and others, she so much needed. I would take her now to see her only child, (by her first husband,) who, as a boy, had sought his fortunes in the West, and whom she had never seen these fifteen years or more, nor his wife and their daughter—her grandchild.

Mrs. Patrick's Health Wanes.

> At last the Governor returned, but there was no happy consummation of her hopes and plans; only excuses and postponements have been brought to her, until she is filled with the dread of the old-time and oft-repeated failure. She came to me the other day so wan, so pale, so exhausted, and said the doctors had warned her against nervous strain; had told her that in her aenemic condition her heart might not stand the stress, and counseled her to keep quiet and avoid excitement.
>
> "And this," she said, pitifully and despairingly, "I cannot do until you are free; it is only delay or disappointment that may kill me."
>
> While we sneer so scornfully at the "new woman," ought we not to give due appreciation to those whose old-fashioned qualities we so affect to admire? Are loyalty and self-sacrifice no longer virtues? I am sure the Governor will not think so.

After referring to the suffering of his brother-in-law, sister, daughter, aunt, and mother, and to his father's death, Patrick wrote:

> It will be seen from all this how much depends upon me and that the blow at me has struck beyond me and fallen on those for whom it was never intended. When I think of this factor, it always renews my determination to never, never, injure any one, for every blow is a shot fired at random.
>
> But there are tactical reasons why there should be no further delay. In the two months last past, my adversaries have conducted an active though covert newspaper campaign against me. They are growing bolder and bolder all the time, as they meet with no opposition, and are not met by counter attacks, and the newspapers are becoming more disposed to print their copy as it is furnished to them. All this is making it harder for the Governor to act and harder for his act to be received without attack, and creates a sentiment that increases my difficulties to obtain a hearing when I am liberated.
>
> A premature publication may be made at any time of the fact that the Governor has my matter under consideration and thus lead my enemies to bring influences to bear upon him which it would embarrass him to reject. Death or other untoward contingency may intervene and prevent or destroy the value in full of the proposed action.
>
> "If 'twere done, 'twere well 'twere done quickly."
>
> My enemies would attempt no reprisals on the Governor for something he has already done. They are practical men, and do not waste their time on dead issues. They fight the battle that is ahead and not the one that is past.

Sees Ultimate Good.

> I do not harbor thought of retaliation against any individual, nor do I repine at fate, for I believe there is no evil save supineness in thought or action; that everything, including our consciousness, is a part of a process leading to an ultimate good. If out of the richness of my experience I can emerge whole-souled, with workable plans for the betterment of the race and energy to put them into execution, I shall feel that I have fulfilled my destiny. It is this idea which has dominated me from the beginning and kept me keen-minded and open-eyed to do my duty.

Although Patrick contended he sought justice, not mercy—an opportunity for vindication, and not a pardon, which implied guilt—a letter from Mr. Milliken, found among the Patrick documents, lent color to the assertion by Everett P. Wheeler that Patrick, when he averred after Gov. Higgins commuted his sentence, that he never had applied either for limited commutation or a pardon was shamming. The Milliken letter was addressed to Dean Huffcut on Dec. 24, 1906, after the sentence was commuted. In part it read:

> My wife and her sister went down to see their brother, but found it impossible to get him to sign anything but application for a full pardon. He has been in confinement so long that his mind is almost in the same condition as that of a child. My wife saw that the last time she saw him, and she thought best to humor him and let him make his application for pardon instead of a commutation to life imprisonment, as she very wisely concluded that we could better vindicate him alive than dead.

Chancellor Day, in his letter to Gov. White asking clemency for Patrick, wrote that he had reached the conclusion Patrick was not justly convicted, and that the lawyer had acted like an innocent man during his stay in prison.

Mr. Church's letter to Gov. Dix ran:

> I was much dissatisfied at the time with the manner in which the indictment was obtained, and I have since become thoroughly convinced that there was no murder in his case, so that Patrick must of necessity have been improperly convicted. There is the most positive medical evidence obtainable, if you wish to avail yourself of it, to show that Patrick is a man who should never have been convicted, and that it is your duty to promptly exercise the authority you possess to relieve from further punishment one innocent of the crime charged.

Representative De Forest, another of those pleading for Patrick, said Judge Denis O'Brien of the Court of Appeals, now dead, who wrote a dissenting opinion in Patrick's favor, told Charles S. Palmer, a Schenectady lawyer, he was thoroughly satisfied of Patrick's innocence, "but that some members of the court dare not, for political effect, render a decision in favor of the accused by granting him a new trial."

Gov. White wrote that he had "serious doubts as to the justice of the conviction." The application was received too late in his term to permit of his taking it under consideration.

GRAFT COMMISSION BEGINS WORK TO-DAY

Governor Completes It by Naming H. Gordon Lynn as Third Member.

HAS VERY LARGE AUTHORITY

Inquiry May Extend to "All Departments, Boards, Bureaus or Commissions."

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—Gov. Sulzer to-night announced the appointment of H. Gordon Lynn of the Department of Commissioners of Accounts of New York City, as the third member of the investigating commission which is to inquire into all State Departments with a view of rooting out graft, checking waste, and reducing the expenses of the State Government. Mr. Lynn, with the other Commissioners, John N. Carlisle of Watertown, and John H. Delaney of Brooklyn, will begin their investigation to-morrow morning.

At the request of the Governor Attorney General Carmody has assigned John T. Norton, one of his deputies, as counsel to the commission. A bill was introduced to-night appropriating $50,000 to meet the expenses of the investigation.

Gov. Sulzer conferred with the members of the commission to-night and turned over to them charges and statements concerning various departments, but he refused to state the nature of the communications. He said the commission would have the co-operation of the State Controller, the Commissioner of Accounts of New York City, and the Bureau of Municipal Research.

"I expect them to make good, and if they don't I will know the reason why," the Governor said.

He says the authority of the commission of inquiry is as broad as the statute will permit. The certificate of appointment states that Messrs. Carlisle, Delaney, and Lynn are appointed under Section 8 of the executive law "to examine and investigate the management and affairs of any and all departments, boards, bureaus, or commissions of the State." The Governor holds that this embraces the departments presided over by elected State officials, as well as those under appointees of the Governor. In this contention he is upheld by Attorney General Carmody.

Many of those experienced in State affairs express the belief that the Governor's graft investigation cannot be as thorough as he says it is intended to be if the commission is to complete its work in from thirty to sixty days, as the Governor desires. They believe it would take at least a year to go over all departments thoroughly. There are scores of departments and bureaus involving thousands of men. It is held that only a superficial inquiry can be made in the time alloted, if all are to be considered, and that money expended on the investigation will virtually be wasted. Those who strongly criticise haste say that the Governor, in order to carry out his plan of cutting down expense and putting an end to graft, should confine his investigation during the present session of the Legislature to two or three of the most importatn departments.

On the result of the investigation, the Governor will base his recommendations for a reorganization of the State Highway Department and possibly the Public Service Commissions.

Under the direction of the Governor, Superintendent Bowe of the Department of Public Buildings, has set aside the hearing room of the Public Service Commission of the Second District for the investigating commission's sessions. This is a large room on the second floor of the capitol, adjoining the rooms of the Secretary of State.

Mr. Lynn, who was named as one of the commissioners to-day, has been an investigator and accountant in the New York City departments for fourteen years. Among the investigations in which he has participated were those of the Fire Department, of the handling of money by clerks of Municipal Courts, of the affairs of the Borough of the Bronx, (which resulted in the removal of the Borough President,) and of the Borough of Brooklyn in 1908. He has received leave of absence to assist in the State investigation.

Mr. Norton is an active Democratic partisan of Rensselaer County, and is a friend of Joseph J. Murphy, the Democratic leader of that county. He has been Corporation Counsel of the city of Troy, and was mentioned as a candidate for one of the Court of Appeals nominations at the last Democratic State Convention in Syracuse. Mr. Norton has never been connected with investigations. He holds the post of Deputy Attorney General in connection with the State Conservation Commission, to handle cases involving trespass on State lands.

In the Assembly to-night, Mr. Hinman, the Republican leader, introduced a resolution to extend the Governor's investigation of departments to the Legislature. He declared that any Legislative move in favor of reform should begin at home, and that the movement for the intiative and referendum and the curtailment of sessions arose from a popular distrust of the Legislature.

The majority leader asked how long Mr. Hinman desired to go back in his investigation of the affairs of the Legislature.

"You can go the limit so far as I am concerned," was the answer.

NEW HIGHWAY BOARD URGED.

Bensel and Reel Recommend Change of Commission Control.

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—John A. Bensel, State Engineer, in his annual report presented to the Legislature to-night, favored a change in the State Highway Commission, of which he is a member.

"The commission was constituted," he said, "to be composed of the Superintendent of Highways, appointed by the Governor; the Superintendent of Public Works, also appointed by the Governor, and the State Engineer, an elective official. Two members are in an advisory capacity, and in one member, the Superintendent of Highways, is vested practically the entire control. It is my opinion the method of organization should be changed and the Highway Commission put in control of the work as a commission, or that it be placed under a single head. So much work is put on the State Engineer that it is not possible for him to attend to the work required in the Department of Highways."

With the increase of motor traffic, more substantial types of road construction must be employed, with a corresponding increase in cost, according to the annual report of C. Gordon Reel, State Superintendent of Highways, which was submitted to the Legislature to-night. It was pointed out that "roads built by the present department have cost on an average less than $800 a mile more than those built by the previous commission, although the standard thickness of macadam roads has been increased from six to nine inches."

Mr. Reel reported 80,000 miles of public roads in the State. He said 3,578 miles of State and county highways were improved; 1,627 miles were under contract, and 6,781 miles were planned, but not under contract. Of the town highways, 8,514 miles had been macadamized, 8,500 miles were improved as gravel roads, 50,000 miles were shaped, crowned, and standardized as to width, and 6,000 were put in safe condition. All the original $50,000,000 bond issue had been appropriated, he reported, although on Dec. 1 a balance of $20,810,621 remained unexpended. The Superintendent's recommendations included reorganization of the commission with undivided responsibility; a new system of extended State aid for a degree of improvement between the present town highway and the county highway, and participation by the State, county, and town in construction of bridges.

NAMES SCHWAB AND ROONEY.

Sulzer Nominates One as Tax Commissioner, Other for Claims Board.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—Gov. Sulzer nominated to-night Joseph S. Schwab of New York as a State Tax Commissioner, to succeed Benjamin E. Hall of New York, whose term has expired, and John Jerome Rooney of New York, a member of the State Board of Claims, in place of Robert L. Luce, who was appointed Judge of the Court of Special Sessions of New York.

Mr. Schwab is a native of Louisiana. His father, Nathan Schwab, was Sheriff of New Orleans and a member of the Constitutional Convention held in Louisiana just after the reconstruction period. Joseph S. Schwab moved to Chicago, where he practiced law and served as a member of the Illinois Legislature. He was also a member of the Chicago Board of Education. He moved to New York in 1901 and formed the Schwab Realty Company, of which he is President and attorney. He has given considerable attention to taxation reform.

Mr. Rooney is a native of Binghamton. He is a lawyer, his practice being chiefly commercial and customs revenue law. He has never before held office.

The Senate Finance Committee voted to-night to report favorably the nominations of Messrs. Schwab and Rooney and of Herman W. Hoefler as State Architect and Jacob Neu, Dr. Myer Wolff, and James S. Lavery as Civil Service Commissioners.

NEW STATE REVENUE WANTED BY SOHMER

Controller Says Other Sources Must Be Provided to Keep Down Direct Tax.

BIG INCREASE IN EXPENSES

Receipts Exceed Outlay for First Time in Years, but That Condition Is Only Temporary.

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—Although Gov. Sulzer has announced a determination to reduce the expenses of the State Government so as to eliminate the direct tax, if possible, William Sohmer, State Controller, in his annual report to the Legislature to-night, said, "The State must look for new sources of revenue if it is to continue the policy of the past few years of meeting its expenditures without increasing its direct tax therefor." The Controller stated that the net receipts for the year ended Sept. 30 last were $50,337,233.89, of which $6,326,823.13 was received from direct tax. The net expenditures for the same period were $44,702,429.40, of which $4,157,098.14 was expended for interest and contributions to sinking funds.

"For the first time in several years," he added, "the receipts have exceeded the expenditures. The receipts from indirect sources exceeded the expenditures for support of the Government by almost $4,000,000. Constantly increasing demands make it improbable revenues collected by indirect taxation under present laws will exceed the expenditures for any extended time."

Mr. Sohmer pointed out that in the last ten years the population had increased approximately 25 per cent. and the expenses of certain departments had grown almost 500 per cent. He said those increased expenditures were the result of new and vast undertakings along new lines, and he suggested:

"It may be desirable for the Legislature to subrogate the demands of localities to the ever-increasing demands for appropriations from which the people of the State at large derive a benefit."

Mr. Sohmer's recommendations for changes in laws to increase the efficiency of bureaus under his supervision included:

> A new auditing department, to examine and audit all State accounts.
>
> Uniform control of the fiscal affairs of third-class cities.
>
> Creation in each county outside of New York City of the office of County Controller, to be elected by the people.
>
> Giving the Attorney General power to institute proceedings to compel the restoration of moneys illegally expended by local authorities, the expense of such proceedings to be a charge on the municipality.
>
> Requiring private detective agencies to maintain registers of their employes.
>
> Additional examiners of municipal accounts.
>
> Giving the State Controller additional power over private bankers, including the right of liquidation.
>
> Exemption from taxation of a bequest to any corporation, or else defining the status of corporations intended to be exempt from Section 221 of the tax law.
>
> Additional appropriations for the New York County Bureau of the Controller's office, to obviate delays in appraisal of estates.

ANOTHER JUDGE OF APPEALS.

Heavy Calendars Call for Designation of Tenth Justice by Gov. Sulzer.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—Gov. Sulzer announced to-day that, at the request of Chief Judge Cullen, he will designate another Justice of the Supreme Court as an aditional member of the Court of Appeals. Judges Chase and Hiscock are now serving under a similar designation, and the extra Judge will make the tenth member of the highest court.

The law provides that when the calendars of the Court of Appeals warrants it the Governor may appoint no more than three Supreme Court Justices to service until the number of appeals before the court is reduced to the minimum. Heretofore only two additional Judges were considered necessary.

Gov. Sulzer will give a dinner at the Executive Mansion on Thursday, Jan. 16, for the members of the Court of Appeals and prominent members of the bench and bar of the State.

ROOSEVELT FORWARDS $10.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 6.—State Senator Dow Dunning, author of the plan to collect penny contributions to pay the fines of R. S. Sheridan, C. O. Broxon, and A. R. Cruzen, now confined in the Ada County jail for contempt of the Supreme Court in criticising the dicision barring the Progressive candidates for Presidential Electors from the ballot, received $10 from Col. Theodore Roosevelt to-day.

The remittance represented contributions from 1,000 residents of Oyster Bay and other Long Island towns.

AMERICAN FASHIONS FOR AMERICAN WOMEN

NEXT FRIDAY

That is the Last Day on Which Designs May Be Entered in The New York Times Contest in American-Designed Hats and Dresses

There is Yet Time to Prepare a Design, but No Time to Waste.

Those Intending to Enter Should Observe the Following Conditions:

THE PRIZES:

For a Spring Hat of Original Design
$100 as a First Prize.
$50 as a Second Prize.
$25 as a Third Prize.

For a Spring Dress of Original American Design Intended for Afternoon Wear
$100 as a First Prize.
$50 as a Second Prize.
$25 as a Third Prize.

For an Evening Gown of Original American Design
$100 as a First Prize.
$50 as a Second Prize.
$25 as a Third Prize.

The designs submitted will be carefully and confidentially judged, and with absolute impartiality, by a special jury of six judges representing authoritative knowledge of good dressing.

COMMITTEE OF AWARD

MR. EDWARD BOK, Editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, who will act as Chairman of this Board.

MRS. JOHN W. ALEXANDER, wife of the distinguished painter and President of the National Academy of Design. Mrs. Alexander has made a special study of feminine costume and has designed a number for Miss Maude Adams in her special productions.

MISS ANNIE RUSSELL, the distinguished actress, who is generally accepted as one of the most carefully dressed women of the American stage.

MRS. ELEANOR HOYT BRAINARD, a recognized authority on good dressing, whose writings on the subject have been well known for fifteen years.

MISS ABBY E. UNDERWOOD, for twenty years a distinguished illustrator of fashions and an authority on good dressing.

MR. GROSVENOR K. GLENN, editor of The Illustrated Milliner, one of the recognized authorities in the wholesale and retail millinery trade.

CONDITIONS

WHO MAY ENTER: Any person living in the United States. This includes those engaged in the designing or the business of millinery or dressmaking. There is no entrance fee.

COMPETITORS FOR THE PRIZES must submit colored drawings of their designs, each with not more than a hundred words of description on the back of each design. This descriptive matter should specify materials and shades, but small samples of both materials and shades may be pinned to the design if desired. Any drawing will be accepted in competition, provided that it may be readily understandable by the judges. Only one design may be entered by any one designer in any one class. Each design must be inclosed separately in an envelope plainly marked "For the American Hat Prizes," or "For the American Afternoon Dress Prizes," or "For the American Evening Gown Prizes."

THE REQUIREMENTS: It is the general consensus of opinion among dress authorities that there are two basic principles of good dressing—beauty of line and harmony of color. This naturally means simplicity. This point of beauty with simplicity will be the determining factor in awarding all prizes.

THE DESIGNS must be original and suited to the Spring Season of 1913. The fullest scope is allowed as to the character of the design of hat or dress so long as the requirements outlined in the previous paragraphs are recognized. The materials and colors to be worn this Spring should be followed. The designs should be suitable for a woman from 25 to 50 years of age, as the designer may select. The proportions of the model are left to the discretion of the designer.

ALL ENTRIES MUST BE RECEIVED BY JANUARY 10th, 1913, either delivered or sent by mail, prepaid, to the Fashion Editor, The Times, New York. Sufficient postage for return must be inclosed. The designer's name and address must be inclosed in a sealed plain envelope, securely attached to the design. No name or address must appear on the design itself. The envelopes attached to the prize winners will be opened by the judges after the prizes are awarded. No other envelope will be opened by the judges and no contestants other than prize winners will be known or published. Envelopes attached to contesting designs which do not receive awards will be opened confidentially only for the purpose of discovering the address to which the design must be returned.

THE AWARDS will be announced as near to February 1st as is consistent with a careful examination.

THE PRIZE HATS AND DRESSES WILL BE PICTURED in a special section of The New York Times in its issue of Sunday, February 23d. They will be redrawn and carefully colored by artists who specialize in fashions, and will be published in their full colors by the four-color process and printed on fine paper. All designs will be returned to the designers. The New York Times reserves no rights in the designs themselves other than the right of their exclusive publication.

Address All Entries to FASHION EDITOR, The Times, Times Square, New York

GIMBELS

Today the January Disposal
Of All Our
FUR-LINED Coats
(Without Reserve or Exception)
At a Straight Reduction of 20 Per Cent.

As a preamble, these definite facts—

(1) All Gimbel Fur Coats are selected by experts who know furs as well as tailoring. We guarantee the Furs—also that collars are made of whole skins and not pieced.

(2) Original Gimbel prices were moderate for Coats of highest quality obtainable anywhere. At the saving of 20 per cent., or one-fifth, every Coat becomes an investment still more worth while.

(3) Nearly 300 Coats are in the collection—one of the finest in the country—and the original price-tags are left undisturbed so that you can prove our mathematics for yourself. Not a Coat escapes the price-reduction.

With these facts in mind, the man who has any intention of treating himself to a Fur or Fur-lined Coat, cannot well afford to miss the opportunity offered; especially in view of the constant upward tendency in price on Fur Coats of quality.

Here are some specimen prices:

	Was	Now
A fine natural Mink-lined Coat, with otter collar	$485	$385
Natural Mink-lined Coat, with extra quality Persian lamb collar	$465	$372
Finest natural Muskrat-lined Coat, with Persian lamb collar and facing	$235	$185
Natural Muskrat-lined Coat, with natural otter collar	$125	$100
Natural Muskrat-lined Coat, with French seal collar and facing	$125	$100
Marmot-lined, with Persian lamb collar	$95	$76
Natural Black Muskrat lining, with fine otter collar	$175	$140
Sable-dyed Muskrat, French seal collar	$135	$108
Natural Muskrat lining, with Persian lamb collar	$85	$68
Genuine Beaver Fur Coat, superb quality	$350	$280
Natural Muskrat lining, Persian lamb collar	$65	$52
Fine Mink-dyed Marmot, with French seal collar and facing	$165	$132
Mink-dyed Marmot, with otter collar	$115	$92
Civet Cat lining, with Persiam lamb collar	$200	$160
Chauffeurs' Fur Coats	$25	$20

In many instances there is but one coat of a size or style, so that early selection is advised. Fourth Floor

3000 More of These Splendid
$2 Fancy Shirts at $1.25

We secured 6800 of these excellent Shirts at a specially low price from the maker, on the score of our vastly greater regular business with him.

The first shipment was offered in the Men's Sale last week; and proved the star number on the program. Hardly a Shirt remained.

Today the second half is ready—for the men who were not in time for the first. As worthy Shirts as a $2 bill ever bought.

Fine Scotch woven striped madras and domestic madras, with woven or printed stripes; many quiet, but stylish patterns.

Plain or plaited bosoms, coat cut, attached cuffs.

Sizes, 14 to 17, with various sleeve-lengths in every size.

LEGISLATIVE PLUMS SEIZED BY TAMMANY

All the Choice Assembly Committees Grabbed Except Excise—Jackson of Erie Gets That.

GLYNN HAS WAY IN SENATE

Forces Through Murtaugh of Elmira to Head Judiciary Committee—Levy Leads Lower House.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—When the Senate and Assembly met to-night the assignment of members of the two houses on the standing committees were announced. It was found then that the up-State Democrats must content themselves with a few crumbs from the Tammany table.

In the Assembly the chairmanship of almost every committee considered "a good thing" because of the legislation to come before it was given to a Tammany man. There was one exception, the chairmanship of the Excise Committee, which carried large possibilities and was scrambled for eagerly by the faithful of the inner circle, went to Edward D. Jackson of Erie. That concession to the up-State element was to placate Mr. Jackson and to reward him for getting out of the way and permitting Aaron J. Levy, one of Tammany's pets, to be made majority leader of the lower house. It was a virtual sidetracking of "Marty" McCue, a New York saloonkeeper, who had his eyes on the place and felt sure he would land it.

In the Senate, Tammany fared not quite so well, owing to the firm stand by Lieut. Gov. Martin H. Glynn, who insisted that Senator John F. Murtaugh of Elmira should be Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and not Stephen J. Stilwell, Tammany's man from the Bronx, who had been picked for that important place. The Lieutenant Governor handed down the committee assignments, including that of Senator Murtaugh, at the opening of the session to-night, and the Tammany element did not make any fight.

"It was an honest difference of opinion which has been greatly exaggerated by the newspapers," said Senator Robert F. Wagner, Temporary President of the Senate in to-night's session.

The necessity of handing over the Assembly Excise Committee to Mr. Jackson of Buffalo led to the appointment of "Marty" McCue as Chairman of the Railroad Committee. Bankers who come to Albany in this session to apear before the Assembly Committee on Banks will do so under the expert auspices of Harry Heyman, a Brooklyn butcher.

Two Conservation Committees.

A new working committee in each House is to be known as the Conservation Committee. It consolidates the old Forestry and the Fish and Game Committees.

The Progressive member of the Senate, Mr. Sillane, fares well in the committees, having been named on Cities, Labor, Insurance, Conservation and Agriculture.

The members of the more important Senate Committees follow:

Rules—Wagner of New York, Chairman; Cullen of Kings, Ramsperger of Erie, Sullivan of New York, Brown of Jefferson.

Finance—Frawley of New York, Chairman; Ramsperger of Erie, Pollock of New York, Murtaugh of Chemung, Cullen of Kings, White of Schenectady, Sullivan and McClelland of New York, Whitney of Saratoga, Heacock of Herkimer, Emerson of Warren.

Judiciary—Murtaugh of Chemung, Chairman; Stilwell of the Bronx, McClellan, Pollock, and Torberg of Kings; Blauvelt of Rockland, Foley of New York, Velte of Kings, Coates of Franklin, Thomas of Madison, Walters of Onondaga, Bussey of Wyoming.

Cities—Cullen of Kings, Chairman; Frawley of New York, Ramsperger of Erie, Foley of New York, Stilwell of the Bronx, Fitzgerald of New York, Sanner of Kings, White of Schenectady, Malone of Erie, Carroll of Kings, Sage of Albany, Stivers of Orange, Argetsinger of Monroe, Thompson of Niagara, Sallant of New York.

Labor and Industry—Griffin of the Bronx, Chairman; Fitzgerald of New York, Wende of Erie, Carswell of Kings, Wagner of New York, Wilson of Ontario, Coates of Franklin, Sallant of New York.

Railroads—Foley of New York, Chairman; Healy of Westchester, Duhamel of Kinggs, Sullivan of New York, Roosevelt of Dutchess, Malone of Erie, Carroll of Kings, McKnight of Rensselaer, O'Keefe of Nassau, Hewitt of Cayuga, Ormrod of Monroe.

Insurance—Ramsperger of Erie, Chairman; Blauvelt of Rockland, Foley and Boylan of New York, Duhamel and Velte of Kings, Fitzgerald and Herrick of New York, Ormrod of Monroe, Godfrey of Cattaraugus, Sallant of New York.

Codes—Stilwell of the Bronx, Chairman; Griffin of the Bronx, Torberg and Carswell of Kings, Herrick of New York, Wende of Erie, Roosevelt of Dutchess, Coates of Franklin, Thompson of Niagara.

Other Senate Chairmen.

The Chairmen of the other Senate Committees are:

Taxation and Retrenchment—McClellan of New York.
Internal Affairs—White of Schenectady.
Commerce and Navigation—Carroll of Kings.
Miscellaneous Corporations—Sullivan of New York.
Public Health—Seeley of Steuben.
Public Education—Blauvelt.
Military Affairs—Herrick of New York.
Agriculture—Roosevelt of Dutchess.
Banks—Pollock of New York.
Privileges and Elections—Duhamel of Kings.
Affairs of Villages—Wheeler of Delaware.
Canals—Malone of Erie.
Public Printing—Heffernan of Kings.
Revision—Wende of Erie.
Printed and Engrossed Bills—McKnight of Rensselaer.
Penal Institutions—Healy of Westchester.
Conservation—Sanner of Kings.

There was much strife about the Chairman of the Excise Committee in the Assembly. Mr. McCue, who was the ranking member on the committee, made efforts to get the coveted position, but Mr. Jackson, who was a rival of Mr. Levy for majority leader, made a claim on Speaker Smith, who gave way to the Erie member. The Assembly committees follow:

Rules—Smith, A. E., of New York, Chairman; Levy of New York, Bush of Chemung, Jackson of Erie, McKeon of Kings, Hinman of Albany, Yale of Putnam.

Ways and Means—Bush of Chemung, Chairman; Levy of New York, Gurnett of Schuyler, Patrie of Greene, McDaniels of Tompkins, Evans of Sullivan, Rozan of Erie, Kelly, J. A., of Dutchess; Robinson of Suffolk, Pulman of Herkimer, Seeley of Steuben, Yale of Putnam, Adler of Monroe, MacDonald of Franklin, Shepardson of Chenango.

Judiciary—Goldberg of New York, Chairman; McElligott, Weil, Cuvillier, Greenberg, Donohue, and Schaap of New York; Gibbs of the Bronx, O'Connor of Kings, O'Brien of Westchester, Phillips of Monroe, Sullivan of Chautauqua, Vert of Clinton.

General Laws—McElligott of New York, Chairman; Yard of Westchester, Silverstein of New York, Geyer of Erie, Elsner of New York, Grimme of Rockland, Hammer of the Bronx, Lewis of New York, McCollum of Niagara, Prime of Essex, Smith, J. A., of St. Lawrence; Wood of Fulton-Hamilton, Jude of Chautauqua.

Codes—McGrath of New York, Chairman; Schwarz of Rensselaer, Greenberg of New York, Dox of Schoharie, Carroll of New York, Deitz and Hamilton of Kings, Kelly, Joseph D., and Cotillo of New York, Pembleton of Tioga, Richardson of Allegany, Knight of Wyoming, and Sufrin of New York.

Butcher Heads Banks Committee.

Banks.—Heyman of Kings, Chairman; Rozan of Erie, Taylor, T. D., of Rensselaer, Willard of Cattaraugus, Taylor, F. J., of Kings, Knott of New York, Gothright of Ulster, Maloney of Nassau, Ulrich of Kings, Hammer of the Bronx, Richardson of Allegany, Norton of Washington, and Seelye of Saratoga.

Excise.—Jackson of Erie, Chairman; McCue of New York, McKeon of Kings, Walker of New York, Schifferdecker of Kings, Oxford of New York, Kiernan of New York, Burden of Queens, Denney of New York, Emden of Oneida, Smith, Myron, of Dutchess, Pappert of Monroe, and Malone of Albany.

The Chairmen of other committees follow:

Internal Affairs—Evans of Sullivan.
Taxation and Retrenchments—Weil of New York.
Public Education—McKee of Richmond.
Agriculture—Cole of Ontario.
Public Health—McDaniels of Tompkins.
Villages—Butts of Otsego.
Canals—Hearn of Erie.
Labor and Industries—Patrie of Greene.
Revision—Schwartz of Rensselaer.
Conservation—Curnett of Schuyler.
Commerce and Navigation—Farrell of Kings.
Charitable and Religious Societies—Wilmott of Kings.
Penal Institutions—Madden of Westchester.
Military Affairs—Cuvillier of New York.
Public Printing—Garvey of Kings.
Public Institutions—Gallup of Monroe.
Claims—Kerrigan of New York.
Soldiers' Home—Brewster of Steuben.
Privileges and Elections—Kennedy of Queens.
Printed and Engrossed Bills—Doty of Orange.

The Senate and Assembly held only brief sessions to-night. Gov. Sulzer sent to both houses a copy of the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution for the direct election of United States Senators, expressing the hope that it would be passed without delay. Senator Wagner introduced a resolution for the adoption of the amendment last Wednesday, and it was referred to the Judiciary Committee. The Governor's message was referred to the same body.

Woman's Suffrage Bill.

In the Assembly, Minority Leader Hinman of Albany introduced a concurrent resolution providing for a Constitutional amendment to give the ballot to women. The resolution provided for the naturalization of foreign-born women in the same manner that men are naturalized before becoming voters.

The Progressives found an ally in Mr. Hinman, who presented an amendment to the rules of the lower house providing for the abolition of the executive meetings of standing committees, and also that the record of votes on bills in the committees must be spread on the Assembly journal. The Progressives have urged those amendments among many others to insure publicity regarding the action of committees in deciding whether bills should be reported or not, action which at present is taken behind closed doors.

The Public Service Commissions were the targets of two bills introduced this evening. One of the bills, offered by Senator Healy of Westchester County, would wipe out the existing commissions and substitute one commission of seven members. The salary of each member was fixed in this bill at $15,000 a year. The other bill was a measure by Senator Brown providing that not more than three members of each commission should be of one political party.

Another bill introduced was Senator Fitzgerald's giving a salary of $2,000 to each of the State Boxing Commissioners and $6,000 for expenses. Senator Brown and Assemblyman Hinman offered resolutions providing for a referendum vote next Fall on the question of holding a Constitutional Convention.

Assemblyman Sullivan introduced a bill providing for the licensing of commission merchants.

WILSON NOW LISTENS AND TELLS NOTHING

WAR OVER A STATE OFFICE

He Won't Have State Controller Edwards for State Treasurer Because He's a Banker.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6.—Gov. Wilson's original method of holding political conferences is already beginning to give sore distress to some of his conferrees. When they are invited here they usually assume that they are going to get some information about the particular appointments or policies on which their hearts are set. Instead he merely asks their opinion of men and measures, and they go away no wiser than they came. When, instead of being invited, they request and are granted an interview, they usually come to urge some appointment or some policy, and expect to get some indication of how their pleas are likely to result. Instead, they, too, go away no wiser than they come.

Two of those who visited the Governor to-day were Representatives A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania and Albert S. Burleson of Texas. They were two of his campaign managers in the Presidential contest, and Palmer was his floor manager at the Baltimore Convention. Both have been spoken of as likely to be in the Cabinet. When they were invited to visit him at Trenton they undoubtedly expected to learn something about what was likely to happen in the Wilson Administration. Like all their predecessors at Trenton, they went away no wiser than they came.

"Tell you what I know?" repeated Mr. Palmer when the reporters saw him after his interview with the Governor. "I am reminded of what a prominent statesman in Washington said after an interview with Gov. Wilson. He said, 'If I were to tell the reporters everything I know—everything, mind you, and nothing held back—they would set me down as an ignoramus.'"

Gov. Wilson said he talked with Palmer and Burleson about the work of the coming special session of Congress, particularly about tariff legislation, and the Cabinet was not mentioned.

While Burleson and Palmer were with the Governor, Senator Johnson and Representative McGillicuddy, both of Maine, came in. They, too, came by appointment and in answer to a letter from Gov. Wilson. McGillicuddy, like Burleson and Palmer, was among the managers of Wilson's campaign. The two are the leaders of the Democratic Party in Maine. It was assumed, in view of the boom for Senator Obadiah Gardner of Maine for Secretary of Agriculture, that they had come to urge his fitness, but they both made it clear that their visit was made on the Governor's initiative, and all the Governor would say about it was that they had come in response to a request of his for "certain information about matters of interest in Maine."

Gardner's term in the Senate expires on March 4, and he will be succeeded by a Republican, ex-Gov. Budleigh. He is a farmer and was formerly President of the State Grange, and his appointment as Secretary of Agriculture, it is supposed, would please the farmers. Neither Johnson nor McGillicuddy would tell the subject of their conversation. When asked what it was, Johnson humorously replied: "Crops."

It was suggested that whether the conversation was about crops or not, it was most likely about agriculture, but this failed to draw him. When Gov. Wilson, later on, was asked the same question, he smiled, and said:

"I understand that Senator Johnson and I talked about crops." This statement being greeted with polite skepticism, he went on:

"It's like the story they tell about Daniel Webster's boyhood. His father heard a scuffle in the attic, between Daniel and his brother, and called up the stairs: 'Zeeke, what are you doing?' 'Nothing, dad,' said Zeeke. 'Well, Dan, what are you doing?' demanded the old man. 'Helping Zeeke,' was the answer."

On the train coming over from Princeton this morning Gov. Wilson had for a neighbor an old gentleman who had a book on his lap that gave him a good deal of trouble. Every few minutes, as he got interested in the conversation, the book would spring off his lap and land on the floor, and the old gentleman would recapture it. The third or fourth time this happened the Governor remarked: "That seems to be a very live book. I must read it."

An autograph collector of Trenton left his book with Gov. Wilson to-day with a request that the Governor write some appropriate sentiment. When the Governor opened the book he was confronted with this on the first page:

> Those who cherish the same ideals and labor for a common cause are bound together by ties that are stronger than ties of blood.
> WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

The Governor closed the book thoughtfully. He still has it. To-night he is trying to think up a companion sentiment.

WILSON OPPOSES EDWARDS.

A Banker, He Says, Should Not Be Named as State Treasurer.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6.—From now until the Legislature elects a State Treasurer to succeed Daniel S. Voorhees, Republican, Gov. Wilson will use every legitimate means of bringing about the defeat of State Controller Edward I. Edwards, who is a candidate for the place. Gov. Wilson wants Chairman Edward E. Grosscup of the Democratic State Committee named.

"I am sincerely sorry that the matter should have been given the air of a contest," the Governor said to-day. "I entertain nothing but the warmest personal feeling toward Mr. Edwards, and am very much grieved to think that he misinterprets my position. I feel very strongly, indeed, that it is unwise and inexpedient that a banker should be elected to the post of Treasurer of the State, no matter what his personal integrity or his conscious and deliberate professional connections. I believe that the opinion of the State will sustain this judgment, and I sincerely hope that Mr. Grosscup will be chosen Treasurer of the State."

In order to win as many votes to Mr. Grosscup as possible the Governor has sent telegrams to all of the Democratic members of both Senate and Assembly inviting them to meet with him at the State House to-morrow to talk over the case. He will confer with them as individuals and go over the matter in details.

What warmth do they enjoy?

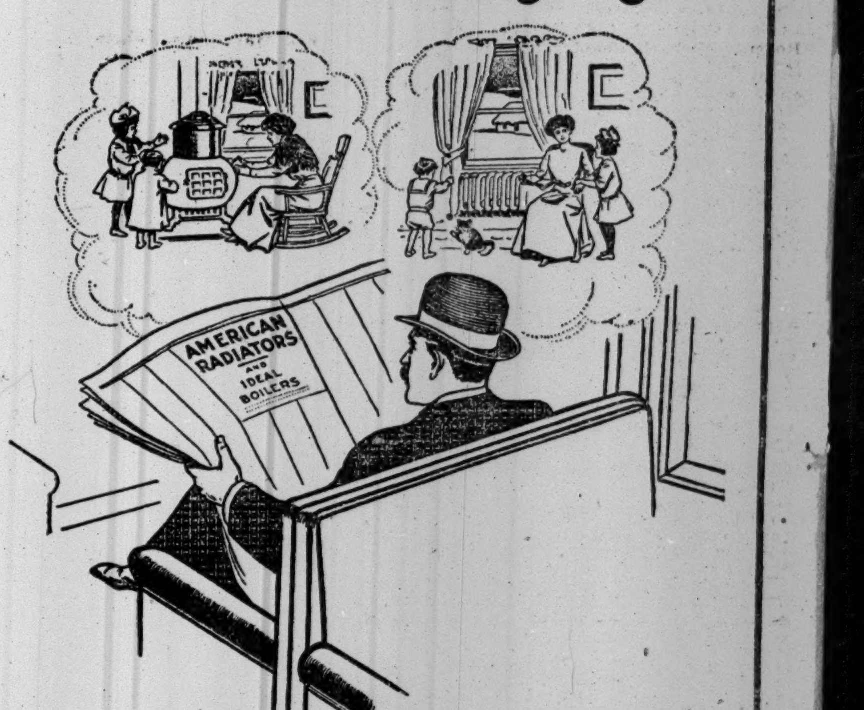
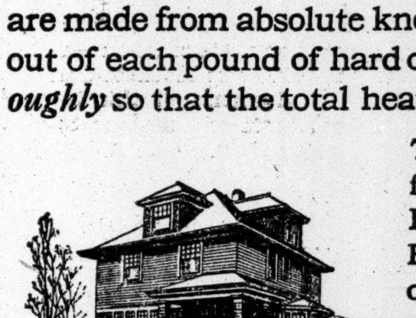
Do you find your business days frequently beset with worries for wife and little ones bundled up at home, enduring the discomforts and running the risks of chill, drafty rooms, and an ash-dust and coal-gas ladened atmosphere? Or is your mental peace insured by the certainty of their warmth and well-being in a home protected and comforted by



AMERICAN & IDEAL
RADIATORS BOILERS

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators guarantee even warmth in all rooms, low fuel bills, perfect heat regulation.

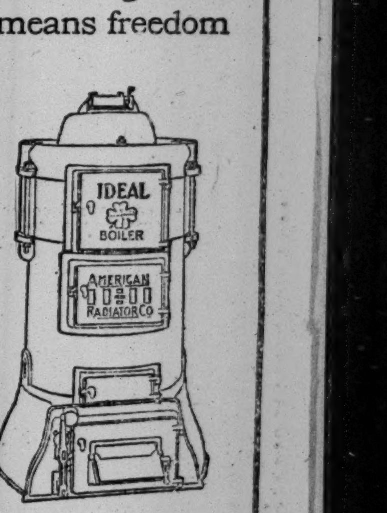
These outfits do away with the annual overhauling, repair bills and excessive room-cleaning work of old-fashioned heating, which burden home resources so heavily. Ideal heating means freedom for women and economy for men! IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are made from absolute knowledge of the utmost heat that can possibly be obtained out of each pound of hard or soft coal, coke, wood, etc., and just how to burn it thoroughly so that the total heat of which it is capable is distributed to the rooms above.



A No. 4121 IDEAL Boiler and 420 sq. ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $210, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

The heat-making ability and radiating efficiency of these outfits are calculated and planned by scientific men at our Testing Laboratories and factories in the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany, Italy and Austria—and thoroughly proved out by extensive use among all these peoples, and in other countries. You therefore buy a certainty in heating results, and at no greater price than asked for inferior apparatus. Accept no substitute.

If you are ready to surround the loved ones with this heating investment (soon repays original cost because of fuel, repair and labor savings), let us tell you the full why, how, and present attractive prices. Ask to-day for book (free): "Ideal Heating."



The fire in an IDEAL Boiler need not be rekindled in an entire heating season. One charging of coal easily lasts through the longest zero night. There can be no fuel waste.

We have also brought out the first genuinely practical, automatic, durable Vacuum Cleaner. ALL the dirt and trash is drawn from the rooms through small iron suction pipes leading to big, sealed dust-bucket in cellar. Attach hose to iron suction pipe opening in baseboard of any room, turn an electric button to start the machine in cellar, and with a few gentle strokes of the hollow, magical ARCO WAND, you instantly and thoroughly clean carpets, rugs, floor, walls, ceiling, draperies, moldings, mattresses, drawers, corners, crevices, etc. Put with ease into any old or new dwelling or building. Costs little monthly for electricity to run. Ask for catalog of ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner.

Sold by all dealers.

Plan $1,000,000 Food-Buying Organization to Get Their Supplies 50 Per Cent. Cheaper.

SILENT ON A CUT IN PRICES

Society of Restaurateurs Launched with 50 Members—Hotel Men's Body to Co-operate.

Not less than fifty of the leading restaurant and hotel proprietors of the city attended a convention yesterday afternoon at Louis Martin's, in Times Square, and banded themselves together into an organization to be known as the Society of Restaurateurs and characterized by a belligerent attitude toward the middleman.

When word was passed around among the restaurant and hotel men that such a meeting was to be held, many of them remarked a strange coincidence between the gathering at Louis Martin's and another gathering scheduled to take place in Bryant Hall last night. Some made the observation that both sides were "preparing for war."

But such was not the case, if the restaurant keepers took as final the explanation of Thomas Healy, owner of Healy's Restaurant, Columbus Avenue and Sixty-fifth Street, as to the purpose of the convention. Mr. Healy outlined to them his plan for what appeared to the restaurant men a far more ambitious struggle.

"For instance," said Mr. Healy, after he had been elected President of the Society of Restaurateurs, "we're paying the middleman too much, when it's plain to us all that we shouldn't be paying him a cent. Now, what are we going to do about it?

"I have a proposition. Let's form an incorporation of restaurant proprietors, each paying a share of, say, $5,000. With 200 members we can easily enroll we could start business with an invested capital of $1,000,000. As an incorporation we could purchase our own supplies at wholesale prices, sell them at a nominal profit, and thus allow each member of the corporation to realize a return from his investment. We can obtain prices 50 per cent. below those we are paying now."

Sees 1,000 in Organization.

The proposal of Mr. Healy was received with genuine enthusiasm by the restaurant proprietors, and one of them went so far as to declare that the President of the Society of Restaurateurs had been far too modest in his reckoning of the possible membership of the new organization, which he was convinced would ultimately embrace at least 1,000 restaurant owners. None would suggest, however, how the public would be affected.

Before adopting its constitution and bylaws the society elected these other officers: Louis Martin, First Vice President; Louis J. Rousselot, Second Vice President; Julius Keller, Third Vice President; Edward E. White, Secretary, and John J. Cavanagh, Treasurer. The Executive Committee is composed of R. M. Haan, Louis Fischer, Adolph Suskind, Morris Rogers, Michael Shanley, Joseph Guffanti, and Eugene Blanc. A. H. Meyer, William Henken, and Paul Henkel were appointed a Finance Committee. For the Membership Committee, A. Lorber, W. T. Cokendon, T. D. Green, John Murray, John Dunston, and Fred Reed were named.

At the beginning of the meeting the President set at rest whatever rumors were afloat regarding preparations by the restaurant men to offset a strike of the waiters. The society, he said, was not at present concerned with its help, but with the mutual relations of its members, looking toward a general betterment of conditions.

"So far our help has not given us the slightest trouble," said Mr. Healy, "and we have no reason for taking action in this direction this afternoon."

To Meet Hotel Men's Body.

F. M. Tierney of the Hotel Victoria, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the City Hotel Men's Association, then arose and informed the society that he was authorized to say that his association would work in harmony with them. Thereupon the Executive Committee of the new society was authorized to confer with the Executive Committee of the association in relation to several important matters, and it was further agreed that each member of the society would keep in touch with the Executive Committee.

Among those present were F. A. Reed, Park Avenue Hotel; T. M. Carrol, Hotel Hermitage; J. F. Shanley, Shanley's Forty-second Street; R. A. Gushee, Claremont; Louis Bustanoby, Café des Beaux Arts; A. G. Meyer, Pabst Harlem; John Murray, Murray's; Louis Fischer, Reisenweber's; August Luchow, Luchow's; James Churchill, Churchill's; Louis Mouquin, Mouqin's; E. E. Whyte, Whyte's Restarant; Felene & Dumar, Parisien; A. Lorber, Lorber's; M. Rogers, Rogers's; W. Taupier, Delmonico's; Arthur Laurent, Stock Exchange Club; Morton & Keiser, Folies Bergere; Walter Chandler, Hotel Martinique; George Rector, George Rector Restaurant; August Janssen, Hofbrau Haus; John Dunstan, Jack's, and Ignace Rosenfeld, Café Boulevard.

The next meeting will be held on Jan. 20.

FUSION IN TENNESSEE.

Elements Opposed to Regular Democrats Organize Legislature.

Special to The New York Times.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 6.—The capture of the Tennessee General Assembly by the Fusion forces to-day, after assistance had been rendered by the Shelby County delegation, while a foregone conclusion, was one of the strangest spectacles ever witnessed in Tennessee politics. The Shelby delegation hails from Memphis, the most wide-open town in the State. The delegation stood on a county platform pledged to repeal the temperance laws. By an alliance with the Prohibition independents and the Republican prohibitionists in the House, W. M. Stanton of Memphis was chosen Speaker of the lower branch. This action carried with it the election of Newton H. White, Fusionist, as Speaker of the Senate.

The amalgamation of the Hooper Republicans, pledged to more stringent temperance laws, and the Carmack independent Democrats, pledged in the same manner with the liberal Democrats from wide-open Memphis, gave the opposition to regular Democracy a strength of 57 to 37 in the House and 19 to 13 in the Senate, this representing the Speakership vote in each instance.

The deal carries with it the continued line-up for the Senatorial fight to come later, when Newell Sanders, Republican, will be continued, no doubt, as Senator for the short term, and an independent Democrat will be chosen for the long term to succeed Senator Sanders.

That independent will be either Chief Justice Shields, Attorney General C. T. Gates, or ex-Congressman B. A. Enloe, State Railroad Commissioner.

The mention in dispatches of the possible selection of Joseph E. Wilson, the President-elect's brother, is regarded here as a joke.

PULITZER APPRAISAL UP.

Hearing in Deputy Controller's Office on Alleged Undervaluation.

A hearing of the appraisal of the estate of Joseph Pulitzer was held yesterday before Appraiser Joseph I. Berry in the office of the Deputy State Controller. William B. Hornblower appeared for the estate. It is understood that Controller Sohmer contemplates making later hearings public.

A transfer tax report on the Pulitzer estate submitted on Dec. 9 was rejected by Surrogate Cohalan, who said that securities held by the estate "had been grossly undervalued, possibly to the extent of many millions of dollars. At that time the Surrogate admonished William Law Stout, the Controlluer's special counsel, to take steps to protect the State's interests in the new hearing.

The rejection of the first appraisal was based chiefly on the appraisal of Mr. Pulitzer's newspaper holdings. His 4,990 shares in the Press Publishing Company, which controlled the Morning, Evening, and Sunday World, were appraised at $3,016,455, and his interest in The St. Louis Post-Dispatch at $1,115,717. According to the decision of Surrogate Cohalan, the value of the estate's holdings, figured on a 10 per cent. basis of earning power, would, in the case of the rPess Publishing Company, and in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch would be upward of $4,000,000.

To Fix Harriman Estate Tax.

Special to The New York Times.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Jan. 6.—John W. Lyon, Tax Appraiser of Orange County, will hold a hearing in New York City on Friday in the tax appraisal of the estate of E. H. Harriman. The hearing will be held at 165 Broadway.

GATHER AT SHRINE OF JOAN OF ARC

A HISTORICAL EXHIBIT

Park Commissioner Stover Among Speakers at Ceremonies in Numismatic Society Building.

The large room on the main floor of the American Numismatic Society Building on the raised stone terrace just west of Broadway, looking out on 156th Street, had the appearance yesterday afternoon of a shrine covered with beautiful flowers, with Joan of Arc the saint whom the donors delighted to honor.

It was a shrine for the time being, and the gathering of men and women who crowded the not over-large room had the air of devotees, and they were opening a Joan of Arc exhibition which is the preliminary to the raising of a statue in New York to the Maid of Orleans.

The exhibition is under the auspices of the Joan of Arc Statue Committee, the Museum of French Art, French Institute in the United States, and the American Numismatic Society. It will remain open, free to the public, for a month, until the evening of Feb. 7, from 10 to 5 week days and from 1 to 5 on Sundays.

The Statue Committee will have more than $20,000 toward the erection of the monument after the expenses of the exhibition are paid. It hoped to raise the remainder of the amount required, $10,000, and have the matter closed inside another two months, President George F. Kunz of the Statue Committee, said. Two artists have already asked to be allowed to offer designs for the monument, one an Italian and the other a Russian.

"There is one thing only that the committee will insist upon in regard to the monument," said Dr. Kunz, "and that is that it be worthy of a great nation. France, of a great city, New York, and of a great woman. We are beginning to realize more and more that New York is the most wonderful city in the world and the monument must be an ornament to it. As long as it is what it should be we do not care who makes it, a Russian, an Italian, an American, or a Hottentot—a man, woman, or a child."

The money now on hand for the statue has been donated by several individuals whose names have so far not been given out. It is expected that the remainder of the money will be raised in the time specified. The exhibition which Dr. Kunz says is for self-education is made up of statues, paintings, medals, coins, etchings, engravings, photographs, manuscripts, play bill posters, postage stamps, books, porcelains, programmes of Joan of Arc ceremonies, and historical material.

It is an extensive and comprehensive exhibition and the number of representations of Joan of Arc in different forms is surprising. The material was loaned by, among others, the following people: Ex-Senator William A. Clark, J. Pierpont Morgan, Rodman Wanamaker, Percy Mackaye, M. Jean de Beaurepaire, Prof. Horatio S. White, John D. Williams, Innis Young, American Numismatic Society, J. Sanford Saltus, Cuyler Reynolds, and Dr. George Frederick Kunz.

Two blue and white Joan of Arc banners bearing the crowned sword and the fleur de lis of France hung on either side of the entrance to the Numismatic Society Building yesterday. The ceremonies were held in the exhibition room. There seemed for the moment more flowers than exhibition. In the front of the room, standing, was a large and beautiful fleur de lis made entirely of lilies of the valley. It rested upon a bed of delicate ferns, and the colors of Joan of Arc, pale blue and white, were in broad ribbons. On a pillar at the left, standing out vividly in its brilliant colors, was a bouquet of yellow orchids and scarlet carnations, the Spanish colors, and tied with ribbons of as near as possible the same tones, bearing the names of Mme. Louise and Mlle. Lucchetti and "San Juan, Porto Rico."

On a pillar on the other side was a cluster of white Easter lilies tied with yellow and white ribbons and bearing the names of Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Campbell. The blue and white of Joan of Arc were produced as well as possible in flowers in a bunch of white lilacs and blue bachelors' buttons sent by Dr. Kunz, and at the base of a bronze statue of the young heroine of France on horseback, in the centre of the room, were white lilacs and a small cluster of gardenias with the name of Charles Thorley.

M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, who was to have been present, was unable to attend the ceremonies, but was represented by Viconte Dejean, First Secretary of the Embassy. A letter of appreciation from the Ambassador was read. The speakers were Park Commissioner C. B. Stover, McDougall Hawkes, President of the Museum of French Art; Prof. Louis Delamarre, J. Sanford Saltus, and Dr. Edward Hagaman Hall. Dr. Kunz presided. Commissioner Stover, referring to a statement that he would not welcome the statue of Joan of Arc, said:

"Let it be a rule to welcome all great statues of great people—for such there is always room. We will make room if it is necessary by weeding out some of the monstrosities for which New York is famous."

The Honorary President of the Statue Committee is J. Sanford Saltus, the Honorary Vice Presidents are two members of the French Institute, Pierre Loti and Gabriel Hanotaux. Among the members are J. W. Alexander, ex-Senator Clark, John D. Crimmins, Mrs. Vernon M. Davis, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Mrs. Charles F. McLean, and Dr. Louis Livingston Seaman. There is a large and beautifully illustrated catalogue of the exhibition.

President Receives Natal's Officers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Officers of the British cruiser Natal, which brought the body of Ambassador Reid to the United States, were received to-day by President Taft in the Blue Room of the White House. Commander Sypher and Lieut. Commander John N. Timmons, Mr. Taft's naval aid, represented the American Navy. he English officers presented were Capt. C. Greatorex, Engineer Commander S. J. Sutton, Lieut. Ralph Eliot, and Assistant Paymaster C. F. King.

CALIFORNIA IS NON-PARTISAN.

Assembly to Distribute State Patronage Regardless of Politics.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6.—Fifty-five members of the California Assembly, including all the Republican-Progressive legislators and one Democrat, went into executive session to-day in a non-partisan caucus, nominated officers, and agreed to divide the patronage equally among members without regard to party.

"The non-partisan" slate, which was assured of immediate election, named C. C. Young of Berkeley, a Progressive, for Speaker. Young wrote the Presidential Primary law, under which the State voted last year.

Regulation of public utilities by the State Railroad Commission, declared Gov. Johnson in his biennial message, had been so administered that the commission "won the resepct and regard of nearly all those whose interests have come within its jurisdiction."

Centralized administrative control of all State institutions under a board responsible to the Governor, like the existing board, which has fiscal jurisdiction, was recommended.

Other recommendations included a State insurance fund, and a law similar to the Kansas "Blue Sky" act against swindlers.

NEW WRIT FOR CASTRO.

Must Be a Prisoner Until Friday—Complains of Illness.

Gen. Cipriano Castro is still at Ellis Island, the guest of Immigration Commissioner Williams, and will remain there, his lawyer, George Gordon Battle, said yesterday, until Friday, when his case will come before Judge Holt in the Federal District Court on a new writ granted yesterday. This is a superseding writ in the habeas corpus proceeding, taking the place of the affidavit on information and belief made by George Gordon Battle.

When Harold A. Content, representing Mr. Battle, went to the Island yesterday, he found Castro in a petulant mood and disinclined to be interviewed. The General said that he had been ill on Sunday night after eating something that disagreed with him, and had been treated by Dr. Knox from the hospital. He complained that his illness was partly due to his being cooped up on the island, as he was a very active man and accustomed to plenty of exercise.

Beginning Yesterday—Ending January 11th:

The Most Wonderful Week in Hackett-Carhart History

(A Period of Over Fifty-Six Years)

Time has arrived when the Hackett-Carhart reorganization must take place. All stocks must go, and all are new stocks—the finest, most fashionable clothes shown this season.

For three months past the Hackett-Carhart Creditors' Settlement Sale has held sway. Now comes the climax: The greatest clothes values New York has ever known becomes still greater. The most sensational prices in Hackett-Carhart history find a lower level.

Reorganization Clearance Sale

Some 15,000 garments are involved in this unprecedented event. All will be sold without a single reservation.

The fabrics were selected from the choicest products of six nations.

Two continents contributed to the style ideas.

And the tailoring reveals the reason for Hackett-Carhart clothes having been the preference of more than two generations of gentlemen.

New Yorkers-who-know have the same confidence in these clothes as in the product of the most expensive custom tailors. Indeed, in many instances, they find greater exclusiveness of fabric—and often more advanced fashions—in clothes of Hackett-Carhart make.

Evidence of this is clear in the many characters of garments on sale here to-day. Garments comprising suits and overcoats for men, young men, boys and children. For business, dress, college, school, motor, travel and storm service.

All defying duplication even at the originally intended prices.

Illegal Advertisements

Judge Foster of the Court of General Sessions affirmed the decision of the City Magistrate who decided that it was illegal to stuff newspapers with unauthorized advertisements.

The ordinance under which this conviction was secured is as follows:

> "No person shall throw, cast or distribute in or upon any of the streets, avenues or public places, or in front yards or stoops, any hand bills, circulars, cards or other advertising."

Not only is the advertiser enjoined from causing foreign matter to be inserted in newspapers, but newsdealers are also prohibited from distributing newspapers containing such foreign inserts.

The Circulation Manager of The New York Times receives complaints of readers annoyed by this objectionable kind of advertising. Informants should give name and address of newsdealer.

GOMPERS ACCUSES ANDERSON OF BIAS

Says He Went Out of His Way "to Take a Slap at Labor" in Dynamite Case.

WARNS SENATE COMMITTEE

"Government by Dynamite" Might Be Sequel of "Government by Injunction."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, speaking to-day before the Senate Sub-Committee on Judiciary in favor of the Clayton Anti-Injunction and Contempt bills, gave answer to criticisms aimed at the organization of workers which he heads because of the trial and conviction of officers of the Structural Iron Workers' Union.

"If ever the time shall come," said Mr. Gompers in the climax of his address, "when government by dynamite shall be attempted—and let us hope and work that it never shall come—it will have as its main cause the theory and policy upon which is based government by injunction—personal government foisted upon our people instead of a government by law."

In closing his statement, which included an assault upon employers' and manufacturers' associations, particularly the United States Steel Corporation and the National Erectors' Association, Mr. Gompers declared that organized labor would not repudiate the structural ironworkers' unions "and leave them helpless and at the mercy of organized capital and insatiable, uncurbed greed for profits."

"Though all censure those whom men may deem guilty of dynamite conspiracy," the federation leader continued, "none feels the terrible consequences of the Indianapolis trial more keenly than the men of organized labor. There have been added heartache and sorrow to our already heavy burdens. The men accused and sentence cannot suffer the penalties alone—upon them and all workingmen fall the suffering and penalty.

"But what of the conspiracy of organized capital—the conspiracy to murder the liberty of the toilers, to tear from them the means of protection by which they have bettered their condition, to leave them bare and defenseless in the competitive struggle? Is not such a conspiracy sufficiently dastardly to incur some odium? Should the conspirators with their hands stained with life-blood of men's ambition, happiness, liberty, be accorded nothing but honor, power, respectability? Should they be allowed to continue to manipulate the powers of Government, the administration of justice, until the oppressed find the burden intolerable?

"More wise it is to seek social justice while yet we may. The Judge who presided at the trial realized one of the issues—government by injunction, lawless, autocratic, irresponsible exercise of governmental authority, according privileges to the strong and denying justice to the weak."

Judge Anderson, who presided over the trial of the iron workers, was referred to particularly by Mr. Gompers, when he declared that "our whole social organization seems to be on trial."

"Even the Judge who tried the case, smugly assured of personal irresponsibility," Mr. Gompers said, "fatuously declared that 'the evidence in this case will convince any impartial person that government by injunction is infinitely to be preferred to government by dynamite.'

"The worthy Judge had blindly chanced upon one of the causes, but had failed to realize casual relationship. The words to him were simply a conventional epigram; he does not know that there is a law of life, just as immutable as the law of gravitation; of attraction and repulsion, a law of life which meets tyranny and injustice by resistance. The inaptness, aye, the unwarrantable character of this utterance of the Judge discloses how far afield outside of the case he went to take another slap at labor."

Launching into his attack upon the employers, whom he declared had persistently fought the iron workers' union, Mr. Gompers said that they never had a thought of the constructive ability of the workers. He condemned in this connection the National Erectors' Association, the National Manufacturers' Association and the United States Steel Corporation.

"For six years the fight went on," he said. "All of the forces of organized society were used against these men. You say that these men resorted to forbidden methods of violence and even sacrificed lives. You condemn their methods of fighting as elemental, brutal. Of any of those who are guilty, the condemnation is true; but I ask you—were the methods used by the employers less deadly to humanity and freedom? Do you think that one side can play with the forces of injustice and tyranny and not lead to a defensive move on the part of the other? Each will protect his own interests—would anybody else do that for him?"

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 6.—Judge Anderson declines to make any comment upon Samuel Gompers's criticism of him.

UNION BONDS READY SOON.

Will Be Submitted in Chicago Within Ten Days—One Ready Now.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Bonds for the thirty-two labor leaders convicted in the dynamite suits, in whose cases appeals were granted last week, will be submitted to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago within the next ten days, attorneys for the defendants say to-night.

District Attorney Miller, who prosecuted the case, will be asked to aid in passing on the sureties, which will be tendered in various sections of the United States, it being necessary for each defendant to obtain bondsmen from his own State. Blanks for the signatures of the prisoners have been forwarded to the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 6.—W. B. Rubin, representing Ironworkers' Union No. 8, has telegraphed United States District Attorney Miller in Indianapolis that W. B. Reddin's bail is ready. He asked that District Attorney Goff be informed as to the kind of bond desired. J. J. Fleming, Secretary of the Building Trades Council and member of the Ironworkers' Union, Monday stated that $32,000 in bonds had been assured by six men, whose names were withheld, though only $30,000 was needed.

Reddin was sentenced to a three-year term.

FINGER PRINTS CONVICT HIM.

Wilson, Appeal Overruled, Surrenders to Begin Ten-Year Term.

William D. Wilson, who was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for grand larceny in the first degree by Judge O'Sullivan, and immediately after obtained a certificate of reasonable doubt and was released on $10,000 cash bail, is in the Tombs waiting to begin his sentence. His appeal was taken to the Appellate Division, where his conviction was affirmed last week. The charge against Wilson was that on Aug. 8, 1911, he entered the rooms of the Wannamaker Hair Dressing ASchool at Broadway and Thirty-fourth Street and stole $8,000 Thirty-fourth Street and stole $8,000 worth of hair goods.

He was arrested with Charles Hoffman, whose father runs a cafe under the hair dressing establishment, after the police had discovered finger marks upon a glass show case, which corresponded to those taken of Wilson in 1900, when he was arrested under the name of William Davenport, for burglary.

It developed at Wilson's trial that he had served as a soldier in the Philippines and had risen to the rank of Sergeant in the Spanish-American War.

TO OPERATE ON MME. DA GAMA

Bride of Brazilian Ambassador Comes Here for Treatment.

Mms. Domicio da Gama, bride of the Brazilian Ambassador to this country, will undergo an operation on Wednesday at a private hospital here. The nature of the illness could not be learned yesterday afternoon at the Plaza, where Mme. da Gama had been stopping.

Mme. da Gama was Mrs. Arthur H. Hearn, and was married to the Brazilian Ambassador on Nov. 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert H. Gerry, 856 Fifth Avenue, Mayor Gaynor performing the civil ceremony, and the Rev. Percy S. Grant the religious one. Her former husband was a son of George A. Hearn, of the firm of James A. Hearn & Son.

The wife of the Ambassador canceled all her social engagements in Washington and hurried to New York some days ago to undergo the operation, which, it was said, would prevent her return to Washington for a month.

ENGINEERS' TERMS OFFERED TO FIREMEN

Eastern Roads Grant Increases on Lines Where Pay Has Been Lower.

FOLLOW THE ARBITRATORS

Would Settle Some Questions Locally—Employes Still Undecided Whether to Accept.

Following out the agreement of Dec. 21, 1912, the Managers' Committee, representing the fifty-two Eastern railroads, submitted its reply yesterday, through its Chairman, Elisha Lee, to the second amended proposition of the locomotive firemen. The General Adjustment Committee representing the firemen, headed by W. S. Carter, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, held a conference in the Engineering Societies' Building, in West Thirty-ninth Street, to consider the proposals of the railroads, and they will resume the conference this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

One of the chief demands of the firemen has been for assistance on the larger engines, and against this demand the railroads have already taken a stand. The latest reply of the railroads, however, expresses a willingness to have the question of assistance to firemen settled locally for each road by a committee which shall consider "all conditions affecting any run or set of runs."

The request of the firemen for revision of their rates of pay and schedules on the roads included in the present negotiations is met by the railroads with a proposal to pay for passenger service on locomotives weighing less than 140,000 pounds $2.40 a 100 miles. The firemen had demanded a rate of $2.80. On locomotives weighing 140,000 and less than 175,000 pounds, however, the railroads agree to an advance for service of 10 cents a 100 miles, and on locomotives weighing 175,000 pounds and over an increase of 15 cents a 100 miles, with a maximum of $2.70 a 100 miles.

With reference to through freight service the railroads agree to pay firemen on locomotives weighing less than 140,000 pounds a rate of $2.75 a 100 miles, an increase of 10 cents a 100 miles on locomotives weighing 140,000 and less than 175,000 on drivers, and 15 cents additional to the present rates on locomotives weighing 175,000 pounds and over on drivers, with a maximum of $3.25 a 100 miles.

The firemen employed on the roads that now pay smaller rates would receive a material increase on their present wages, while the firemen of the more important lines who are already receiving quite as high a rate of pay would not be affected for the better.

In the proposal of the railroads a minimum wage scale based on lines somewhat similar to those laid down by the engineers' arbitration award has thus apparently been established, with an increased rate for service on the locomotives of heavy type. It has also followed closely such concessions as were made by the Arbitration Committee in the matter of the engineers with reference to overtime, terminal delay, the time that firemen are held away from home terminal, hours of service law, &c.

The demands of the firemen for a ten-hour day or less or for 100 miles or less is conceded by the railroads. For overtime the railroads agree to pay 30 cents an hour computed on a basis of twenty miles an hour for through passenger service, whereas the fireman have demanded a rate of 35 cents. The railroads further state their willingness that whatever rule or regulation is finally decided as properly applicable in the case of the engineers to other than through passenger service shall be applied to firemen under like conditions.

Left Thirty-five Bank Accounts.

Thirty-five bank accounts, ranging in amount from $517 to $8,601, comprise nearly half of an estate of $109,415.79 left by Josiah A. Northup, who died on Dec. 18, 1911, an appraisal of which [illegible] mitted yesterday to the Surrogates' Court. The entire estate goes to a brother, Frederick V. Northup of 505 North Carey Street, Baltimore, Md.

BUSINESS MEN ON AMERICAN STYLES

Write The Times Letters Full of Invaluable Suggestion About the Forthcoming Contest.

MR. CHENEY ON ORIGINALITY

George Taylor Enumerates Interesting Reasons Why American Designers Should Continue to Go Abroad.

The widespread interest which THE TIMES American Fashions Contest is arousing in the business world is daily attested by letters from many parts of the land. The idea, as seen through the eyes of these correspondents, seems to have been one of those inspirations of the opportune moment which combine sentiment, patriotism and business.

We have received no letter, at least from a business source, in opposition either to the contest itself or to the idea behind it—the supremacy in America of American-designed styles. On the contrary, many are full of interesting and valuable suggestions.

"We would suggest, in rendering a decision for your prizes," writes Horace B. Cheney of the largest American silk manufacturing concern, Cheney Brothers of South Manchester, Conn., "that you do not lay too much stress on orginality, for fashion, particularly the most successfully designed dresses, have little that is original in them. They are the development of putting together numerous ideas gathered from the world in general, and, by some process unknown to man, or we believe even to women, receiving in combination the seal of general aproval.

"Therefore, the best designed dress at any time must be made within certain narrow limits. There may be a wide range of choice as to color, material, trimming, and lines, but the tout ensemble must come within a certain clearly and recognized type which is the fashion of the day, and the dress designer who tries to be original and to go too far from what is recognized, is not the best designer or the most successful one.

"Whatever is happening in the world at the time affects the fashion. A war between Turkey and the Balkan States calls attention to those countries and many of their peculiarities will be sure to crop out in woman's dress. England has a great celebration in India and calls it the Durbar. The Indian appears immediately.

"The craze of the day in sports is sure to be represented or any other thing which occupies for the moment the minds of people. The dress which takes hint from some such factor is conventionalized and modernized until but a small part of it is left, and that type adapted to the prevailing fashion of the day is usually considered the most chic in dress."

Mr. George Taylor, President of Aitken Son & Co. of this city, writes us that their designers "go ahroad now and must continue to go abroad for exchange of ideas, for a broad study of the mystery of fashion, for contact with minds of extraordinary artistic endowment, for the discovery and purchase of the newest fabrics, in order that they may give expression to dress adapted to the individual. That as the personality of the wearer of hat and gown is different from that of all other personalities, so the grace, charm and becomingness in ladies' attire may be made characteristic of them."

Mr. Taylor says it has been the business of his house for three-quarters of a century to seek this ideal, and to always seek a higher development in the art of dress.

"We choose, among others," he writes, "French designers of 'American fashions for American women,' believing that it is true now as it was when Shakespeare made Polonius say to his son Laertes: * * * '"The apparel oft proclaims the man," and they in France of the best rank and station are most select and generous, chief in that.'

"We know that what Mme. Nordica is reported in THE TIMES of Jan. 1 to state concerning the flimsy construction of many Paris gowns, is strictly true. These models' dresses embody motifs, suggestions, illustrations, but they are put together with 'a red hot needle and a burning thread.' The cough or sneeze of an American lady of 'very certain development,' to borrow Mme. Nordica's description, is calculated to shatter the supports and underpinning of the Paris model gown. Hence the garment is more often than not reinforced after the voyage across the Atlantic before it is safe for any service."

Interesting Words

A prominent New York food expert recently said:

Statistics show that of 20 million school children in this country, 15 millions are more or less defective in eyes, teeth, glands, bony structure or otherwise.

This is largely due to their being fed upon substances in which the twelve minerals in the human body, and necessary to renew that body, are deficient in the food. Chief among these twelve minerals are Phosphorus, Iron, Magnesium, Calcium and Fluorine.

Common flour, rice, corn meal and some breakfast cereals have been robbed of 75% of their mineral elements, largely by being prepared to look "white and nice."

Grape-Nuts FOOD

Made of whole wheat and barley, contains all the valuable mineral elements necessary to the building of sound bodies and keen brains. This food is particularly rich in organic Phosphates, the essential mineral element necessary to brain building and brain development.

A regular morning dish of Grape-Nuts and cream is the daily, healthy habit of thousands of families, who for years have found by actual test that this food has properly won the title of "King of Breakfast Foods."

CROWD IN BROADWAY FOR KEENE FUNERAL

Many Noted Figures at Grace Church Services for the Dead Financier.

JOCKEYS AMONG MOURNERS

Floral Offerings from Distant Lands—Will Out To-morrow—Lawyer Silent on Trust Fund Report.

The funeral of James R. Keene, the financier and turfman, who died last Friday morning, was held in Grace Church, Broadway and Tenth Street, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The church was crowded with Mr. Keene's friends, among them many men prominent in the financial world and others whose names are famous in horse racing circles. An hour before the services a big crowd gathered in Broadway to remain there until the coffin had been borne out and started on its way to Woodlawn Cemetery, where it was interred.

Many of the floral offerings were tributes from far distant friends. One of the finest wreaths was from the Juarez (Mexico) Jockey Club, which, since the ban was placed on racing in most parts of the United States, has become one of the leading race courses on the continent. Other beautiful floral gifts were from the Coney Island Jockey Club, the Saratoga Racing Association, John G. Follansbee, John E. Madden, the famous horseman; Robert J. Collier, Lady Kaye of London, and August Belmont.

The church began to fill at 9:30 o'clock. The body of Mr. Keene had lain in state in the church since Sunday. A gerat mantle of violets completely covered the coffin. It was a mantle similar to the one that covered the coffin of William C. Whitney, whose funeral also was conducted in Grace Church.

Daingerfield Off for Kentucky.

At a door, preceding the beginning of the funeral services, stood Algernon Daingerfield, a nephew of Mr. Keene, whose father, Major Foxhall Alexander Daingerfield, died in Lexington, Ky., on Sunday, and William Ronan, who was for years Mr. Keene's confidential man in the Wall Street district. Mr. Daingerfield departed when the services began to catch a train for Lexington, so as to arrive there in time to attend the funeral of his father.

The assemblage was one such as only a man like Mr. Keene could have drawn there. In it were bankers, lawyers, business men, betting commissioners, once familiar figures on the New York tracks; jockeys, some of whom had ridden famous horses carrying the Keene colors; horse trainers, and a number of former bookmakers. The jockeys, betting men, and the trainers for the most part were seated in the rear of the church, and many noted that it was they who showed their emotion most plainly.

Those of the family present were Mr. Keene's children, Foxhall P. Keene and Mrs. Talbot J. Taylor, the latter with her three children, James R., Talbot, and Mary. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Slattery, rector of the church, an old friend of Mr. Keene.

Morgan Unable to Attend.

The honorary pallbearers were Solomon Hanford, Philip J. Britt, Andrew Miller, H. K. Knapp, Frank K. Sturgis, McPherson Kennedy, and Dr. St. Clair Smith. J. Pierpont Morgan and August Belmont had been invited to act, but Mr. Morgan was unable to be there because he was busy preparing for his departure for Egypt on the Adriatic to-day. Mr. Belmont had not expected to reach the city in time to act, and for that reason had declined. He did, however, reach the church just before the services began. The choir sang "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee," the latter as the coffin was being borne out of the church.

Among those at the services were Thomas F. Ryan, Robert J. Collier, Paul Dana, Henry Clews, Col. William M. Amory, James B. Brady, Col. E. B. Willcox, Archibald Thompson, John Bradford, R. T. Wilson, David Gideon, Charles R. Kohler, William Scully of Washington, D. C., John E. Madden, H. A. Buck, Philip J. Dwyer, and John G. Follansbee. Also in the church were James Rowe, the trainer of the great Sysonby and other famous horses of the Keene stables; William Lakeland, who trained Domino; Joe Notter, the jockey, who rode Sysonby and Colin to famous victories, and William Knapp, another of the Keene jockeys.

The coffin was taken to the Grand Central Station and from there by special train to Woodlawn. Only the members of the family and a few intimate friends followed the remains to the cemetery.

At his office, 41 Wall Street, yesterday afternoon, Mr. Hanford, who was general counsel for Mr. Keene, said that the will of Mr. Keene would probably be made public to-morrow. Until then he said that nothing concerning the will nor the value of the Keene estate would be forthcoming. Mr. Hanford refused to discuss a report that Mr. Keene had made his will twelve years ago and that practically the entire estate, put into trust funds, would be inherited by Mr. Keene's family.

MORE EAST SIDE BURGLARIES.

Two Safes Cracked, One a Jeweler's, and No Trace of Criminals.

It was learned yesterday that burglars had cracked two more safes on the lower East Side and that detectives from the Delancey and Fifth Street Stations were trying to trace them, but with little success. The report was that nearly $4,500 in diamonds, money and old coins had been stolen, but the police said this was a gross exaggeration. The value of the missing property would scarcely total $700, it was said, and no diamonds were taken.

Alex Chaifetz, a jeweler, who has a little shop with Morris Pollock, a diamond cutter, on the fourth floor of the building, at 92 Canal Street, was one of the victims. The crooks got into the building sometime between 8 o'clock Friday night and 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning. First they tackled a big safe owned by Pollock, and said to contain diamonds worth, perhaps, $2,000, but after drilling a hole in the first door they found their tools unequal to the job and gave it up.

A safe owned by Chaifetz, an antiquated one, not more than two feet square, gave easier work. The detectives said that the burglars didn't even have to use nitro glycerine, and simply yanked the door off after boring through it in order to get a hold. Chaifetz placed his loss at $4,000 in diamonds. At the Delancey Street Station it was said that $400 would cover the loss and leave a comfortable margin. Pollok, the diamond cutter, said he didn't believe the contents of the safe were worth more than $1,000 at the outside, and that there were not any diamonds in it.

The other robbery was at the grocery store of Otto C. Buchow, at 47 First Avenue. The safe was dragged back of the partition and blown open and money and coins worth, perhaps, $350, taken.

Just Learns Who Parents Were.

Nasen Wodenos yesterday received permission from Supreme Court Justice Amend to resume his real name, Nathan Paul. He lives at 155 East Ninety-ninth Street. Until recently he had believed he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wodenos, with whom he came from Russia on Jan. 3, 1904. They never had told him he was the son of Louis and Ethel Paul, but his uncle, Abram Paul, did and hence the change of name.

SHOE TRADE DISAPPOINTED.

Year's Business Not as Good as First Part Indicated.

While, for the most part, local shoe wholesalers found 1912 business better than that of the year before, the year, from a business point of view, was somewhat disappointing. Sustained unfavorable weather caused buying of Fall goods to drop off sharply about Oct. 1, and the slump in that and succeeding months caused the year's aggregate sales to show up much more poorly than had been expected in view of the activity earlier in the year. Business in heavy shoes is still moving slowly, and there are indications that only a few houses will do better than break even on the season.

Spring business was reported yesterday by one of the largest houses in the market to have picked up appreciably since the beginning of the new year, with indications pointing to steady and healthy business from now on. Buying is fairly concentrated on certain staple styles, a feature that is said to be much in favor of the manufacturers.

HAT ORDERS ENCOURAGING.

Outlook for Coming Season Good, with Panamas in Demand.

Conditions in the local hat trade have changed but little during the week. Business is generally quiet, and most of the salesmen are still at their home offices. Little change is looked for until the buyers begin to arrive from different parts of the country. As a whole the trade seems well satisfied with present conditions. Orders on the books for Spring delivery are in good volume.

The question of obtaining enough raw material for the manufacture of velours is causing some anxiety, for stocks are low and additional supplies hard to get. The demand for soft hats of all kinds has been large, and manufacturers of these goods are looking forward to a successful season. Importers of Panama hats report a growing demand for the better grade goods. Orders to date are said to be larger than last year in most instances.

RIBBON OUTLOOK GOOD.

Manufacturers Think 1913 Business Will Be Better Than Last Year's.

The ribbon business was not altogether satisfactory in 1912, according to Henry A. Loth of Joseph Loth & Co., 30 Greene Street.

"Fashion did not demand an extensive use of ribbon in the past year either for dress or millinery garniture," said Mr. Loth yesterday, "and, consequently, the business done was not all that could be desired. Some fancy-edged ribbons were used for millinery trimming, and there were occasional spurts in the demand for velvets. The greatest activity was in narrow widths in the cheaper grades used for tying up boxes and stationery.

"The outlook is more favorable for 1913, as well-informed people believe that the new styles will favor a wider use of ribbon. Another promising feature is the fact that stocks are generally lighter in this trade than for some time."

John S. Sargent in London.

The impression that John S. Sargent, the famous American portrait painter, was dead was inadvertently conveyed yesterday in an article in THE TIMES regarding William M. Chase's intention to paint a portrait of President-elect Wilson. Mr. Sargent is living in London.

HAMMERSTEIN LETS THE LAWYERS FIGHT

He Just Gazes Across the Park While Stotesbury Demands His "Gift" of $40,000.

OPERA FINANCE DISCUSSED

And the Bearing on It of Street Car Service—A Cablegram Put in Evidence by the Plaintiff.

Oscar Hammerstein was in court yesterday as the defendant in a suit brought by Edward T. Stotesbury, the Philadelphia banker, in an attempt to have the court decide whether the $39,960 he advanced to Oscar Hammerstein in 1910 to run the Philadelphia Opera House was a loan or a gift. The case was tried in the United States District Court before Judge Julius M. Mayer. Herbert C. Smyth addressed the jury for the plaintiff and Louis J. Vorhaus for the defendant.

Meanwhile the impresario rubbed his chin and cast his eyes out over City Hall Park. He was hatless, and it is practically only in court that he is seen that way. Mr. Stotesbury was on the stand during the entire day, and the impresario seemed to be using the occasion for the invention of more cigar machines. Occasionally, in response to a whispered question from his lawyer, he would lean forward to whisper an answer, but most of the time he seemed to have his mind a thousand miles away.

Once during the afternoon when the lawyers' wrangling was beginning to disturb his Honor, Judge Mayer asked the lawyers to take a calm view of the matter and realize that it was not a fight.

"It's a fight for justice," exclaimed Mr. Smyth.

This remark caused the impresario to smile broadly. Otherwise his face was impassive while his lawyer and the lawyer for the defense hurled questions at the white-haired banker, which were objected to in most cases before he had an opportunity to answer them at all.

Mr. Stotesbury asserted on the stand that he had lent the money to Mr. Hammerstein at the time of the street car strike in Philadelphia because Mr. Hammerstein professed to be very much in need of money. The sums, he said, were advanced at different times, and therefore there was no original note made out. Later, he said, Mr. Hammerstein refused to acknowledge the receipt of the money, and he said that he learned from a third person that Mr. Hammerstein considered it a gift.

When Philadelphia people were failing to support the Hammerstein operatic venture as Hammerstein thought they ought, the impresario went to Stotesbury, said the banker, and asked him to get his Philadelphia friends to guarantee him against loss. Stotesbury said he tried and failed.

"My friends say your houses are full," Stotesbury said he told Hammerstein; "they can't see the need of a guarantee."

"Sure, they're full," Stotesbury said Oscar replied, "full of paper. The tickets are being given away. The artists won't sing to empty houses."

Stotesbury said that he had been informed that the last performance in Philadelphia cost Hammerstein $9,000, while the box office receipts were $157.

During the cross-examination Mr. Vorhaus tried to get Mr. Stotesbury to say that he had some connection with the Philadelphia Street Car Company. This Mr. Stotesbury refused to do. He was asked to give a list of his partners in Drexel & Co., and mentioned among others J. Pierpont Morgan and T. W. Lamont. The question was asked whether any of these Directors had any interest in the Philadelphia Street Car Company. This question was objected to, and the objection was sustained.

Mr. Vorhaus also brought out that when the Metropolitan Opera Company bought out Mr. Hammerstein the amount he owed Mr. Stotesbury on mortgage was deducted from the amount paid him.

"Nothing, however, was said about this $40,000 at that time, was there?"

"The contract was drawn up in New York, and that was a Philadelphia transaction."

"Weren't the others Philadelphia transactions?"

"Yes, but the lawyers in New York did not know about that."

The lawyers' names who drew up the contract barring Oscar Hammerstein from opera for ten years were mentioned, among them that of Paul D. Cravath.

"But after you had left this country your lawyer made an attempt to get the $40,000 before the sum agreed upon by the Metropolitan Directors was paid to Mr. Hammerstein?"

"Yes."

"They even threatened to attach his property, but when he paid no attention to these threats you cabled your lawyers to let the money go?"

"I object," said Mr. Smyth; "he is leaving out an essential clause in that cablegram."

Then the cablegram was read: "Do not hold up payment any longer. I'll try to get my money some other way."

WOMEN FAINT IN THE SUBWAY

Three Overcome in 135th Street Station—Engineers Investigating Air There.

Three women, within the space of two and a half hours yesterday morning, fainted in the 135th Street station of the subway, and one of them, returning to the station from Harlem Hospital, got to the platform only to faint a second time. The Public Service Commission has ordered an investigation by engineers to learn whether the fainting was caused by insufficient ventilation or an accumulation of gas.

Those who fainted were Miss Jennie Reich of 113 Columbus Avenue, Mrs. Ida Tenester of 193 East 110th Street, and Miss Eleanor Scott of 440 Spencer Place, Brooklyn. It was Miss Reich who fainted twice, and she is still in Harlem Hospital under treatment.

MARIE DRESSLER SUES.

Summons for Weber & Fields—Breach of Contract He Suggests.

Marie Dressler, the actress, through Guggenheim, Untermyer & Marshall, filed in the Supreme Court yesterday a summons in a suit against Weber & Fields, with whom she had been lately appearing. There was no complaint, but a telephone message to Mr. Weber brought forth the statement that he supposed Miss Dressler was suing him for a breach of contract.

They had been paying Miss Dressler $1,500 a week, he said, but she had only worked four weeks, when she left of her own accord, and had never been asked to come back.

A Blanket of Gas

PYRENE liquid, in contact with fire, is instantly transformed into a heavy, dry, cohering, non-poisonous gas blanket, which smothers the flames. This Pyrene gas is the most effective fire extinguisher known to science.

Brass and Nickel Plated Pyrene Fire Extinguishers are the only one-quart fire extinguishers included in the lists of Approved Fire Appliances issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Weight 5 lbs. filled;
3 in. in diameter;
14 in. long.

Winter Automobile Exhibit

—Latest Cars Created by 48 Master Builders

Commencing Jan. 6th, we will hold this city's first Winter Automobile Exhibit. Its advantage is that you have an opportunity to take plenty of time in selecting an automobile. Hurried decisions usually are costly.

On exhibition are the latest cars of 48 master builders. These men had a hand in the building of over 200,000 automobiles of 97 well-known makes. They are the picked engineers from England, Germany, France, Italy, America, Belgium, Austria and Hungary.

Do not overlook this opportunity for a careful scrutiny of these latest ideas in motor car design.

Come see the Winter Automobile Exhibit at once.

THESE picked experts, constructing their latest models, worked under the direction of Howard E. Coffin, America's foremost designer. He himself had built six famous cars, more than any other engineer, and never created a failure. Working together, these men have built their greatest cars. The wonderful 4 and 6-cylinder automobiles they created compositely are the masterpieces of the largest engineering board in the automobile industry.

Howard E. Coffin himself built the first successful four-cylinder car. He has always led in four-cylinder construction. Yet even he could not have conceived as remarkable cars as has this great body of experts, combining their ideas.

In the New HUDSON "37"—their 4-cylinder car—they have built a simple automobile, one with several hundred fewer parts than others in its class. Simplicity is the keynote to low up-keep. You have noted this if you have ever owned a car of complicated design.

In any automobile the design of which is not well balanced, rods, wires and supports are necessary. These things need attention and constant adjustment. That takes repairmen's time. It costs money. But with the simple car you have none of these things to look after, for rods, wires and supports are not essential.

A Dust-Proof Car

These engineers have built an automobile that is fortified against the most ruinous element a motor car must face—dust.

Dust, dirt and grit work their way in through the valves into the motor and bearings and shorten the life of the motor— the very heart of an automobile.

But these engineers have enclosed the valves, valve mechanism and all moving parts, making them impregnable to the ruin of dust, dirt and grit. They have built a dust-proof car.

Electrically Self-Cranking Electric Lighted

There is nothing in the operation of the car that cannot be accomplished from the driver's seat. You press a button to crank the engine. The electric Delco self-cranking system has an electric motor, the transmission of which meshes with the cogs of the HUDSON'S fly wheel. Thus when you press the button and start the electric motor, it automatically turns the fly wheel and hence revolves the gasoline motor, accomplishing the same result as you get by cranking at the front of the car.

In addition, when the engine is running, it generates electric current which is stored in a battery to be used for lighting at night and in starting the car.

Three buttons on the dash control the head, tail, side and dash lights.

The Most Beautiful 1913 Car

Motorists have termed the New HUDSON "37" "the most beautiful car." Its long, handsome, sweeping 1913 lines and its Americanized European body construction, make the New HUDSON "37" a car that men who last year bought $5,000 and $6,000 cars are proud to own.

In comfort the HUDSON is supreme. Its 12-inch Turkish type upholstery, over three-quarter elliptic springs, makes the car so remarkably easy riding that this fact alone has decided many sales in its favor.

The large, roomy tonneau and the ease of entering the car are other features appreciated by the wise motorist.

It is a Proved Car

When the engineering board of the Hudson Motor Car Company had designed the HUDSON "37" it was placed in the hands of a racing driver to test the car. He worked it out over 20,000 miles at train speeds. His course was the worst roads he could find in ten states, the Allegheny Mountains and Southern Canada. The battering that he gave the car was the equivalent of 40,000 miles service in the hands of the average owner, or four years' average use. When he finished the tests, not a single change from the basic design decided upon by these experts was made. The car was then publicly announced, for from an engineering standpoint it was perfected.

You cannot gain an adequate appreciation of the New HUDSON "37" from what we have said here. Its extraordinary beauty, comfort and the correctness of its mechanical design can only become known to you through a personal investigation and inspection of the car at the Winter Automobile Exhibit.

Come see it today.

THE GOMPERS GOSPEL.

Mr. GOMPERS quotes the words of the Saviour in defense of reform by dynamite. Let him that is without sin, that is, let him that hath not used bombs, cast the first stone at the dynamiters, says Mr. GOMPERS's paraphrase of the Bible. There are some ninety-odd millions of Americans who have no idea that they are disqualified from condemning the use of dynamite for "ethical" purposes, and who therefore need to be told of Mr. GOMPERS's argument. The dynamite which killed twenty persons on one occasion, and many others on a hundred other occasions, was thrown in a social war—so runs the argument. Society had arrayed itself against the unions, and therefore the unions had a right to defend themselves against society in their own way.

If Mr. GOMPERS were alone in this idea it might be left to him, but there are thousands who agree with him. It is an idea expressed by many more than Mr. GOMPERS, himself the spokesman for more than a million. "I did what I did for principle," said J. B. MCNAMARA. On Sunday JOHN J. FITZPATRICK, President of the Chicago Federation of Labor, said that, unless the dynamite convicts were freed by legal procedure, labor "should go beyond the law, and resort to first principles." Accordingly resolutions were passed declaring that the charges were trumped up, that the Judge was partial, that the jury was prejudiced and "fixed" by the Government's agents, and that the entire proceeding was part of an attempt to crush organized labor. The aye vote was practically unanimous.

The avowal of such sentiments is dynamite under our institutions, and does organized labor more harm than anybody could do to it. Even MCNAMARA did not venture to quote Scripture in defense of dynamite, but Mr. GOMPERS yesterday cited Holy Writ in the course of his argument for the Anti-Injunction bill. Himself under sentence for contempt of an injunction, he declared that "if ever the "time shall come when government "by dynamite shall be attempted, it "will have as its main cause the theory and policy upon which is based "government by injunction—personal "government foisted upon our people "instead of a government by law."

If Mr. GOMPERS regards the suppression of dynamite rule as the establishment of personal rule by the Judge who sentenced the dynamiters, how would he have his countrymen regard rule by trades unionism, under the Presidency of himself and of his companion under sentence for contempt of court, Mr. MITCHELL? Judges are bound by the Constitution, by statutes, precedents, facts, and must justify their every decision. But what limit is there to the excesses of trades unionism? Even yet, despite the expressions of their spokesmen, we prefer to believe with Judge ANDERSON either that unionists are not dynamiters, or that they do not appreciate the enormity of their crimes done in defense of the "principle" that no man shall work unless he is a unionist. The argument for that abhorrent "principle" as a defense of rule by dynamite is in nowise stronger than Mr. MITCHELL's avowal that labor's leaders know no limit to their agitation. In Mr. MITCHELL's words, as memorable as Mr. GOMPERS's:

> At no time within the past thirty years have the wage earnings of the miners been as fair as they are now. And when I say that the wages are high I do not mean by any means that I am satisfied, and furthermore I do not want you to be satisfied with what you get. It is more and more and more all the time. If you were to get an increase of 25 per cent. in your wage earnings to-morrow I would still be asking for more. I would still agitate for more wages, shorter hours, and improved working conditions. I favor agitating for more wages, and if the men receive more pay next year I would want still more the year following.

That is the gospel of MITCHELL and GOMPERS. None of these leaders seems to care for any Americans except unionists. They demand that all Americans shall pay increased prices in order that wages shall be increased constantly for a small part of all the people. The doctrine that pay and work shall be proportioned to each other, and to results, appears to them a campaign of society against labor as fierce as their campaign against society. Such words are a declaration of social war, and a summons to all who disagree to rally to the defense of the law as the sole protection of all against dynamite and the boycott.

MR. M'ANENY'S PLANS.

Borough President MCANENY has in view the widening during the present year of all the 100-foot cross streets and of a large part of Broadway. Work of this kind is already under way in various parts of Manhattan. Encroachments over the building line are to be removed on Sixth, Third, and Fourth Avenues. The work of repaving by modern and approved methods will be carried on vigorously. The pavements recently laid on many streets are satisfactory and promise to serve their purpose, with prompt repairing when it is necessary, for many years.

One of the plans of improvement to be carried out in 1913 is the extension of Seventh Avenue southward to a junction with Varick Street. A plaza approach to the Queensboro Bridge will be constructed between Second and Third Avenues and Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets. Mr. MCANENY also announces that, through the Park Department, plans prepared by FREDERICK LAW OLMSTED, ARNOLD BRUNNER, and Landscape Architect DAY for the extension of Riverside Drive northward from 157th Street to Spuyten Duyvil Creek will be carried out, and improvements made in Bryant Park and the Fifth Avenue Plaza.

Work will be under way on the new Law Courts in the Spring, and the new arrangement of streets in and near the Civic Centre, of which this building will be the centre, will include a wide thoroughfare through the heart of Chinatown. The slums of this neighborhood are doomed. Mr. MCANENY is hopeful about the new Federal court building in the Civic Centre, and new Post Office. He has planned for a busy year which should bring forth many benefits for the whole community. The year, too, will see the beginning of work on every branch of the new subway system which is to improve greatly the means of access to the centre of the greater city from all points.

SUSPENDED.

Some of the delegates of the allies in the Peace Conference declared on Saturday very brusquely that the conference would end yesterday if Turkey did not accept their terms. Turkey has not accepted the allies' terms, though offering some concessions. The delegates of the allies thereupon do not end the conference, but content themselves with "suspending" its meetings. Under what conditions these will be resumed remains to be seen. On the one hand, the allies express confidence that Adrianople will fall through starvation before the week is over. On the other, the Government of Turkey is evidently hoping that the Powers will definitely intervene and make the ultimate yielding by Turkey, which seems inevitable, less objectionable to her. This, however, the Powers are apparently in no haste to do.

THE STRIKE FEVER.

The ills of labor, like physiological diseases, can be prevented more easily than cured. The plan for a full and fair investigation of the garment workers' troubles, agreed upon at the Chamber of Commerce last Friday by both manufacturers and labor leaders, with mutual concessions, was thrown over by the leaders when they found that the unions were too inflamed to listen to reason. The fever of the strike must run its course, with the steady application of such palliatives and restoratives as are at hand. When cold and hunger shall have slackened the violent pulses and calmed the delirium of the strikers, it will be remembered that an armistice was arranged on good terms, pending a thorough investigation and report upon the facts.

The strike, which is spreading among all the unions in the garment and needle workers' trades save that of the cloakmakers, will not be ended in any satisfactory way until the public knows the facts on which it is based. The side which forfeits the public sympathy will lose. An attempt to suppress the facts and to prevent a fair investigation and report will be judged by the public as hostile to its interests. Such an attempt seems to be making by the garment workers. If persisted in, the public will very likely forget to blame the employers for not preventing the strike by an earlier investigation; it will regard the workers as seeking to gain their ends by the paths of violence and unreason.

THE HARRIMAN MERGER CASE.

The Supreme Court holds that the distribution or sale exclusively to the stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad of the Southern Pacific shares, which the Union Pacific now holds, would not "so effectually end the combination as to comply with the decree "heretofore ordered to be entered by "this court." It is not easy to see how any other disposition of the matter was to be expected, yet in recent discussions of the problem it has been said that unless the court reversed its ruling in permitting a pro-rata distribution of the Northern Securities and the Standard Oil holdings it must assent to the plan proposed by the Union Pacific's management, which would have distributed by sale or otherwise to Union Pacific shareholders, and to nobody else, the $126,650,000 worth of Southern Pacific stock now held by the Oregon Short Line Company for the Union Pacific. In the original opinion the court held that the Union Pacific ownership of what was practically the control of a rival and competing line was a violation of the anti-trust law, and it ordered the Union Pacific to divest itself of its ownership. We do not see how any one can quarrel with this reasoning of the court in the opinion written by Associate Justice DAY:

> The ultimate determination of the affairs of a corporation rests with its stockholders, and arises from their power to choose the governing Board of Directors. After such a distribution as is now proposed, the stockholders of the Union Pacific Company may dominate and control not only the Union Pacific Company but the Southern Pacific Company as well.

In the Northern Securities case a dissolution was ordered, an actual dissolution of the holding company, and a distribution of its assets. In the Standard Oil case the New Jersey corporation was ordered to give back to the stockholders of the subsidiary corporations the shares it had received in exchange for its own shares. In the Union Pacific case no company is dissolved. The court orders merely that the Union Pacific put an end to what was virtually a merger by disposing of its Southern Pacific shares. The difference is clear. At any rate, the court's reasoning in the present case is so.

MR. WILSON AND ARBITRATION.

In commenting yesterday on the admirable statement by President TAFT as to the course that will be taken concerning arbitration of the Panama tolls question we pointed out that whether the President could carry out his purpose would depend on the force of public sentiment that backs him. And we added that it was the duty of every citizen who loves his country and cherishes its fair name to support him to the utmost.

We venture to suggest that this is an obligation to which the President-elect may probably give careful attention. We are, of course, aware that Mr. WILSON is not called on to express his views in advance on a matter with which he may have to deal, but clearly he is entirely free to do so. In this case it would not interfere with but would promote a policy of the highest importance. Quite apart from his political position his standing as a student of history, his ripe judgment, and his high standard of public life give him extraordinary influence in a question of this sort. He cannot employ it in any way more advantageously for his country than in support of Mr. TAFT's sound policy.

There is another aspect of arbitration to which Mr. WILSON will probably have to give some attention. Mr. TAFT seems to regard his treaties with Great Britain and with France as practically dead. We do not think that this is necessarily true. Mr. TAFT severely criticises the action of the Senate and the pretension on which it was based. That pretension, in substance, was that the Senate could not bind itself and its successors to submit to arbitration all matters declared by a Joint High Commission to be "justiciable," that is to say suitable for adjudication by an international tribunal. Of this Mr. TAFT said:

> If we are a Nation at all, we must have power to bind ourselves as a Nation to contracts that will not only uplift nations, but uplift the world; and if we are to be limited by the fact that the Senate of the United States cannot confirm and cannot make a contract of that sort, then we have hobbled ourselves and National sovereignty in the possibility of a higher and a more Christian civilization.

As a general statement, this is sound. We do not think that it strictly applies to the case of the treaties with Great Britain and France. On the contrary, those treaties, in our opinion, which was the opinion of Secretary KNOX, of Senator ROOT, of Senator BACON, of Gov. BALDWIN, and other high authorities, by their terms, left to the Senate the final decision as to whether any specific difference should or should not be submitted to arbitration. The value of the treaties was not in requiring the Senate to accept arbitration in every case. It lay in the fact that in every case, before it was sent to the Senate, the President should approve arbitration, that a year's delay and discussion were required, and that a full investigation had been made by a Joint Commission of three members from each Government, who, by a vote of at least five to one, declared the dispute suitable for arbitration. This deliberate and careful treatment of any difference would throw on the Senate a responsibility for rejection which, we are convinced, would never have been faced. The treaties, as the Senate amended them, would, we are confident, have been of inestimable value and effect. We hope that, ultimately, it may be feasible for Mr. WILSON to take up the treaties and secure the benefits that actually they offer.

THE MILITIA PAY BILL.

Among the objections to the Militia Pay bill, now pending in the House of Representatives, is the burden of expense it will place upon the Federal Government. This has been estimated, by the emotional opponents of every plan to increase military efficiency, at $100,000,000 yearly. Mr. SLAYDEN of Texas, in the minority report of the House Committee on Military Affairs, states that the annual cost will be $9,234,729. Mr. SLAYDEN adds to this the $5,000,000 yearly which has been paid out by the United States for the purposes of the State militia since the passage of the Dick law, but even then there is a broad margin between his figures and those of the hot-headed opponents who argue without figures. The Dick bill placed the organized militia of the United States under Federal control, as a reserve force in time of need. Since it became a law the citizen soldiers have had the advantage of training in field service and inspection by officers of the regular army. Undoubtedly the duties and responsibilities of the National Guard have been increased, and it is now proposed to pay the officers from $100 to $360 yearly and the enlisted men from $45 to $225 yearly.

Mr. SLAYDEN's report, however, is a temperate document which deserves intelligent consideration. His prophecy that the National Guardsmen will never be contented with the sums first allotted to them, and will ask for more, seems at first to be needlessly alarming. It would not be necessary to give them more, merely because they ask for it. But he sees in this new measure a source of danger which should not be overlooked. The politicians, with a paid militia to "conciliate," will doubtless act as they have acted, since the passage of the "Arrears of Pensions bill" in 1879, in regard to the "Old Soldier" vote. An annual expenditure of more than $200,000,000 for pensions is now, as Mr. SLAYDEN says, in sight. And he argues that the veterans of the civil war "have never "formed a compact, well-organized, "and easily managed body" like the National Guard.

This is a sounder argument against the Militia Pay bill than the statement that we may in the future have a National Guard of 1,000,000 men which will cost the Federal Government $116,000,000 yearly. We need not invent bogies. But it is clear that if the bill now before Congress is to be passed, (and its specific purpose has the approval of the best military judges,) it should be so carefully amended as to make any political trickery with it in the future absolutely impossible. The army, and all the subsidiaries of the army, should be kept out of politics. If the bill's provisions cannot be made definite, and impervious to political onslaught, it should not be passed. But we have no idea that it cannot be so drawn as to defeat all the tricksters. Assuredly, we do not want a National Guard vote to compete with an "Old Soldier" vote. But we ought to have faith in the good intentions and patriotism of the National Guard.

THE AUTOMOBILE.

With the opening of the new year and the beginning of the exhibition season for 1913, attention is called once again to the rapid rise of the automobile industry, which fills a page at once brief and notable in our recent business history. This industry has had an unparalleled growth. In a single decade, from 1899 to 1909, the percentage of increase in the value of automobile products in the United States was 5,148.6, whereas the percentage of increase, over a similar period, in the industry which showed the next rate of growth, that of copper, tin, and sheet iron, was but 155. No interest of mankind, of which we are aware, has ever remotely approached this astonishing expansion. But although this record of 5,000 per cent. carries us only to 1909, the expansion by no means stopped with that year. Thus, in 1912 not less than two hundred and fifty thousand automobiles, exclusive of motor trucks, were produced, or an increase of fifty thousand over the previous season.

Two of New York's largest exhibition buildings will be required to house the automobile show which opens next Saturday, although thirteen years ago barely twenty motor cars were gathered in the first exhibition of the kind held on this side of the Atlantic. It does not require great keenness of perception to realize that we live in a motor age. One need but look out of his window to feel that. But it is almost startling to know that so universal has the automobile become that one machine is now in use for every one hundred and ten persons in the United States.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Unrestricted Gifts Are Best.

An interesting passage in the annual report of President NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER of Columbia University is one which differentiates between the right and the wrong ways of giving to educational institutions. For the heads of these institutions this is, of course, a delicate subject, since they have a never-ending need of money and there is obvious danger in questioning the judgment of those who have the ability and the inclination to give it.

President BUTLER evidently does not lack courage, however, for not content with saying, as has the head of many another college, that most good is done by unconditioned gifts, the expenditure of which is left to the discretion of the collegiate authorities, he bluntly declares that rigidly restricted endowments are as often a burden as a benefit, the givers really imposing upon the college "the new obligation of acting, without compensation, as their own trustees or executors, "for the purpose of carrying out some "plan of their own." Gifts for designated purposes, he says, help a university only when those purposes are closely allied with work already in progress or are along lines which it desires to follow. When this is not the case—when the university does not care to undertake what the giver wants done or cannot do it without drawing upon its own resources for a part of the expense—then the gift, instead of being helpful, is a source of embarrassment.

JOHN STEWART KENNEDY, GEORGE CROCKER, and Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM D. SLOANE are mentioned by President BUTLER as having bestowed their benefactions in the best possible way, and were their example followed, he says, the effectiveness of the millions now given each year in the United States for education would be increased many times. "But," adds the President, "it takes men and "women of large vision and broad sympathy to see this. Those of narrower "outlook and more restricted sympathy "prefer to try to follow, even after death, "each separate dollar with their individual hand."

Instead of strengthening existing institutions, too many people prefer the founding of new ones that can bear their own names and be personal monuments. Yet they mean so well, in spite of their vanity, that harsh criticism is almost impossible, and, after all, the old controversy as to whether or not there should be small colleges as well as large ones has never been settled conclusively.

Dr. Wallace Didn't Mean It.

Between the beginning and the end of what Dr. ALFRED RUSSEL WALLACE himself called his "tirade" about these latter days there is such marked incompatibility that the reader of his lamentations, as cabled yesterday, is warranted in assuming that the illustrious old man didn't really mean all, or even much, of what he said about the present state of world morals and world intelligence.

For how could Dr. WALLACE be hopeful as to the future of his race if he believed that it had made no progress toward virtue or wisdom in the last 7,000 years, and if he could see nothing around him except thievery, tyranny, and ruthless self-seeking? Enough and more than enough of all three are doubtless visible in most directions that anybody cares to look, but a scientist as reverent of fact and truth as is Dr. WALLACE must know that he exaggerated, and therefore falsified, the situation when he declared that "everything is as bad as it possibly can be." The best proof of that is the extent to which his own resentment of cruelty and evil is nowadays shared.

Acts and policies, private and public, that once passed unnoticed or were dismissed as inevitable because of the way the world and its inhabitants are made now excite indignant and often effective protest, and the number of our scandals can be more than plausibly explained on the theory that we have acquired a new keenness in the recognition of the scandalous for what it is, as well as a new determination to put an end to it.

Something of Dr. WALLACE's pessimism may be due to the fact that DARWIN's name, not his own, has been immortalized as the formulator of the evolutionary hypothesis. Since the reaching of that magnificent conclusion by both was practically synchronous, it was, indeed, hard that all the glory went to one, but Dr. WALLACE has his reward, such as it is, in the recognition by all familiar with the circumstances of his prompt and generous admission that his rival's claim to fame was the greater. Admit it he did, and always has, but in this most colossal of disappointments can probably be found the origin of the tendency away from rigid evolutionism toward mysticism and dualism which Dr. WALLACE has shown ever since. Probably, too, it accounts for his "tirade."

Insurance Needs Reforming.

Commissioner JOHNSON seems to be doing more than hold his own in the controversy over fire insurance methods which WILLIS O. ROBB was rash enough to start with him. Whether or not the Commissioner is right as to the percentage of fires which are of incendiary origin, there is no doubt that such fires are far too numerous. Unquestionable, too, is it that there are obvious looseness and radical impropriety in the issuance without previous inspection of insurance to any desired amount.

Mr. ROBB's plea that inspection would cost money is not less weak than true, and property owners could better bear that expense than to pay the rates a considerable part of which are due to this failure to inspect before insuring. The life companies, as Commissioner JOHNSON pertinently says, make no such argument, and issue no policies until they knew just what they are insuring.

That fire insurance is "straight"—that it is not complicated by investment and speculative features—is apparently its one merit, as compared with life insurance, but even that is a superiority which not all, by any means, will admit.

Mr. ROBB's one chance was to emphasize the fact that inspection would not prevent the removal of property before the incendiary started his fire. That is true, but it would at least render more difficult than now the obtaining of excessive insurance and so do a little something toward keeping down our appalling fire losses.

A Magnificent Chestnut Tree.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In regard to your article, "Famous New York Trees and Their Fate," I was in Fort Washington Park a little over two weeks ago while a gang of men were cutting out the dead trees. One was a chestnut (Castanea dentata) which forked about three feet from the ground. It had already been felled, so it was impossible to make an exact measurement, but the overseer, a most intelligent man, one of the city's expert arboriculturists, guessed its circumference below the fork at seventeen feet. The members of the gang agreed with this computation, but I was inclined to think it underestimated. This was without the bark, the tree being stripped.

So there lay, in all probability, the largest tree on Manhattan Island. The overseer remarked, "If the papers knew about this, there would have been a few reporters around."

Widest Cathedral Choirs.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your Pictorial Section issued to-day you give an illustration of the interior of the choir of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the width of which you give as fifty feet, and describe it as the widest cathedral choir in the world. Gwilt, in his Encyclopaedia of Architecture, gives the following widths of the choirs of English cathedrals: Canterbury, 74 feet; Ely, 73 feet; Carlisle, 71 feet. STREONSHALK.

Young and Widowed Mother.

A young mother needs help to support her three children, little girls under six, who were left to her care by the father's sudden death a year ago. His savings were lost in a business venture and his insurance was used for the family needs immediately after his death. She had then only her own industry to depend on. She is an intelligent mother, who is bringing her children up well, and she now earns about two-thirds of their expenses. The Charity Organization Society asks for $120 to pay the rent of $10 a month during the year just beginning.

Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged.

The society acknowledges with thanks the following contributions received in response to previous appeals in THE TIMES: M. D., $5; Cash, $5; Ena, $3; A Friend, $2; E. G. C., $1; Mrs. G. P. Slade, $25; L. G. Gold, $10; Edmund Blikslager, $5; A. E. Gordon, $5; Mrs. R. Elizabeth Oakley, $1; H. Richard Harris, $25; Messrs. Charles Hubbard & Co., $1; Anonymous, $1.

HARMONY AT LAST.

They disagreed on politics,
On medicine and law;
The battle raged from two till six
And ended in a draw.

When tea was poured the club adjourned
And all was happiness,
For now the conversation turned Toward that dear topic—dress.

LURANA SHELDON.

ROOSEVELT FAILED TO GET RADICAL DEMOCRATIC VOTE

Analyzing by States, Prof. Fisher Finds That President-elect Wilson Gained Wherever He Had But One Antagonist.

YALE UNIVERSITY,
New Haven, Conn., Jan. 5, 1913.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The diagram presented herewith explains itself. It contrasts the Presidential vote given to Taft and Bryan in 1908 and to Taft, Roosevelt, and Wilson in 1912 as percentages of the total vote given to these candidates, (ignoring the minor parties, Socialist, Prohibitionist, &c.). I made this diagram originally in order to satisfy my own desire to form a more or less exact picture of the effect which Roosevelt's candidacy has had on the Republican and Democratic parties.

The diagram indicates that the chief effect was simply to split the Republican vote and not appreciably to encroach upon the Democratic vote.

The States are arranged in regular order from the most Republican, Vermont, at the top, to the most Democratic, South Carolina, at the bottom of the list, the order being determined by the relative importance of the votes for Taft and Bryan in 1908. Thus Vermont in 1908 gave 80 per cent. of the Taft and Bryan vote to Taft, the remaining 20 per cent. going to Bryan. Maine, the next most Republican State, gave a little over 65 per cent. to Taft and the remaining 35 per cent. to Bryan, and so on to the foot of the table, South Carolina giving only about 5 per cent. to Taft and the remaining 95 per cent. to Bryan. Consequently, the dotted or broken line separating the Taft and Bryan percentages, in descending, moves gradually from right to left as we pass from the Republican to the Democratic States. This dotted line crosses the middle of the figure at the "doubtful" States, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, Colorado, Nebraska, and Kentucky. Below these come the ultra-Democratic States of the "solid South."

Since we are dealing only in percentages, the lengths of all the horizontal lines or strips representing the votes of the States are the same, representing in all cases 100 per cent.; but the relative numbers of the total votes are shown by the breadths of the strips, New York having the broadest strip and Nevada the narrowest. These breadths represent the comparative votes of 1912, (and, for all practical purposes, those for 1908 also.)

The two unbroken lines divide the vote into three percentages, the left being Taft's, the middle Roosevelt's, and the right Wilson's. The striking fact about this table is that the right of these two unbroken lines, i. e., that separating Wilson's vote from the combined vote of Taft and Roosevelt, runs exceedingly close to the line of 1908, separating Bryan's vote from Taft's. In other words, Wilson got in 1912 almost the same percentage of the total vote as Bryan got in 1908. The Progressive Party, instead of being, as intended, a wedge driven between the Republican and Democratic Parties, taking its support from both, proved to be merely the radical wing of the Republican Party.

It is scarcely conceivable that this coincidence or similarity between Wilson's and Bryan's votes was the result of any extensive interchange of votes in both directions. Of course Roosevelt drew a few votes from the Democratic Progressives and drove a few conservative Republicans to vote for Wilson. But if this interchange were really important the effect would, in all probability, have been more or less proportional to the size of the reservoirs thus affected. If, for instance, Roosevelt had attracted, say, 10 per cent. of the normal Democratic vote and driven 10 per cent. of the normal Republican vote to Wilson, the effect would have been that for the States highest in the diagram he would in general have lost more votes than he gained; (the 10 per cent. repelled of the many Republicans of Vermont and Maine, Michigan, Washington, Minnesota, North Dakota, Massachusetts, &c., means twice as many votes as the 10 per cent. attracted of the few Democrats in those States.) On the other hand, for the States lowest in the diagram, he would have gained more votes than he lost; (the 10 per cent. attracted of the many Democrats of Florida, Alabama, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina means twice as many votes as the 10 per cent. repelled of the few Republicans in those States.) Thus the right unbroken line would have tended, toward the top of the diagram, to take a position at the left of the broken line, and, toward the bottom, at the right. That is, it would have tended to be more nearly vertical.

In short, Roosevelt acted neither as a wedge driven between the two old parties nor as a means of mutual interchange of votes between them. He merely divided the Republican Party and left the Democratic vote substantially unchanged.

The slight deviations between the line bounding Wilson's vote in 1912 and that bounding Bryan's in 1908 are doubtless explainable by local and special causes.

The few larger deviations, on the other hand, seem to have a distinct relation to the way in which the Republican vote was split. While Roosevelt divided the Republican vote, this division varied greatly from State to State. It is interesting to observe that generally, wherever the division was fairly equal, Wilson's percentage was the closest to Bryan's, but that where either Taft or Roosevelt had the great majority of the votes, Wilson ran ahead of Bryan. This is notably the case with South Dakota, California, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. The only notable exception is in the case of Utah, where alone Taft seemed to crowd both his opponents.

In other words, where Wilson had only one antagonist to fight, he was more successful than Bryan and encroached on the Republican vote, but where he had two antagonists about equally important, he obtained only the regular Democratic vote. That is, wherever the split in the Republican Party was really a split in the middle, few if any Republican votes went to Wilson; but where the split was not complete, Wilson drew some Republican votes. This confirms the opinion expressed by a close observer who said that if Wilson had had to beat Roosevelt alone or Taft alone he would have had a much larger vote than he did. As it was, no Republican needed to vote for Wilson. If he was a radical he was satisfied with Roosevelt; if a conservative, with Taft. The result was precisely what was to have been expected and corresponds to the prediction which I sent to the Democratic Campaign Committee, after the Vermont State election. Wilson, being himself a Progressive, lost few Progressive votes to Roosevelt, and being the regular Democratic nominee lost few to Taft. Roosevelt drew an enthusiastic following based on his former clientele or good will, so to speak; but it was too much to expect that Democrats, whether Progressives or Conservatives, who had for years been in avowed opposition to Roosevelt, should suddenly reverse themselves and vote for him.

The moral of the diagram would seem to be that if in the future a real alignment between the Progressives and the Conservatives is to occur, the leader must be some one who can attract the Progressive wing of the Democratic Party, as well as the Progressive wing of the Republican Party. Roosevelt has not been able to do this. Whether it will be Wilson or some one else who will be able to lead a truly Progressive Party remains to be seen.

ANOTHER CROOK PLAY AT LYCEUM THEATRE

But These "Blackbirds" Flutter Rather Feebly After Opening Act.

STARS WARMLY WELCOMED

Miss Crews and Mr. Warner Are Appreciated, Though the Play Is Disappointing.

BLACKBIRDS, comedy in three acts, by Harry James Smith. Lyceum Theatre.

"So near and yet so far" might be an appropriate inscription for "Blackbirds," the play by Harry James Smith which was produced at the Lyceum last night. For these birds of evil plumage, though they soared high for a brief ten minutes or so in the opening act, seemed soon to tire of their flight, grew weak, and fluttered to earth, adding another disappointment to the season.

Disappointment, because for a little while it seemed as though Mr. Smith was really about to provide a good entertainment. There was an excellent idea to begin with. A couple of "crooks," to use the familiar word, pass themselves off on each other and every one else as important somebodies on the ship that is bringing them to New York. He is an illegitimate son of a London Lord, brought up in the stables, and convinced in his own mind that the world owes him a living. She, a Polish exile, daughter of a counterfeiter and early wedded to an old man whom she despised. He an all-round adventurer of fortune; she a smuggler, with wonderful success in bringing jewels through in defiance of the keenest scrutiny of the Inspectors.

And while all this was happening on the stage last night Collector Loeb sat in an upper box, smiling at the startling (?) revelations of high, hollow French heels filled with unset gems and a higher coiffure into which a presumable fortune in the form of a diamond necklace had been safely tucked.

But to come to Hecuba—which isn't as far fetched as it may sound, with grandmother playing the rôle of deus ex machina in the developments—the lady crook, not being able to avoid the advances of her lover, finally confesses her shameful history. And, instead of being horribly shocked at the revelation, he merely laughs and tells her what a wicked person he is, too. And both of them promptly justify their professional ambitions by some sort of a socialistic doctrine of doing others because others have done others, or something to the same effect.

Now, as far as this goes it is a capital idea. And it would have seemed that no great dexterity would have been required to work it into an effective melodrama. Especially with a nice bunch of Middle West parvenues right there on the ground waiting to be plucked, the chief object sought being a valuable prayer rug, regularly sold, and as regularly stolen, with a modern copy left on the ground to avert suspicion. The Westerners—they come from Detroit to be exact—are crazy to have the supposed somebodies visit them in their home. So the road seems clear to speculative enterprises.

Whereupon there follows a very poor second act wherein Mr. Harry James Smith makes the unpardonable blunder of substituting farce or burlesque for the direct and supposedly serious telling of a story. There is an impossible scene between the confidence man and his host and hostess in which the latter attempts to get funds for his flight from the country—the police are now on his trail—and this is followed by a rather silly scene in which the old, neglected grandmother puts the fear of God into the girl's heart at the very moment when the rug is hers. So she packs up the counterfeit, throws up the job, and with even a better last act than shown the fat would have been in the fire.

What follows, however, is equally lacking in ingenuity or suspense, and there is a tame ending with a suggested flight by the lovers to Nome, where, fear of God or no fear, they will run a little casino of their own.

The play is not without an occasional amusing line, and it has some interesting moments. But the prime mistake has been that of the author in not taking his own subject seriously enough, or, at least, not seeming to do so. For in melodrama, even where it is labeled comedy, a suggested plausibility is the first essential. Much of the acting was admirable.

Miss Crews succeeded in giving a foreign color in speech and acting, and played both the humorous and tender passages with excellent variety and charm. Mr. Warner rather overemphasized the flippant side of the other crook, thereby making it a bit difficult to accept his passion as entirely genuine. But it was in other respects an able performance. Mr. Sydney Valentine had authority, as required, and Mr. James Bradbury provided an amusing figure, while Miss Ethel Winthrop rather overdid the Western mannerisms. There was a good study in character by Matthilde Cottrelly, a neat and attractive sketch by Jean Gallbraith, and sincerity under difficulties by Ada Dwyer, who, like the co-stars, was very warmly welcomed.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Arrangements were completed yesterday between Charles Dillingham and Marx & Gottlob, managers of the Columbia Theatre, San Francisco, for the appearance of Elsie Janis and Montgomery and Stone in "The Lady of the Slipper" during the entire Summer of 1915, at the time of the Panama Exposition.

The eighth annual Hippodrome Ball will be given by the attachés of the big playhouse on the evening of Jan. 14 at the Palm Garden, Fifty-eighth Street, near Lexington Avenue.

Pedro de Cordoba and Charles Rogers have been added to the cast of "Joseph and His Brethren," which opens at the Century Theatre on Saturday. The former will play Heru, the Egyptian, and Rogers Pesbes, the jester at Pharaoh's Court.

The Sigma Phi fraternity of Cloyne House School, at Newport, R. I., attended last night's performance of "The Lady of the Slipper," at the Globe.

George W. Piedeman, Mayor of Savannah, Ga., and a party of his friends, were guests of Arthur Hammerstein last night at the Casino Theatre, where they witnessed a performance of "The Firefly."

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mrs. J. Warren Goddard is giving two teas this week, the first to-day and the second on Saturday, from 4 to 7, at her residence, 52 East Fifty-seventh Street. Her step-granddaughter, Miss Annie C. Goddard, will receive with her, and some of the season's débutantes are to assist at the reception.

Count and Countess Jean de la Greze, J. P. Morgan, Mrs. Herbert Satterlee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doubleday Page, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Bourne, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Ives Plumb are among those sailing for Europe to-day on the Adriatic.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Keech of 12 East Fifty-second Street have returned from Greensboro, N. C. They plan to return to the South again in February.

Mrs. William Carroll Rafferty will give a luncheon at Sherry's on Saturday, Jan. 25, for Mrs. Thomas Barry, wife of Major Gen. Thomas Barry, Commander of the Department of the East.

Duc de Richelieu of Paris, who arrived on La Savoie and is on his way to Mexico, is at the Plaza.

Dr. and Mrs. John Blake White have leased their residence, 1,013 Madison Avenue, and will spend the remainder of the Winter at Hotel Ormond, Ormond Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bird, who have been the guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. Seward Webb at their country place in Vermont, have returned to the Hotel Gotham.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Sloane of Port Washington, L. I., are at the Waldorf-Astoria for a visit.

The fifth annual ball in aid of the New York Diet Kitchen Association is to be given this evening at the Plaza. The guests have been asked to come in costume.

The loan exhibition of oil paintings, under the auspices of the National Arts Club, will be opened to-day at the University Settlement building, 184 Eldridge Street, and will be open every evening for a fortnight.

A concert under fashionable patronage is to be given this afternoon at the Waldorf-Astoria for the benefit of the New York Orthopaedic Dispensary and Hospital. Miss Lucrezia Bori and Pasquale Amato of the Metropolitan Opera are among the artists.

Mrs. George Etheridge entertained Saturday night at 27 Fifth Avenue with a small dinner dance.

Mrs. Howard Carroll will give a dinner of thirty covers with music on Jan. 11, at her residence, 4 East Sixty-fourth Street.

The second of this season's junior cotillions will be danced to-night at Sherry's and several dinners will precede it. Mrs. Arthur Murray Dodge, assisted by some of the patronesses, will receive.

Mrs. James Colby Colgate has invitations out for a luncheon on Jan. 21 at the Riding Club for her débutante daughter, Miss Margaret Colgate.

Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer gave a dinner of fifty covers last night for her young son, Herbert Pulitzer, and her nephew, Worthington Davis, which was followed by a party to the play. All the guests were young people not yet out, and, as Mrs. Pulitzer is in mourning, Mrs. Ralph Pulitzer chaperoned the party.

Mrs. Eastman Johnson gave a large tea Sunday afternoon at 65 East Fifty-fifth Street.

Mrs. Philander Jennings entertained yesterday with a large bridge at the Renaissance, where she is spending the Winter.

Mrs. George R. Read will give a luncheon for her second daughter, Miss Fanny de Groot Hastings, to-day at Sherry's.

Mrs. Henry Seligman will give a luncheon of twenty-four covers on Thursday at her residence, 30 West Fifty-sixth Street, and also has invitations out for a dinner on Jan. 25.

EX-MAYOR CHAPIN MARRIES.

Former Brooklyn Executive Wedded to Mrs. Charles L. Montant.

The wedding of Mrs. Charlotte Storrs Montant, widow of Charles L. Montant, and Alfred C. Chapin, former Mayor of Brooklyn, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Wood, cousins of Mrs. Montant, at 31 Fifth Avenue.

The bride was unattended, and only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends were invited to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Mgr. McMackin, who was formerly attached to St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Mrs. Montant's first husband was of an old French family of this city. Mr. Chapin had been a widower for several years. He lives at 24 East Fifty-sixth Street. His only child, Mrs. William Beverly Rogers, and Mr. Rogers have made their home with him since the death of Mrs. Chapin, who was Miss Grace Stebbins before her marriage.

M. B. FLYNN OF YALE WEDS.

Star Football Player Married at City Hall to Miss Rena Leary.

Maurice Bennett Flynn, "Lefty" Flynn of Yale's football team, a star player of last Fall's games and a prominent athlete, was married yesterday afternoon to Miss Rena Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Leary of this city. The ceremony was performed at the City Hall by Alderman John McCann.

Mr. Flynn is 22 years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Flynn of 205 West Fifty-seventh Street. His father is Vice President of the Surety Company of 2 Rector Street. His bride is one year his senior.

DE FOUQUIERES LECTURES.

Takes Society Audience at Waldorf Along the Mediterranean.

Monsieur André de Fouquiéres appeared before a fashionable audience last night in the large ballroom at the Waldorf-Astoria in a "color conference," and took his audience along the Mediterranean. The views showed bits of Turkey with its mosques, the Golden Horn, and the Bosphorus, parts of Palestine, Tunis, Tripoli, and the Sahara Desert.

The conference was given under the auspices of the Loomis Sanatorium Guild, and the proceeds will be applied to the suport of free beds for consumptives at the annex.

The patronesses, many of whom were present, included Mrs. Henry M. Alexander, Mrs. Joseph S. Auerbach, Mrs. George F. Baker, Mrs. Walter F. Chappell, Mrs. Warren E. Dennis, Mrs. Hamilton Fish, Mrs. Joseph Frelinghuysen, Mrs. Edwin Gould, Mrs. Archer M. Huntington, Mrs. Henry B. Hyde, Mrs. Richard Irvin, Mrs. Dallas B. Pratt, Mrs. John Dyneley Prince, Mrs. Charles Robinson Smith, Mrs. James Speyer, Mrs. Moses Taylor, Mrs. Ormond G. Smith, Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, and Mrs. A. Murray Young.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley's Lecture.

"The Public Health Our Greatest National Asset," will be the subject of the lecture which Dr. Harvey W. Wiley will give at the Waldorf-Astoria on Saturday morning. This will be Dr. Wiley's first appearance in New York as a lecturer, and many in society are interested in his work. The lecture will be given under the patronage of Mrs. William M. Ivins, Mrs. J. Heron Crosman, Mrs. Louis J. Allen, Mrs. William J. Sloane, Miss Grace Strachan, and others.

Miss Bayly's Color Conference.

Miss Mura Bayly will give a Color Conference on "South Sea Fantasies" at Maxine Elliott's Theatre on Thursday at 3:30 P. M. Among the patrons and patronesses are Egerton L. Winthrop, Dr. William H. Maxwell, Mgr. Joseph F. Mooney, the Rev. Joseph F. Smith, Prof. H. Fairfield Osborn, Edward Robinson, Archer M. Huntington, Miss Sarah C. Hewitt, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mrs. E. R. Hewitt, Miss Lillian Wald, and Mrs. F. McNeil Bacon, Jr.

Mrs. Wilber C. Fisk Gives Musicale.

Mrs. Wilber Chapman Fisk entertained with tea and a musicale yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, for three hundred guests, at the St. Regis. The ball room and adjoining reception rooms were decorated with palms and flowers. Mrs. Edmund Dwight, Miss May Fisk, Mrs. Samuel Thurber, and Mrs. E. H. Allen assisted Mrs. Fisk in receiving. The artists were Mme. Beatrice Bowman, soprano, and Jaroslav Kocian, violinist.

Musical Morning Artists.

Mme. Clara Butt, English contralto; Miss Geraldine Farrar, and Kennerley Rumford sang at Mr. Bagby's musical morning yesterday at the Waldorf. Dr. William C. Carl was at the organ, and Mr. Rosenstein and Harold Craxton were at the piano. Mme. Butt sang Haendel's Rendi l'Sereno, and a group of English songs, among other things, and Miss Farrar sang Mozart's Alleuja, Bemberg's Valse, and several other numbers. Mr. Rumford, who is Mme. Butt's husband, sang a group of old Irish songs, and the programme closed with Thomas's duet, "Night Hymn at Sea," by Mme. Butt and Mr. Rumford.

THIRD AVE. TROLLEY RAMS IRON PILLAR

Conductor Pitched Into the Street and Not Expected to Survive Injuries.

DOZEN PASSENGERS HURT

Wet Rails Only Reason So Far Given for Derailment—Traffic Held Up for Forty Minutes.

A north-bound Third Avenue trolley car jumped the track at Twenty-ninth Street at 8:30 o'clock last night, and its momentum at the time was so great that it crashed into an elevated railroad pillar, injuring a dozen people who were in the car, in addition to the conductor, who is so badly injured that he is not expected to live. He is Arthur Hurley of 770 Third Avenue, and was taken to Bellevue suffering from a bad fracture of the skull.

The car, which was of the pay-as-you-enter type, was well filled with passengers, and Hurley was in his place on the rear platform when the accident occurred. When it was within about a dozen feet of the elevated railroad pillar on the upper corner of Twenty-ninth Streets it left the track. William Curley, the motorman, was powerless to do anything to bring the car to a stop before it crashed into the big iron pillar.

The passengers were thrown from their seats and piled in heaps on top of one another. Every glass in the car was broken and many of the passengers were cut about the face and hands by the flying fragments. Others were badly bruised and several suffered from shock.

Patrolman Cleary, who was the first policeman to reach the wreck, sent in a hurry call for ambulances from Bellevue Hospital, three blocks away. The ambulances came in a few minutes, and Dr. Ray ordered Hurley, the conductor, taken to the hospital. He had been thrown against the iron upright of the farebox and was then pitched into the street on his head.

Some of those who were injured were Anthony De Barto of 365 East 105th Street, who was cut about the head and body by glass; Walter Hennessy of 206 West Twenty-ninth Street, injured internally and cut about the head, and Francis Halligan of 246 East Twenty-first Street, who sustained cuts of the head and body.

After the injured had been attended to a preliminary investigation of the accident was made by the police. Curley, the motorman, said that the only reason for the derailment that he could think of was that the rails were wet. Traffic both ways was at a standstill for forty minutes.

TINA LERNER'S RECITAL.

A Young Russian Pianist Reappears After Four Years' Absence.

Miss Tina Lerner, a young Russian pianist, made her first appearance in New York four seasons ago, when she played with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, but without showing much more than a nimble and efficient finger technique. She returns now to New York and gave a recital yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall. She is somewhat further advanced in her art. Her finger technique, at any rate, is probably still more nimble and efficient than it was, but she is still far from a mature artist, and has some distance to go before she can give a real interpretation of Schumann's F sharp minor piano sonata, Op. 11, which was the most important number on her programme. In music that requires delicacy, smoothness, rippling runs, and graceful passages, with a tone of pleasing quality below the mezzo-forte, she produces agreeable effects.

The slow movement of the sonata she gave with a real charm and with repose. Some of the more tender episodes in the other movements of it had a similar charm. But of the fire of Spring that blazes through this composition, its romantic ardor, and leonine passion she has as yet little conception.

Miss Lerner made a choice from Chopin that showed her peculiar qualities advantageously, as in the Etude in C sharp minor from Op. 10 and the so-called "Butterfly" Etude fro mOp. 25. But the first was hardly "con fuoco," as the composer wished it; and in the G flat Etude from Op. 10, on the black notes, there was wanting the impetuous rhythmic pulse. The Nocturne in C sharp minor, Op. 48, No. 2, notwithstanding nicety of technique and tone, was sadly metronomic. Some would find in it a lack both of "rubato" and of "Zal."

Tausig's immensely brilliant "Valse Caprice" or Strauss's "Man lebt nur Einmal" might have been thought more in her line. It was indeed very neat, and all the runs and passages were most admirably played. But the piece should be irresistible in its rhythms and dazzle with electric sparks—which it didn't.

FUN OUT OF STAGE TRIALS.

A Musical Sketch by H. H. Winslow Is Well Received.

The trials of vaudeville artists are the subject of a funny musical sketch, written by Herbert Hall Winslow, which was produced for the first time at the Union Square Theatre yesterday as one of the features of a bill which included Adelaide Herrmann, widow of the magician; Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane, Belle Blanche, and other well-known performers.

The sketch was produced by Mary Ambrose, an English singer and violinist, and Mme. Brehany, a soprano whose voice has an unusually wide range. The sketch shows them in hard luck awaiting a visit from a manager, possibly with an engagement in his pocket, whom they aim to impress by being absorbed in a rehearsal. Instead of the manager the furniture installment man calls and removes their few possessions while they sing. However, it all turns out well in the end. The singers received much applause and several recalls.

"WAY DOWN EAST" RETURNS

Old Play of Rural Scenes Fills the Broadway Theatre.

"Way Down East," the hardy perennial play, proved to have enough attraction to fill the Broadway Theatre last night, when it was presented there at popular prices for a two weeks' engagement. All the barnyard beasts that have been a feature of the play were duly provided, and the village choir was found to have grown from a quartet to eight members. The humor of Hi Holler, the chore boy, seemed to have as much power to take with the audience as when it was originally invented by Lottie Blair Perker and "'elaborated," as the programme says, by Joseph R. Grismer.

In the part of Anna Moore, with which the late Phoebe Davies had been so long identified, Blanche Shirley appeared. She proved an acceptable figure in the role. Robert Fisher played Squire Bartlett, and Earl O. Schenck was his son David. C. H. Carlton was Hi Holler, and Ida Ellis was the Squire's niece. Others who appeared were Beth Summerville, H. H. Forsman, Glenn Anders, Jane Millard, Frank Bell, James Galloway, and George Wender.

VERDI'S "OTELLO" GIVEN.

First Performance This Season with Slezak, Amato, and Mme. Alda.

Otello	Leo Slezar
Iago	Pasquale Amato
Cassio	Angelo Bada
Roderigo	Pietro Audisio
Lodovico	Andrea de Segurola
Montano	Vincenzo Reschiglan
Un Araldo	Bernard Begue
Desdemona	Frances Alda
Emilia	Jeanne Maubourg

Conductor, Arturo Toscanini.

Verdi's "Otello" was given for the first time this season at the Metropolitan Opera House last evening, after a postponement of a week, owing to the illness of Mr. Slezak. For the last three seasons "Otello" has been an important item in the repertory of the Metropolitan Opera House. Mr. Toscanini conducted the revival of the great tragedy, that the present management effected in the season of 1909 and 1910, and has conducted all the subsequent performances, evidently with great predilection, and no doubt, the retention of the work in the lists at the opera house is in large measure due to his admiration for it.

The opera is twenty-six years old this year, and the large audience that witnessed the performance last evening may be taken as an indication that it is advancing in the favor of music, as it deserves, as one of the greatest of the modern Italian operas, but which it has been slow in gaining for itself.

The conducting of Mr. Toscanini assured the finest reproduction of this extremely dramatic and extremely poetical score in all the things that lie within his control. In Mr. Slézak there is an Othello of wonderful plentitude, sometimes almost excess, of voice; an impersonation of dramatic power and energy, a superb and dominating figure. He showed no traces last evening of his disabling illness, either in voice or action. In Mr. Amato there is likewise an Iago appropriately embodying the character that Verdi and Boito together have so successfully carried over from Shakespeare into the lyric drama whose singing is admirable. Mme. Alda is in nothing else quite so successful as she is in this opera as Desdemona. Her vocal art is not a model and her singing is marred by unsteadiness of tone; but there are scenes that she sings in other respects well and enacts with true pathos. The rest of the cast is less satisfactory; the Cassio of Mr. Bada especially leaves something to be desired, and Mme. Maubourg's singing of Emilia is the least excellent feature of her performance.

The performance last evening was of overflowing energy and in many passages of profound impressiveness. It again enforced the fact that of all who have attempted operas based upon the dramas of Shakespeare, Verdi and his faithful collaborator, Arrigo Boito, alone have succeeded in really embodying and interpreting their spirit, and giving something other than a perversion and a travesty of them, in "Otello" and "Falstaff." It is only a few weeks since one of the most dreary and pitiful of these perversions was presented on the stage of the Metropolitan, in Thomas's "Hamlet," and with all the cloying beauty of Gounod's music to "Romeo et Juliette" there is never any question in the minds of intelligent lovers of Shakespeare how far his French librettists led him away from the real essence, the true significance, of the great love tragedy.

Frank Tinney Again in Vaudeville.

Frank Tinney appeared as the headliner at Hammerstein's Victoria yesterday. He was welcomed back to vaudeville by a large crowd. Another featured act on the bill was the presentation by Taylor Granville and Laura Pierpont of a one-act play in three scenes, "The System," which exploited the police and the underworld. It proved to be old-time melodrama, with the dictograph as a novelty, but there could be no doubt that the audience enjoyed it after the way the hero and heroine were applauded and the villain roundly hissed at the close. Other acts on the bill were Ching Ling Foo and his troupe of Chinese acrobats, "The Fifteen Honey Girls," with Freeman and Dunham; the Visions d'Art, Andy Rice, Ben Linn, the Gregoria-Elmina company, and Al Edwards.

WEEK'S BILL AT THEATRES.

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre has for the week as its principal feature acts Stella Mayhew and Billee Taylor, Zelda Sears, and Maurice and Florence Walton. The former appears in new songs and character changes. Miss Sears presents "The Wardrobe woman," a playlet of stage life by Edgar Allen Woolf, while Maurice and his partner appear in dances a la cabaret. Others on the bill are McKay and Cantwell, the Broadway Boys, Frosini, Clara Inge, Redford and Winchester, Burley and Burley, and Harry de Coe.

Eva Tanguay is the star of the B. F. Keith Colonial Theatre bill. She wears some startlingly original costumes. May Tully and company are seen in the comedy of Reno divorce life entitled "The Battle Cry of Freedom." Others to be seen include Bert Levy, the cartoonist; James F. Kelly and Emma Pollock in "Ginger Snaps"; Nina Morris and company in the one-act drama, "The Yellow Peril"; Corelli and Gillette, the Lozano troupe of tight wire performers; John Romano and Joe Briglio, and the Marlo trio of gymnasts.

The Alhambra Theatre has a bill headed by Bertha Kalich and company in a dramatic play, "A Light from St. Agnes." Ida Brooks Hunt and Cheridah Simpson are heard in operatic selections. Other acts are Mack and Orth in "The Wrong Hero," Bixley and Lerner, the Four Athletas, the Sully family in "The Information Bureau," H. T. MacConnell as "The President of the 13 Club," John Geiger with his violin, Cartmell and Harris, the Dolce Sisters, Madge P. Maitland in song selections, and the Three Gladenbecks, pantomimic gymnasts.

B. F. Keith's Bronx Theatre has for the week a bill headed by Mme. Olga Petrova in "Comedy and Tragedy." Kathryn Kidder is seen in "The Washerwoman Duchess." Other acts include Gertrude Vanderbilt and George Moore in songs and dances, Conroy and Lemaire in "The New Physician," Wilbur Mack and Nella Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy in "Clancy's Ghost," Adolph Zink, S. FRENCH CENTRE AT COLUMBIA

House at 411 West 117th Street Selected—Prof. Jackson Resigns.

A selection of a house for the Maison Francaise, the funds for the establishment of which were presented to Columbia through an anonymous donor, was announced yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Trustees of Columbia University. The University, under a gift of $30,000, will turn the house at 411 West 117th Street into a centre for the study of French civilization and French literature, and the upper floors will be arranged for the accommodation of visiting French professors.

Gifts to the amount of $22,355 were announced. Of these the largest was $8,000 for the equipment of a Precision Laboratory for Physical Research in the Department of Physics, from Edward D. Adams, of New York. The laboratory will be known as the Ernest Kempton Adams Precision Laboratory. The remaining gifts were:

Germanistic Society of America, to be added to the endowment fund of the Deutsches Haus, $5,000.

Anonymous donor for surgical research, $2,500.

American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company for the maintenance of a special research fellowship in Chemical Engineering, $2,000.

From several donors, including Edward D. Adams, Hugo Reisinger, and Herman Ridder, for the equipment of the Deutsches Haus, $1,755.

Anonymous donor, to be added to the Legislative Drafting Research Fund, $500.

Mrs. James W. Gerard, for the maintenance of the Marcus Daly Scholarship for 1912-13, $1,000.

National Advertising Managers, for a research fellowship in the psychology of advertising, $600.

Vacancies in the offices and standing committees for the year 1913 were filled as follows:

Chairman, George L. Rives; Clerk, John B. Pine; Committee on Finance, Francis S. Bangs, to succeed M. Hartley Dodge; Committee on Buildings and Grounds, John B. Pine, to succeed B. Aymar Sands, and Benjamin B. Lawrence, to succeed Willard V. King; Committee on Honors, George L. Rives, to succeed W. Barclay Parsons; Committee on Education, Frederic R. Coudert, to succeed Benjamin B. Lawrence.

Dr. George T. Jackson, Professor of Dermatology at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, offered his resignation.

FELLED BY WIND AND DIED.

C. N. Jones, Statistician, Was President of Psychical Research Society.

C. N. Jones, President of the New York Society of Psychical Research and actuary of the Equitable Life Assurance Company, died Sunday in a private hospital in this city from acute dilation of the heart. Last Friday he was blown off his feet by the wind while walking near his residence in West End Avenue. He was picked up unconscious and carried home. The shock caused an attack of acute indigestion, followed by an affection of the heart.

Mr. Jones was born in Saratoga County, N. Y., sixty-two years ago and was educated at Oberlin College, Ohio, and at Ann Arbor. He first became interested in the psychic world through his friendship with Prof. Hyslop. Mr. Jones's own investigations made him well known among persons interested in the subject, and he was recently elected President of the New York Society.

Before his connection with the Equitable, Mr. Jones filled a similar position with the Northwestern Life Assurance Company of Milwaukee. Before that time he had been Professor of Mathematics in the University of Michigan. He was regarded as one of the most expert statisticians in the country, and in recent years he was frequently consulted by large corporations in many lines of business. Mr. Jones left a wife.

STUDENTS WANT WILLCOX.

Petition for His Reappointment with 500 Signatures Goes to Sulzer.

A petition for the reappointment of William R. Willcox as Chairman of the Public Service Commission has been signed by 500 students of the School of Commerce, Accounts, and Finance of the University of New York and Dean Johnson of the Faculty and forwarded to Gov. Sulzer. It refers to the faithful service of Chairman Willcox as a public official and to the needs of the city in regard to rapid transit. It also urges on the Governor the importance of keeping the public Service Commission as a non-political body.

Chairman Willcox is a Republican, and it is presumed that if he is displaced on Feb. 1, when his term expires, he will be succeeded by a Democrat. At present there are three Dmocrats on the Board—Commissioners Maltbue, Cram, and Williams.

The memorial to the Governor, signed by Mayor Gaynor, Borough President McAneny, and other members of the Board of Estimate in favor of the reappointment of Chairman Willcox, is likely to be sent to Albany to-day.

ERNESTUS S. GULICK DIES.

Well-Known Real Estate Operator a Victim of Pneumonia.

Ernestus Schenck Gulick, head of the Ernestus Gulick Company, President of the Hempstead South Company, the Long Island Estates, and Vice President of the Garden City Estates, died yesterday from pneumonia, at his home, the Wilbraham Apartments, 1 West 30th Street.

Mr. Gulick was born in Pekin, Ill., on March 24, 1865. He came to this city in 1883, and opened a real estate office in Brooklyn. From this small beginning he built up a great business. Besides the Long Island real estate projects, which involve millions of dollars, Mr. Gulick put through some of the biggest land deals in the downtown section of Brooklyn. Some of the deals include the acquisition of property for Frederick Loeser & Co., Abraham & Straus, Arbuckle Brothers, and the Montauk Theatre.

During his residence in Brooklyn Mr. Gulick was identified with the Twenty-third Regiment. He served for several years in that regiment and was for ten years Commissary of Subsistence, on the Second Brigade Staff, with the rank of Major.

SAVANNAH GETS BIG AUTO RACES

Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize Events to be Run Over Southern Course.

That Savannah will be the scene of the next contests for the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix automobile races, the blue ribbon events in the motor world, was announced yesterday by Harvey Granger, the representative of the Savannah Automobile Club, after a conference with the Motor Cups Holding Company.

While the exact dates for the two events were not set, it is generally conceded that they will be decided between Nov. 1, 1913, and Feb. 23, 1914.

It was stated that the Contest Committee of the Holding Company had received Mr. Granger in most cordial fashion and that both events had been awarded Savannah without stipulation or opposition. It is not said that any other applications had been made for the right to hold races, and it is generally conceded by men who are interested in the sport that the sanction will meet with the approval of all close followers of the game.

Mr. Granger further stated that the Savannah course could be shortened to about ten miles, and that on the days of the races it would be policed by Georgia State Militiamen in order to prevent accidents to spectators. He also stated that the course was now in fine condition and could be made ready for the contests in forty-eight hours.

In order to arrange for a successful series of events it was said that the Automobile Club of America and the Savannah Club will immediately begin work toward getting a large number of foreign entries to compete.

The Vanderbilt was originally contested over the course on Long Island, and had its first setting away from the vicinity of New York over the Milwaukee course last year, but various conditions combined to put difficulties in the way of the promotors to the end that among local enthusiasts nothing but expressions are heard favorable to the Southern course as against that in the West.

The minimum entry list for each event must be twelve cars, and the Savannah Club is granted permission to reduce the length of the course to eight miles. If this is done the long stretches, however, will be maintained in order to enable the cars to make fast speed, and at the same time afford better protection for the spectators. The same military patrol will be provided, as in the case of the previous races held at Savannah.

Probably the most successful races held in connection with the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize Contest were conducted over the Savannah course, and Georgia is one of the first States in the country where the military acts as patrol for the course. This latter fact had much to do in deciding the cup officials, as one of the most stringent rules of the American Automobile Association Contest Board is that the management of the races must provide full protection for the course and furnish militiamen for that purpose.

In announcing the preliminary plans Secretary Arthur W. Soloman last night said committees would be appointed at once and every effort made to obtain a satisfactory number of entries for each event by Oct. 1, 1913. Should the committee fail to obtain the minimum the two races will be postponed until February, 1914.

The various commercial bodies and municipal authorities of Savannah are working in co-operation with the Savannah Automobile Club.

The following attended yesterday's meeting: Henry Sanderson, former President of the Automobile Club of America; Colgate Hoyt and Mr. Anderson, representing the Motor Cups Holding Company; President Harvey Granger, Vice-President, Oliver T. Bacon and Secretary Arthur W. Soloman, Savannah Automobile Club; Commissioner J. Ward Motte and Alderman R. M. Howe, representing Savannah.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 6.—Hearing that the representatives of Savannah, Ga., had arranged for a conference in New York to-morrow whereby they hoped to take the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix automobile races to the Southern city this year, a message was sent to W. K. Vanderbilt last night by a committee of Milwaukee business men asking that the hearing be postponed until they could be represented. The Milwaukee men announced their determination to make a strong protest before the contest committee against taking the races away from the Wisconsin city. It is claimed by the Milwaukee men that they should be given a chance to show that they can properly conduct the races, and that last year's trouble was due to the weather.

AUTO SALON TO PHILADELPHIA.

Hotel Astor Exhibit to be in Show Beginning Jan. 19.

It was learned last night that the ninth annual Importers' Automobile Salon, now in progress at the Hotel Astor, will make a journey, practically as a unit, for the first time in its history. Seven of the ten exhibitors have agreed to put their cars on view in Philadelphia, where an automobile show, including the members of the Salon and about twenty leading American makes, will open on Jan. 19 in the First Regiment Armory. It is believed that the novel feature of a show within a show will prove unusually attractive, and also that the citizens of other cities in addition to New York should have an opportunity to see the fine examples of mechanical design and of beautiful body work which the imported cars embody.

At yesterday's session of the Salon there were a number of so-called purchasing visitors. Among them was A. P. Ordway, who bought his sixth car of one make. Others who came to see the cars were ex-Gov. John A. Dix, H. S. Harkness, who does not make a secret of the fact that he is likely to return to the racing game, and E. D. Morgan of Wheatley Hills.

Two cars already have been entered for the 500-mile race to be run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on Memorial Day. This year the $50,000 prize will be divided into ten prizes, instead of twelve as last year, as follows: First, $20,000; second, $10,000; third, $5,000; fourth, $3,500; fifth, $3,000; sixth, $2,200; seventh, $1,800; eighth, $1,600; ninth, $1,500; tenth, $1,400.

DEMAND CHEAPER GASOLINE.

Garage Owners Protest Against Latest Three-Cent Increase.

Garage owners are up in arms against the increased price of gasoline, and at a meeting yesterday at Reisenweber's, Fifty-eighth Street and Eighth Avenue, went on record as protesting against the recent action of the oil companies in adding three cents per gallon to the wholesale price. It is feared that unless some concerted action is adopted by the garage owners, manufacturers, dealers, and auto owners, gasoline will soon reach the prohibitive price of 25 cents a gallon. Fifty-five members of the New York Garage Association attended the meeting, and speeches were made by President Lewis J. Joscelin, W. Burrowes, Charles H. Potter, Morris Seigel, and C. T. Radiker.

In view of the near approach of the auto show it was decided that the whole automobile industry be invited to take some official action looking for relief for the auto owner, on whom the extra cost falls.

It was also decided to fight the ordinance recommended by the Fire Department compelling garage owners to install gasoline separators. It was stated that the cost of $400 to $600 to each garage was not warranted, as the separator did not answer the purposes intended.

Schoolboys to Swim for Titles.

The first annual interscholastic swimming championships will be held at Princeton, N. J., Saturday, Feb. 15, under the auspices of Princeton University Athletic Association. The events to be decided are: Fifty yards, 100 yards, and 220 yards swim, plunge for distance, fancy diving, and 800-foot relay race for teams of four men each. Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded to first, second, and third men in each event, and a championship banner will go to the school scoring the highest total of points. Entries close Feb. 1 with F. J. Smith, manager of swimming, Princeton University.

VIEWS ON YALE COACHING.

Former Captains Express Opinions on Proposed One Coach System.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 6.—Yale's former football Captains are united in favoring the new system of a paid graduate coach, which was announced to-day by Capt. Ketcham. Several stated their views in The Yale Daily News to-day.

Henry Wheaton, Annapolis coach, said: "Personally, I am dead against any older graduate coming back to be head field coach, for the reason that there is no one man big enough for the job. I may be wrong, but I would deem it a favor if some one would inform me where this 'one-man' idea has made good."

Carl Flanders, 1904, said: "I am in favor of Mr. Camp as advisory coach, Foster Sanford as head coach, and Dr. Bull as kicking coach. I believe it is a condition and not a theory that confronts us. We have got away from the football of the eighties, and we have got to get back to fundamentals."

L. H. Bigelow, 3d, 1908, said: "My scheme would be this: A committee of five men picked by the Captain. This committee is to act in an advisory capacity, with Mr. Camp as master of strategy, for every one knows that he is the greatest football strategist that ever we have had. Then I would have a field coach, who is to have charge of teaching the fundamentals of Yale football, and the man for that job is Foster Sanford."

Jesse Spalding, 1913, said: "I am for a committee of five men, the Captain to be supreme in choosing them, and the next year's Captain to have the right to choose again if he wants to. And I think that Howard Jones would be a good man for the job of head coach, if Mr. Camp is Chairman of the committee, working in an advisory way."

Walter Camp, Sr., said: "I am inclined to think that we have come to the point where the Advisory Committee and a paid head coach is or would be the most effective system. I am a great believer in Mr. Hinkey. I saw him play the game, saw him develop, and I think that he has football talent and brains."

Capt. Ketcham said that he would not announce his committee of five for several days yet, but that Walter Camp would be one. They will name the paid graduate coach later. He will probably be either Foster Sanford, Howard Jones, or Frank Hinkey.

HARVARD ATHLETES OUT.

'Varsity and Freshmen Track Men Begin Outdoor Training.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 6.—Capt. J. B. Cummings of the Harvard track team called out the 'Varsity and freshmen candidates to-day, the first work of the season being done on the board track erected on historic Holmes Field, near the college yard.

Harvard expects to enter many men in the various indoor carnivals this Winter, and particularly in the games of the Boston Athletic Association on Feb. 8. At these games Harvard will send a one-mile relay team against Princeton and a two-mile team against Yale. There will be a veteran team of quarter-milers for the Princeton race, Barron and O'Brien being two of the best men, and Adams, a substitute last year, is expected to prove strong. For the two-mile relay Warren and Koch are fast, and Harvey Lawless, Captain of the cross-country team, also is expected to show speed in a relay of half a mile.

Donovan began work with his sprinters to-day, but another assistant coach will have to be found for the hurdlers and the field event men. William Quinn, who has developed some splendid men for all these events, is unable to coach because of poor health.

The freshmen material looked good. The class will soon have a relay race against Yale. William Bingham of Exeter, who was a very fast half-miler as a schoolboy, is expected to be elected Captain of the freshmen, for whom he will run, although the distance will be only a quarter of a mile. In the coming games Trainer Donovan will use his fastest men in the relays, but will send a large entry into every other event.

STUMPF'S ATHLETIC POLICY.

Registration Head Favors Secret Methods on Committee Matters.

On the eve of the opening of the ballots in the election for two more members of the Metropolitan Association A. A. U. Registration Committee, comes the notice by the chairman of the present committee of three, Jacob W. Stumpf, that the greater the contention that open sessions should be held, the stronger will be his opposition to such a system, and that he will argue for only such particulars as he desires to be given out.

The Registration Committee is comprised of duly elected delegates from the clubs of the Metropolitan Association, the purpose of which is to forward the interests of amateur athletics in New York State; in Connecticut, south of Hartford and between here and Trenton, N. J.

Mr. Stumpf's attitude does not meet with universal favor among the many other governors of amateur sport, and they are of the opinion that an open and above board policy would be more beneficial to the game and would tend to accomplish the objects of government better than a vacillating and misstating course.

The attention of members of the committee has been drawn to cases within their jurisdiction, the rules warranting action by them "upon common report, which they may consider sufficient basis for suspension or disqualification," but no action has been taken as far as known.

In their latest "case," where the members of the committee sat in judgment over a matter, to use their words, "over which we have no jurisdiction," it was presented to their notice that two men, registered amateurs, had taken prizes not permitted by the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union, but nothing was forthcoming in the way of action against these men, despite the fact that the committee had but recently suspended indefinitely, according to Mr. Stumpf, William Powers, of the Irish-American A. C., for being instrumental in less the giving of prizes not in accordance with the condition under which the sports series was sanctioned.

SWEDEN'S KING GIVES MEDALS

American Athletic Leaders Each Receive Testimonial.

Seven of the chief workers for the United States in helping to promote the recent Olympic games in Sweden have just been awarded medals from the King of Sweden. These are James E. Sullivan, United States Commissioner to the sports; Col. Robert M. Thompson, President of the American Olympic Committee; Gustavus Town Kirby, President of the Amateur Athletic Union; Bartow S. Weeks, Treasurer of the American Committee; Matthew P. Halpin, manager of the team, and Joseph B. Maccabe of Boston and Everett C. Brown of Chicago, former Presidents of the A. A. U.

In an endeavor to show his appreciation of the work of these men through their affiliation with the organization of the forces, his Majesty, King Gustave V., has sent to them through the medium of the Swedish Legation at Washington medals and diplomas as testimonials, the information being conveyed in the following letter to each from the Secretary of the Legation, C. Bonde:

"Since it has pleased his Majesty, the King of Sweden, to confer upon you his medal commemorative of the fifth Olympiad in Stockholm, 1912, I beg to transmit to you said medal and diploma."

Catcher Jack Boyle Dead.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 6.—Jack Boyle, who at the age of 17 years became the chief catcher of the Cincinnati Red Legs in 1886, and who retired from baseball in 1898, died at his home in this city to-night. Boyle played one season with the Reds, and was then traded to the St. Louis Browns, where in 1887 he caught eighty-seven straight games. Comiskey took him from St. Louis as the mainstay of his catching department of the Chicago Brotherhood team, and took him to Chicago in 1891. When Comiskey became affiliated with the St. Louis Club Boyle went with him. When the trouble between the association and the National League came up in 1892, New York bartered for the release of Boyle. At the end of the year the Philadelphia National League Club secured his services, and he remained with this team until [illegible] retired from the game in 1898. He returned to this city then and engaged in the saloon business.

MATURO WINS FIRST 200 POINTS IN POOL

Champion De Oro in See-Saw Contest with Challenger in First Night's Play.

James Maturo of Denver defeated Alfredo De Oro, the pool champion, last night at Doyle's Billiard Academy in the first 200-point block of a three nights' 600-point pool match by a score of 200 to 189. It was a nip and tuck battle all the way, and the lead see-sawed between the contestants several times. Maturo took the long chances, and made several spectacular combination shots, which took him out of embarrassing difficulties. De Oro's game was safe and sure, but he failed to make the dashing finish which would carry him to the front in the first night's play.

The exciting moment of play came in the twenty-ninth frame, when the score stood Maturo 190 and De Oro 189. The champion had an excellent chance to clear the table, but missed an easy shot on the 10 ball in a corner pocket. Maturo, benefiting by the champion's mistake, ran off ten balls and won the first night's block by a narrow margin.

De Oro took the lead in the third frame and stayed in front for only two frames, when Maturo went to the front. Maturo maintained his lead until the fourteenth frame, when De Oro pocketed the balls with daring ease, and assumed the lead again. The Denver player then showed his willingness to solve unusual combinations and brought forth the applause from the crowded gallery by choosing difficult shots and shooting in balls which seemed to be in impossible positions.

Of the two players De Oro displayed the coolest attitude under fire, and toward the end of the match it looked as if he had his opponent at a disadvantage, but the Denver player surprised him with his quick ability to drive into the pockets from exceptional combinations, and De Oro was plainly puzzled at Maturo's chances.

De Oro was undismayed at Maturo's excellent shooting, for there was no doubt that the Westerner was playing in top-notch form, and in the twenty-third frame the champion pocketed eleven balls and went to the fore.

Maturo played cautiously after that, and in the twenty-fourth frame had the balls rolling to his liking and cleared the table. Maturo carried off the honors for the high run, and in the fifteenth and sixteenth frames made a continuous run of 28. The champion's high run was 21, made in the fourth, fifth, and sixth frames.

The cueists played under the new rules whereby the last ball was left free and the other fourteen were framed. This rule made the game faster and more interesting. The closeness of the play kept the large gallery interested, and right up to the end it looked like a toss-up. De Oro, usually at his best under fire and in a tight situation, completely missed his chance in the twenty-ninth frame, and when only one point behind had an excellent opportunity to clear the table, when he missed the simplest kind of a shot and gave Maturo his chance to make a run of 10 and win the match. The score by frames:

James Maturo—9 4 10 8 0 6 10 10 14 8 12 4 7 0 14 14 5 6 0 0 1 14 3 14 14 1 7 1 10—200.

BILLIARDS AND POOL.

Edward N. Carr, the octogenarian billiard player, finished his string of contests in the three-cushion carrom tournament being decided under the direction of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players at Paul's Academy, 125th Street and Seventh Avenue. Carr won five and lost fourteen games in playing the other contestants who are engaged in preparatory play for the National championship tournament to be decided later. In several of his games the elderly enthusiast won by a single point. Among those whom he defeated is George A. Bender, who is near the top of the list; George L. Dann, and Jack Sachs. There is a change in the leadership as Edward M. Marshall has lost only two of the fifteen games he has played, and he displaces Alfred Isenburger, who has dropped into a tie with E. Z. Parker for third place, each having won eleven and lost three games. Strangely enough Marshall, the leader, lost one of his games to Morris Metzger, who is tail-ender, and this victory is the only one to his credit. The standing of the players:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Edward M. Marshall	13	2	.866
S. M. Rosenfield	5	1	.833
E. Z. Parker	11	3	.785
A. Isenburger	11	3	.785
Sim Stearns	9	3	.750
George A. Bender	9	5	.642
Charles Ohmann	9	5	.642
Walter Roberts	11	7	.611
Juvet Andre	6	4	.600
L. Kornicker	7	7	.500
Harry V. Meagher	9	10	.473
George A. Baldwin	5	6	.454
E. Miller	5	7	.416
A. Siegel	5	10	.333
M. Siegel	3	7	.300
George L. Dann	3	8	.272

Morris Metzger	1	13	.071

The final game of the amateur handicap three-cushion carrom billiard tournament at the Broadway Billiard Academy, Sixty-fifth Street and Broadway, was decided last night. The contestants were Tony Rossi and Walter Jewell, who had both been tied for second place, each having won five games and lost three. Both were playing for sixteen points, and after thirty-six innings of close playing, Rossi was returned the victor by the score of 16 to 13. Rossi made a high run of three points, while Jewell's best efforts netted him a run of two. The first three participants in the tournament and their standing follows: Thomas Thompson, won 6 and lost 2; Tony Rossi, won 5 and lost 3; Walter Jewell, won 5 and lost 4.

In last night's game of the amateur Class B 18.2 balk line billiard tournament at the Morningside Billiard Academy, 125th Street and Lenox Avenue, William J. Franzer defeated William Canady by the score of 150 to 133 in fifty-nine innings. The winner made a high run of 12 points and avaraged 2 32-59. Canady had a high run of 22 points, with an average of 2 15-59.

On Thursday night Ora Morningstar, the holder of the title of world's champion at 18.1 balk-line billiards, will begin a 500-point contest with George Sutton, a former champion, at Pittsburgh. It is the first time in the history of the game that the world's championship match has been decided in the Smoky City. The winner of the match will carry off the entire gate receipts, a side wager of $500, and a diamond trophy emblematic of the championship. The match is attracting considerable interest, not only in Pittsburgh but in New York and other billiard centres. It is expected that the winner will immediately be challenged by Willie Hoppe, winner of the 18.2 balk-line title at the Hotel Astor recently, and a former holder of the 18.1 title.

Leechin a Billiard Victor.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 6.—Stanley Leechin of this city defeated Charles McCourt of Pittsburgh by a score of 50 to 38 in a three-cushion billiard game here to-night under the auspices of the National Billiard League. Eighty-six innings were required, and each player made a high run of five.

Start of Hockey League Season.

The St. Nicholas and Hockey Club teams, in the first game of the series for the championship of the Amateur Hockey League, will be the attraction to-night at the St. Nicholas Rink. Since the Hockey Club team has been strengthened by several former members of the New York A. C. seven, including Capt. Castleman, there is a possibility of it finishing the season in the lead. To-night's game with the strong Santa Claus team will determine its chances, however. To-morrow night Yale and Columbia will play their first game in the intercollegiate series at the St. Nicholas Rink.

Coach Stagg to Seek Health in South

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago announced to-day that he would immediately go to Florida on account of his health. The announcement was a severe blow to athletic representatives at the University, although they were not altogether surprised. It is said that the veteran trainer has not fully recovered from the illness which was the reason for him spending last winter in South Carolina. Coach Stagg announced, however, that he would go to New York for the Winter meeting of the National Football Rules Committee.

Added Events for Pastime Games.

In anticipation of the games of the Pastime Athletic Club, which will be held in the Armory of the Twenty-second Regiment, Jan. 28, President John P. Boyle, of the Brazilian Cross organization yesterday announced that the Sports Committee of the club had decided to add the following events to the list at the annual games of the club: 880-yard run, closed to the Church Athletic League, and a medley relay race of 1¾ miles, with the various men to run 220 yards, 440 yards, 880 yards, and one mile, open to the smaller athletic clubs, Church Athletic League, Catholic Athletic League, Sunday School Athletic League, Intersettlement Athletic League, and Young Men's Christian Association.

NAMED FOR 1915 FUTURITY.

Increased Number of Nominations Over Last Two Years.

With many of the breeders still to be heard from, the nominations that have been received for the 1915 running of the Futurity of the Coney Island Jockey Club, shows a large increase over those received for the 1913 and the 1914 runnings. For 1913 there were 414 nominations, for 1914 there were 391, while for 1915, with the assurance that they have not all yet been received, the number has reached 507.

The number of breeders who have made nominations has also increased. The entries that have been received came from seventy-one different breeders, while in 1914 three were but forty-six different breeders represented. This is a positive proof that the breeding of the thoroughbred horse is still thriving, despite the disastrous inroads that have been made on the stock by the foreign exportations.

John E. Madden is the heaviest individual nominator, having named 106 mares. H. T. Oxnard of Virginia comes next with fifty-four, and August Belmont, Chairman of The Jockey Club, has named forty-nine. Of these the famous English sire is represented by Lady Bedford in the Madden lot, while twenty-two of the Belmont mares are in foal to the sire of Tracery, winner of the Two Thousand Guineas. In his lot some of those sent to Rock Sand are Astoria, Black Poplar, Donna de Oro, Fairy Gold, Lady Violet, St. Priscilla, Teas Over, and Woodvine.

Of the other prominent breeders to make entries, Harry Payne Whitney is represented by 21; Johnson N. Camden, 19; Catesby Woodford, 19; E. R. Bradley and A. B. Hancock, 14 each; Barney Schreiber, 13; Parker Whitney, 12, and J. B. Haggin, 10. Mrs. Payne Whitney, who races under the name of the Greentree Stable, is represented with two nominations, and Mrs. Lily A. Livingston has five named. Capt. E. B. Cassatt has nine of his mares named, and Thomas Fortune Ryan, who races under the name of the Oakridge Farm, is represented by five bred at his place. Charles Kohler, who races an extensive string in France, and campaigns under the name of the Ramapo Stock Farm, has named eight, principally the get of his own stallions. George D. Widener, Jr., of Philadelphia has nominated nine, and Richard T. Wilson, President of the Saratoga Association, has eight eligibles.

The stallions represented are: Aeronaut, Armeath II., Allowmaise, Astronomer, Ben Brush, Broomstick, Burgomaster, Bryn Mawr, Bearcatcher, Boxinter, Cunard, yclades, Charles Edward, Countless, Celt, Chuctanunda, Clifford, Dalhousie, English Lad, Ellisdale, Fair Play, Factor, Fayette, Glorifier, Golden Maxim, Gay Boy, Galveston, Garry Herrmann, Hamburg, Hastings, Helmet, Heno, Hilarious, Hessian, Ildrim, Ivan the Terrible, Isidor, Jack Point, Jack Atkin, Jesse James, Kingston, Knight of the Thistle, King Hanover, King James, Luck and Charity, Luke Ward, Marta Santa, Monscier de L'Orme, Master Robert, Mohawk II., L'Orme, Master Robert, Mohawk 2d, Migraine, Ornament, Ogden, Oiseau, Ormondale, Peep o' Day, Peter Pan, Plaudit, Peter Quince, Prince of Melbourne, Rock Sand, Rockton, Rightful, Start Shoot, Stalwart, Singleton, Sain, Statesman, Sea King, Sir John Johnson, Samson, Sir Wilfred, Trap Rock, The Picket, Transvaal, Voter, Von Tromp, Waterboy, Watercress, and Waterloo.

COFFEY WINS HARD BOUT.

Dick Peters Puts Up Good Battle Against Harlem Boxer.

In one of the hardest fought boxing bouts that has been staged at the Olympic A. C. of Harlem in many months Jimmy Coffey of Harlem gained the honors over Dick Peters of the west side in ten rounds last night. Peters made a strong rally in the closing round, but fell short of evening up the advantage which Coffey had gained after the fifth round.

Coffey weighed in at 135 pounds and Peters was a half pound lighter. Peters started off at a clip that promised to leave Coffey far in the background, and during the first two rounds he had the Harlem lightweight backing up under his rapid fire of blows. Peters showed good judgment of distance and landed hard and often on Coffey's face, at the same time cleverly evading the swings of the latter. In the third round Coffey began to find himself, and he clearly outpointed Peters. The fourth round was even, and the fifth belonged to Coffey. Both rounds were full of action from bell to bell and the crowd was in an uproar throughout. Peters brought blood from Coffey's nose in one of the early rounds and the Harlemite appeared as if badly beaten, but he was as strong as when he started.

With the fifth round closed honors were about even, but in the next three rounds Coffey outboxed Peters, although he had to travel at top speed to gain the honors. In the ninth, which was also featured by considerable action, there was little to choose between the work of the two boys. Both cut loose in the tenth for a final rally and they worked like Trojans from bell to bell, with the honors in favor of Peters. Coffey, however, was entitled to the honors because of his superior boxing from the fourth to the ninth round. Neither scored a knockdown and both were strong at the finish.

The ten-round semi-final between Dave Cronin and "Special Delivery" Hirsch furnished as much excitement and almost as much action as the bout which followed. Hirsch was scheduled to box Young Wagner, and the latter appeared at the clubhouse for the bout, but refused to go on after Hirsch had weighed in at 129 pounds. The agreement called for 126 pounds ringside. Cronin, who was substituted, weighed 132 pounds in ring costume.

Cronin floored Hirsch for a second in the opening round with a right to the jaw, this being the only punch that he landed on the latter during the three minutes. In the fourth round Hirsch returned the favor, flooring Cronin with a left jab, but Cronin was down only for a second. Cronin had the better of the sixth round and held his opponent even in two other chapters, but the other seven rounds belonged to Hirsch, who was a much better boxer than Cronin.

West Side Y. M. C. A. Games.

The athletes of the West Side Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association last night held their bi-monthly track games in the clubhouse gymnasium, West Fifty-seventh Street. A large number of athletes entered the various contests, and keen competition resulted. The programme was made up of five events, the feature of which was the one-and-three-quarter-mile handicap run, which was won by J. Franklin. The summaries:

20-Yard Dash.—Won by E. McCormack; S. Colyer, second; W. Weber, third. Time—0:03
352-Yard Dash, Handicap.—Won by W. Weber, (5 yards;) E. True, (4 yards,) second; S. Colyer, (8 yards,) third. Time—0:43 2-5.
600-Yard Run, Novice.—Won by D. Metcalf; S. Reverins, second; R. Winter, third. Time—1:23 3-5.
1,000-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by A. H. Dolder, (scratch;) L. Brown, (65 yards,) second; O. Schnabel, (50 yards,) third. Time—1:25 3-5.
One-and-Three-quarter-Mile Run, Handicap.—Won by J. Franklin, (120 yards;) J. Grossman, (160 yards,) second; H. S. Ives, (scratch,) third. Time—8:33 3-5.

Games on Indoor Dirt Track.

Battery A and Bronx Church House will hold a joint series of athletic sports for diamond and gold prizes in the new Battery A Armory, Franklin Avenue and 166th Street, Saturday evening, Feb. 1, the feature of which promises to be a ten-mile scratch race in which such stars as Hannes Kolehmainen and Harry Smith, the National title holder, will be among the contestants. One of the chief points of advantage in connection with the games promises to be the fact that the athletes will be enabled to use outdoor spikes, as the running path will be of an earth foundation, and warrant the wearing of long spikes such as are worn in outdoor events. The various running races will be decided on a ten-lap-to-the-mile track. These include handicaps at 75 yards, 300 yards, three-quarter mile, 12-pound shotput, running high jump, one-mile walk, and a medley relay at 1⅞ miles. In addition there will be a one-mile relay open to members of Athletic League, Church Athletic Association, and Y. M. C. A., and a mounted relay, open to members of Battery A, which promises to be a novelty.

Ottawa Beats Harvard at Hockey.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Ottawa University defeated Harvard at hockey in the Boston Arena to-night by a score of 2 to 0. Neither team displayed any effective combination play. Both visitors' goals were caged by Chartrand, unassisted.

Dundee May Box Kirkwood.

James Cofforth, the San Francisco boxing promoter, yesterday wired an offer to Scotty Montieth, manager of Johnny Dundee, for a twenty-round bout between Dundee and George Kirkwood at San Francisco on Feb. 7. Montieth is considering the offer and will answer before Friday. If the offer is accepted Montieth and Dundee will leave for the coast the day after the River-Cross bout.

NEW YORK A. C. WINS HONORS AT FENCING

Close Contest Marks Competition for Senior Team Championship.

The competitive season of the Fencers Club was opened last night at the club rooms, 6 West Forty-fifth Street, in a two-team match of three men each between the New York Athletic Club and Fencers Club for the senior team championship of the Amateur Fencers League of America. The contests consisted of one bout each with foils, duelling swords, and sabre, and after a series of interesting competitions the decision went to the New York A. C. by the total score of 2 to 1.

Society turned out in force, and the big fencing room was well filled, the spectators entering into the spirit of the competition with enthusiasm. Considering the fact that this was the first open event of the season, the foilsmen showed excellent form, the result in each event being decided by a small margin. There was some question regarding the new rules for sabre contests, but after an explanation by Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, referee, the judges experienced little difficulty in reaching a decision.

The New York A. C. was represented by P. Allison, formerly of Cornell University; J. A. McLoughlin, and A. G. Anderson, while A. V. Z. Post, A. de la Poer, and E. B. Meyers wore the colors of the Fencers Club. Five points were required to win the foil competition, one for duelling swords and seven for sabre, and the contestants drew lots for their weapons and opponents.

The opening contest was for foils with P. Allison and A. V. Z. Post representing their respective teams. Allison towered over his opponent, but the latter fenced with his left hand and placed Allison at a disadvantage. The Mercury Foot foil wielder scored the first point, but the vigorous attack and clever covering of Post soon equaled matters. There were several spirited displays between the pair, but the ex-collegian was finally compelled to yield with the score at 5 to 3.

Extreme caution marked the work of the contestants in the duelling sword match. J. A. McLoughlin, New York A. C., and A. de la Poer, Fencers Club, faced each other. Both successfully resisted a vigorous attack, and several appeals were made for points. McLoughlin succeeded in breaking down his opponent's guard and scoring the necessary point.

The sabre contest furnished the real excitement of the evening, as the steel flashed through the air, finding a resting place on the arms and bodies of the two contestants. The rapidity of the blows kept the judges busy, and in two instances the men scored simultaneously, each registering points. A. G. Anderson, by his victory over E. B. Meyers, secured the medals and championship for the New York A. C. The summary:

Foils—A. V. Z. Post, Fencers Club, defeated P. Allison, New York A. C., 5—3.
Dueling Swords—J. A. McLoughlin, New York A. C., defeated A. de la Poer, Fencers Club, 1—0.
Sabre—A. G. Anderson, New York A. C., defeated E. B. Meyers, Fencers Club, 7—4.

Novel Fencing Challenge.

A novel fencing challenge has been issued by Dr. Graeme M. Hammond of the New York Athletic Club, on behalf of six veteran members of the Amateur Fencers' League of America. The old-timers, all of whom are over 50 years of age, are willing to fence a team of six foilsmen representing local clubs in the league, the only stipulation being that none of their opponents shall be more than 30 years old. The veteran team consists of Dr. G. M. Hammond, Charles Bothner, and Samuel Shaw, New York Athletic Club; Charles Tatham and Scott O'Connor, Fencers Club, and John Allair, Turn Verein.

ALL ENTRY FEES WERE PAID.

First Time in History of A. A. U. When Such a Condition Existed.

The success which resulted in the case of the Amateur Athletic Union championships last Saturday night as to entries, the payment of which was exacted from each of the men or clubs participating before the games were started, established a precedent which will be followed, according to a statement made by James E. Sullivan, Chairman of the Championship Committee of the A. A. U. yesterday.

"There has always been more or less trouble," said Mr. Sullivan, "over clubs entering men and holding up the organization or promotors in charge of the games for the entry fees. Therefore the A. A. U. decided at its meeting in November that entries received unaccompanied by the fee would be rejected. This decision was stated on the entry blank for the junior championships and all except a few entries received for these championships were accompanied with the necessary cash. Those received without the fee were rejected, with the result that when the games started Saturday night, for the first time in the history of the A. A. U., the entry fee of every contestant had been paid. This rule will be strictly enforced at all championships of the A. A. U. in the future.

Manhattan Wins at Basket Ball.

The Manhattan College basket ball team defeated the Niagara University representatives in their annual game last night on the De La Salle court in West Fifty-ninth Street, by the score of 25 to 22. The first half of the contest was close and cleanly played, and ended with the teams tied at 11 points. The second half was marred by continual rough playing on both sides. Suarez, right forward for the victors, was the star of the game, tallying six field goals and one from foul. For Niagara University, McCann and Kelleher starred. The line-up:

Manhattan.	Positions.	Niagara.
Suarez	Right forward	J. McCann
Houlihan	Left forward	Kelleher
Duffy	Centre	Jollon
Bolton	Left guard	King
R. McCann	Right guard	Blake

Substitutions—For Manhattan—S. Wall for Suarez, Feraci for Bolton, E. Wall for Feraci; for Niagara—Keenan for King. Goals from field—Suarez 6, Houlihan 2, R. McCann 2, S. Wall 1, J. McCann 2, Kelleher 2, Jollon 3, Blake 1. Goals from foul line—Suarez 1, Houlihan 1, R. McCann 1, J. McCann 4, Kelleher 2. Referee—Mr. Moriarty, Holy Cross. Umpire—Mr. Hanrahan, Manhattan College. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

In a preliminary game the Manhattan College prep team defeated the Paulist Athletic Club quintet by the score of 18 to 14.

Manhattan College Athletics.

Extensive preparations are being made for the athletic carnival and reception of Manhattan College A. A., to be held on Friday evening, Jan. 24, at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory. A varied programme has been arranged, which includes the following: A. A. U. 65-yard dash, one mile novice, and a special invitation, to be announced later; C. A. L. 65 yards, 300 yards, and 880 yards, and the closed events, which are as follows: Catholic High School championship relay, each of the four men running two laps. The members of the first and second teams will each receive a silver cup, the winning team receiving the Victor F. Ridder trophy, which must be won three times to become permanently the property of the high school. Two events are closed to Manhattan Prep—one lap (junior) and 300-yard run. There is also a 300-yard run closed to the College Department. The parochial schools will figure in a four-lap relay which should bring out the most promising of the youngsters.

Plans are being formulated for an intercollegiate eight-lap relay, in which the colleges of Greater New York are to compete.

It is expected that the special invitation will bring out the peerless Mel Sheppard and Abel Kiviat, besides other prominent runners.

The Catholic High School championship event has brought entries from De La Salle Institute, La Salle Academy, Newman School, Carlton Academy, Brooklyn College Prep, St. Francis, and St. John's Prep, Brooklyn, and it should be a special feature of the games. A large silver cup will be awarded to the C. A. L. club obtaining the greatest number of points. John J. McHugh will officiate as starter.

United States League Incorporated.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6.—The United States League of Professional Baseball Clubs, formed for the purpose of competing with the National and American Leagues and to play games in foreign countries, was incorporated at the State House to-day for $125,000. The incorporators are William Witman, Sr., of Reading; Hugh McKinnon of Bridgeport, and M. E. Ryan of this city. It is likely that a team will be placed in this city during the coming season.

TIGERS BEGIN BASEBALL.

Battery Candidates Start Work in Cage—Rowing Squad Reports.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 6.—Princeton sprang an innovation in baseball this afternoon by starting battery practice in the local cage, which promises to continue through the remainder of the Winter.

The battery prospects for the approaching season are the poorest the Tigers have faced in many years. The greatest loss came through the graduation of Capt. Sterrett, one of Princeton's best backstops of all time. The call was issued to-day to S. B. Williams, J. F. Simons, W. Turtle, and B. E. Barnes, all pitchers, who have had no 'Varsity experience, and H. H. Beyer, H. A. Carter, and A. T. Wall, Jr., who are eligible as catchers.

It is understood that "Bill" Clarke will arrive within a few days to assume charge of the work of the youngsters. In the meantime they will be under the tutelage of several baseball men in this vicinity, among whom is "Charley" Sterrett of the Yankees, who is at present holding a position in the Princeton Faculty. The remaining Tiger candidates will not be summoned before the last week in February.

The present concern regarding the lack of battery material is largely due to the ineligibility of "King" Lear, the Tiger star twirler last season. Lear shouldered the burden of the work in his first 'Varsity season and made it unnecessary to develop substitutes.

The first appearance of Princeton's crew and track candidates for Winter work was made to-day simultaneously with the first practice of the baseball men. Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, the crew coach, returned to instruct the Tigers after his six months' stay in Europe, and seemed satisfied with the squad of thirty men who reported. The work was conducted strenuously on the rowing machines and a mile run outdoors followed.

WANT UNIFORM CONTRACTS.

Minor Leagues Take Up Salary Question with National Commission.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6.—The illness of President Ban B. Johnson, member of the National Baseball Commission from the American League, to-day caused a postponement of that body's ninth annual meeting until to-morrow, at which time the election of a Chairman and Secretary, the reading of annual reports, and the reception of a committee from the National Association and minor leagues will take place.

Chairman Augustus Herrmann and President T. J. Lynch, members of the commission from the National League, were not idle during the day, however, as they went into conference with a number of minor league representatives shortly after noon and took up the subject of uniform contracts, something that is much desired by the minors and which the commission is asked to act upon. What evidence was introduced to-day will be repeated by the Secretary to-morrow to Mr. Johnson. The committee from the National Association will also declare its opposition to-morrow to the individual salary limit of a minor league.

The commission to-night handed down two findings. In one the Philadelphia National League team is ordered to pay the Buffalo team $600 for Player Baxter, whom they recalled from Buffalo under the optional agreement clause and sold to Wilmington.

In the other finding the claim of Player Kenworthy, who was released by Denver to Washington and then released back by Washington to Denver was disallowed. Kenworthy claimed that his salary had been increased 25 per cent. over his contract with Denver when he went to Washington, but the committee thought otherwise. He was allowed, however, his train fare from Des Moines to Denver, and the Denver Club was ordered to pay him this.

FOSTER GIANTS' SECRETARY.

N. A. Lloyd Becomes Treasurer and Frank M. Stevens a Director in Club.

The New York National League Baseball Club had its second shake-up in the executive department yesterday since the close of the championship season.

A short while before President John T. Brush died he placed R. H. McCutcheon and H. N. Hempstead in the offices of Secretary and Treasurer and Vice President, respectively, but yesterday Mr. McCutcheon retired, and John B. Foster, sports editor of The Evening Telegram, was named as Secretary, and N. Ashley Lloyd was elected as Treasurer. Since Mr. Brush's death Vice President Hempstead has succeeded to the Presidency of the club.

At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Directors of the club, Frank M. Stevens, a son of Harry Stevens, the Polo Grounds caterer, was elected a Director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John T. Brush.

Red Sox "Hold Out" Signs Contract.

BOSTON, Jan 6.—The only "hold-out" among the members of the world's champion Red Sox developed so far disappeared to-day when Olaf Henriksen, the diminutive pinch hitter, signed a contract for next year. Henriksen's two-bagger in the final game with the New York Giants in the world's series last Fall was one of the deciding factors in giving the world's baseball championship to Boston.

Cicotte Returns Contract Unsigned.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 6.—Pitcher Eddie Cicotte of the Chicago American League Baseball Club said to-day that he had returned his 1913 contract to President Comiskey unsigned. He said he was not quite satisfied with the salary, but expected an adjustment.

BRESNAHAN TO SIGN CHICAGO CONTRACT

Cardinals' Former Manager Agrees Upon Terms with Cubs for Three Years.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, to-day accepted terms offered him by President Murphy of the Cubs. The proposition made to Roger embraces a term of three years, and he will soon attach his signature to a contract. Just what salary Bresnahan will receive is not known, but it is believed that it is in the neighborhood of $10,000 per season, which was the salary he received in St. Louis.

Bresnahan telephoned Murphy from St. Louis and told him of the compromise with the Cardinals.

"Now I'm ready to talk to you," Bresnahan said, according to Murphy. "I've got Mrs. Britton's coin salted away and am not afraid to get down to cases. The offer you made me looks better than any I have received elsewhere and I will accept it."

Murphy said the proposition covered a term of three years, but that the reported offer of a $10,000 bonus to be paid when Bresnahan signed a contract and a salary of $6,500 per year was incorrect.

Frank Chance, former manager of the Cubs, and Johnny Evers, who succeeded him, will meet to-morrow morning at Joliet, to which place Evers, Tinker, and Treasurer Williams of the Cubs will go to greet the peerless leader. Chance is expected to reach Chicago at 11:40 A. M. for a conference with owner Frank Farrell of the New York Americans which is expected to result in the signing of the former Cub as leader of the Yankees.

Mordecai Brown to-day announced that he had accepted an offer made him by Manager Tinker of the Cincinnati Reds and would sign a contract in a few days.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 6.—Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis National League baseball team, will sign, within a few days, a three-year contract with the Chicago National League team, he said late this afternoon.

"But the story will have to come from the other end," he added, in refusing to give any details of the deal.

After a recent conference between Bresnahan and Owner Murphy of the Chicago club, it was reported Bresnahan was offered $29,000 for three years' work—$10,000 as a bonus and $6,334 a year salary.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The demand for soft hats for Spring delivery this season seems to be swinging around from the staple lines and tending strongly toward fancy colors. New ideas are wanted, and green hats with bows in the back are said to be meeting with success.

The price of velour hats will have to be advanced shortly, according to a well-posted member of the trade, or else manufacturers will have to put cheaper materials in their manufacture.

BUSINESS NOTES.

According to the bulletin of the Merchants' Association, Brooklyn, as a manufacturing centre, produces twice as much as the other four boroughs, Manhattan excepted. Brooklyn is progressing faster in improving its facilities for handling freight by land or water than any of the other boroughs, including Manhattan.

Fur imports entered at this port in the week ended Dec. 28, were valued at $367,184. Fur waste receipts aggregated $474, and hatters' goods were entered to the value of $3,902.

The Levy, Lyons Company, manufacturers of young men's clothing, have taken the third loft in the building, at 36-38 East Twelfth Street.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

The quantity of excise salt issued from the Arab Salt Works at Shaikh Othman during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1911, was 2,356,172 pounds, of which 473,004 pounds were for consumption in British territory and 1,883,168 pounds were exported to the interior of Arabia.

The German Consular district of Barmen did not participate in the commercial activity which was so general throughout Germany during 1911. Some of the local industries prospered, but the great majority of the manufacturers of the so-called "Barmen articles," which include practically everything in the line of furnishings for women's wearing apparel, and which constitute 75 per cent. of the entire industries of the city and vicinity, reported unsatisfactory trade.

The proposal to admit French colonial coffee into France free of all import duty is perhaps the most important feature of the French Valorization Committee's recent report. The present duty on the colonial product is only 58f. per 100 kilos, (5 cents per pound,) while coffee imported from Brazil, Porto Rico, and elsewhere is obliged to pay a regular minimum duty of 136f. per 100 kilos, (11.9 cents per pound.)

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Rise Further on Easier Money, Then Break on Union Pacific Decision.

More than an unusual amount of news bearing on business and banking affairs was presented to the attention of the financial community yesterday, and upon some of it was put a sufficiently unfavorable interpretation to cause a general setback in the market after a fair degree of strength had been shown in the early trading. The centre of interest in the day's news was the ruling by the Supreme Court that the plan of distribution of Southern Pacific stock among Union Pacific stockholders outlined by the management of the latter company as a means of fulfilling the recent decree of the Supreme Court, would not adequately fulfill the decree. This was disappointing to the Union Pacific management, and by the Street at large was regarded with sufficient concern to cause a net decline of over 2 points in Union Pacific, and of a little short of that in Southern Pacific. It may well be found, however, that in its final working the ruling by the Supreme Court in the Union Pacific case is much less onerous to the Union Pacific stockholders than was being assumed yesterday. The lower court under the terms of the Supreme Court's ruling is allowed a wide degree of latitude in accepting a plan to carry out the dissolution, and there would seem to be a middle ground upon which the Government and the company could agree without forcing upon the latter the difficulties connected with an absolute sale of so large a block of stock as the $126,000,000 of Southern Pacific held in the Union Pacific treasury. One suggestion which has been more or less discussed in the financial district as possibly offering a solution of the Union Pacific problem is that the stock be distributed pro rata among the Union Pacific shareholders with a provision made enforcible by an injunction issued by the court that so much of the Southern Pacific stock as would thus find its way into the hands of the individuals who hold the controlling interest in Union Pacific should be deprived of its voting power until sold to some outside interest. Such a plan would follow closely the analogy of some previous trust dissolutions, that of the Powder Trust, for instance, and would accomplish the purpose of preventing the present controlling interest in Union Pacific also exercising control of Southern Pacific through common ownership of the stock of the two systems. Such an arrangement would at the same time avoid the difficulty of finding purchasers at a reasonable price for the Union Pacific's large Southern Pacific holdings. There is reason to believe that some such alternative plan has been under consideration by the Union Pacific management.

Before the course of the market was changed by the decisions of the Supreme Court, which included, besides the Union Pacific ruling, a decision in favor of the Government in the "cotton corner" case, the dominant influence in the stock market was the steady improvement in the money situation. Money is becoming more plentiful, and while some of the large lenders of call funds still held their day to day loans at 6 per cent., the general renewal rate was 3¾ per cent., and during the afternoon money was had as low as 2½ per cent. Time money was also distinctly easier. Six months' money on all industrial collateral was offered at 4¾ per cent. Easier money is already finding reflection in the investment market, where for one thing New York City bonds have improved considerably. The 4¼ per cent. bonds of the city, which recently sold down as low as 98⅞, were yesterday quoted above 99½. It will not be until later in the month, however, that it will be possible to gauge with approximate accuracy the volume of the January reinvestment demand. Preparations are being made for important items of railroad and other financing, and details of some of these may be announced in the near future.

Very considerable interest was taken in yesterday's news of the sale by the First Security Company, which is an offshoot of the First National Bank, of more than half of the stock which it held in the Chase National Bank. If the purpose is carried out of placing a considerable part of this stock with business interests with which the Chase National Bank has relations, thus effectively separating the control of these two banking institutions which heretofore have been controlled by the same owners, a step will have been taken in opposition to the tendency toward banking amalgamations that lately has been carried to an extent which has aroused criticism even within Wall Street itself. It has seemed to many that control of National banks by security holding companies, which in effect are creatures of other National banks, is not in keeping with the spirit of the National Bank act, and the undoing of one such arrangement will by these be regarded as a step in the right direction. It will be recalled that the National City Company soon after its organization disposed of its holdings of American bank stocks in response to public criticism of this particular form of indirect ownership of one National bank by another. The manner of control suggested in the statement issued yesterday regarding the Chase Bank stock sale would seem to be franker and in the long run more business-like than control through unreported holdings of a security company closely identified with another banking institution.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2½@4 per cent., with the last loan at 2½ per cent. Most of the day's loans were made at 3¾ per cent.

Time money rates were at 4½@5 per cent. for sixty days to six months.

Commercial paper was quoted at 5½@6 per cent. for best names.

Clearing House exchanges, $279,992,386; balances, $17,097,523; Sub-Treasury debit balance, $2,118,153.

The local banks gained $2,765,000 on their Sub-Treasury operations since Friday.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 4 9-16@4⅝ per cent. for short bills and 4 9-16@4⅝ per cent. for three months' bills; Paris, 4 per cent., and Berlin, 4¾ per cent. Money was 2½@3½ per cent. in London and 5 per cent. in Berlin.

The Paris check rate on London was 25 francs 17½ centimes, and the Berlin check rate on London was 20 marks 46½ pfennigs.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows at the close of business yesterday:

CABLE AND SIGHT RATES.

London—Cable, $4.8685; demand, $4.8635.

Paris—Cable, 5.16⅞ less 1-32; check, 5.17½ less 1-16.

Berlin—Cable, 95⅛ plus 1-32; check, 95 plus 1-64.

Holland—Cable, 40.29; check, 40.24.

SIXTY AND NINETY DAY BILLS.

London—Bankers', 60 days, $4.82¼; 90 days, $4.80½.

London—Commercial, 60 days, $4.82; 90 days, $4.80¼.

DOMESTIC EXCHANGE RATES.

SILVER QUOTATIONS.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Parcel Post and Express.

It is too early yet to tell what effect the new competition furnished by the parcel post service is having on the business of the express companies. When the new service was announced some months ago many stockholders of the various companies at once decided that the new element in the transportation business was going to disturb profits, and proceeded to sell their shares. Officials of the several companies are not at all of one mind as to the effect of the new departure. They say that the carriage of small packages has usually been done at a loss, but the revenue from this less desirable end of the business helped to pay the overhead charges, and it is a question if it can be lost without leaving evidence in reduced net earnings.

Testing the Securities Market.

The decision of the Baltimore & Ohio board to attend to its financing now was largely influenced by the very favorable state of the money market and the cumulative influence of several months of unusually good earnings returns. The experiment will be watched with a great deal of interest by other railroad managers, who have their own problems of financing ahead of them. The indications are that the Baltimore & Ohio offering will meet with a friendly market, and will be followed by other bond and note issues from other companies which have large maturities to provide for in the near future.

A Crumb of Comfort.

When it became known yesterday that the Supreme Court had upheld the express companies in their right to charge one rate for packages valued at less than $50 and another rate for articles valued above that, without being liable to the payment of damages in excess of the amount named by the shipper as the value of the consignment, people who have been impatiently awaiting a decision in the Minnesota rate case saw what they considered an index pointing to the probable tenor of that decision. The Supreme Court held that the express companies were governed by the inter-State commerce laws and not by the laws of the particular State in which the alleged negligence occurred. The court did not make its finding in the Minnesota case yesterday, although Wall Street heard earlier that the decision was ready for publication.

Jumping at Conclusions.

It is never safe to assume anything about a Supreme Court decision. In their haste to get the gist of an important finding over the wire ahead of competitors the most painstaking correspondents usually manage to send a summary which is not at all justified by the full decision. That happened in the Union Pacific merger decision, when one of the tickers rushed out a paragraph which seemed to indicate that the company had won its main contentions. Yesterday the important part of the court's opinion on the feasibility of the dissolution plan proposed by the Lovett interests was not published by one of the wire services until many people had gained an erroneous impression from reading another part of the decision. Brokers read that the court had refused to order a sale, and had left the matter of a sale or distribution of Southern Pacific stock to Union Pacific holders to the lower court and told one another that it was a Harriman victory. From 158½ Union Pacific stock jumped in a few sales to 160½. Then somebody read another version of the finding, and the stock dropped back to 159, from which it soon returned to 160. When the full summary of the opinion came to hand it was discovered that the first impression had been diametrically opposed to the truth, and Union went down to a new low level for the day.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Weakness Develops in Many Active Issues During Irregular Curb Movement.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

London Market Strong—Sharp Reaction in Berlin on Rumors of Peace Conference Failure.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 7.—The Times says in its City article to-day:

"Yesterday the repayment of another large amount to the Bank of England appeared to reduce the market's supply of money to something like its normal dimensions, and the rate for day-to-day advances was fairly steady al day in consequence.

"Discount quotations were weak, bills being in demand, partly on Continental account, owing to more bar gold being bought by the Bank and to the absence of foreign inquiry for the metal. Rates for all maturities were lower, but the tone was firm at the close.

"The stock markets were very slow in opening, the tone during the first hour being undecided. The fact that there was no meeting of the Peace Conference on Saturday was the chief reason for the hesitation, added to which dealers were not overburdened with orders.

"After midday, however, there was a disposition to take a more cheerful view of the situation, and prices moved up slowly, hopes being expressed that, as strong pressure has been exerted in favor of a continuance of the negotiations, a rupture will be avoided.

"The Bourses were small buyers of their specialties, notably diamond shares and Peruvian Corporation preferred, and in most cases prices kept steady in the later dealings, closing only slightly below the highest points reached.

"Foreign railway stocks were especially firm, but after the house shut Canadian Pacific and the leading American securities weakened on selling pressure from Wall Street."

PARIS, Jan. 6.—Prices were generally firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 89 francs 40 centimes for the account.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—The Börse opened strong to-day on expectations of favorable action at the Peace Conference.

Later rumors of a rupture in the negotiations caused a sharp reaction, and the market closed weak.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

E. E. Aronson of Pine Bluff, Ark., has applied for membership in the Cotton Exchange.

The annual meeting of the National Association of Brokers in Refined Sugar will be held in New York on Jan. 14.

The Stock Exchange has admitted to the list Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company subscription receipts for capital stock of 50 per cent. paid.

The Stock Exchange house of Harriman & Co. announces that Thomas C. Shotwell of the New York American financial staff has been engaged as Manager of their Customers' Department. They say: "Mr. Shotwell is well known through his daily financial reviews, which have appeared for years in the leading newspapers of all the chief cities of the country."

Alfred Anderson, formerly purchasing agent of the Panama Railroad, Panama Steamship Line, and Isthmian Canal Commission, and who later served in the same capacity with the Metropolitan Street Railway, has been elected President of the recently organized Transit Manufacturing and Materials Company, Inc., with offices at 220 Broadway.

Mr. Thomas C. Shotwell
For several years of the financial staff of The New York "American," will be in charge of our Customers' Department on and after this date.

January Investments for Income

We call the attention of those seeking conservative investments for income to the merits of First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds netting 5½ to 6%, secured by absolute, direct first liens on the highest class of improved, income-producing, centrally-located real estate.

These bonds are thoroughly safeguarded, and in our opinion offer an exceptionally attractive combination of security and desirable income yield.

For thirty-one years we have served the interests of conservative investors for income, and in all this time no client has ever lost a dollar of principal or interest on any investment purchased of us.

We purchase entire bond issues outright and offer them direct to investors. Each bond issue is secured by a distinct and separate property, and is the obligation of distinct and separate mortgagors. The total loan is never more than 50% of a conservative appraisal of the value of the property.

We recommend these bonds for January investment, and will be pleased to submit, on application, our January list describing a great variety of these loans.

Denominations, $500., $1,000., $5,000.

January Investments for Income

We call the attention of those seeking conservative investments for income to the merits of First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds netting 5½ to 6%, secured by absolute, direct first liens on the highest class of improved, income-producing, centrally-located real estate.

These bonds are thoroughly safeguarded, and in our opinion offer an exceptionally attractive combination of security and desirable income yield.

For thirty-one years we have served the interests of conservative investors for income, and in all this time no client has ever lost a dollar of principal or interest on any investment purchased of us.

We purchase entire bond issues outright and offer them direct to investors. Each bond issue is secured by a distinct and separate property, and is the obligation of distinct and separate mortgagors. The total loan is never more than 50% of a conservative appraisal of the value of the property.

We recommend these bonds for January investment, and will be pleased to submit, on application, our January list describing a great variety of these loans.

Denominations, $500., $1,000., $5,000.

CREDIT MEN DEMAND CURRENCY REFORM

Members of National Committee Say Present System Retards Commerce and Business.

UPHOLD WILSON'S ATTITUDE

No Centralization of Banking Resources Possible to Meet an Unusual Pressure, One of Their Complaints.

In the opinion of the Banking and Currency Committee of the National Association of Credit Men the existing banking and monetary system of this country rotards commerce and is a menace to every business man. The grounds for this attitude were given in this report of the committee, which was issued yesterday through the Secretary of the association:

Because of its inflexible and immobile system of bank reserves there can be no centralization of banking resources to meet an unusual pressure or strain, with the result, as experience proves, that in the last sixty years there have been recurring panics more or less violent, but always exacting from business a heavy toll.

Because of this inflexibility and the very large number of our independent banking institutions there is in panic periods a disposition upon the part of each to strengthen its own position by the hoarding of funds, the contraction of loans, and the withdrawal of that support to legitimate business which is so necessary in these periods of quick and dangerous readjustment.

Because currency secured by the public debt as represented by Government bonds is influenced more by the market value of the bonds than by the real needs of business and the currency requirements to finance large crop movements or other emergencies. A currency limited by the public debt, controlled by the availability of the bonds securing it, may tend to inflation in periods of inactive business and limited currency demand and become dangerously inadequate in periods of activity and strain because no more currency can be issued than there are bonds upon the market available for currency issue purposes.

Because it makes no provision for a fixed and reliable market for discounting or rediscounting at reasonable rates, at all times, high-grade commercial paper, a vitally necessary condition in making it possible for business men to convert their sales into a marketable liquid asset in order legitimately to meet the necessities of a safely increasing business.

Because it fails to legalize acceptances, which are a convenient and sound form of commercial paper, especially in the development of our international trading.

Because it attracts the flow of banking funds into central reserve cities, where it is largely loaned by the banks on call upon fixed capital or Stock Exchange securities, thus encouraging speculation to the prejudice at important times of agriculture and commerce.

Because there is no provision for the encouragement of international trade by the establishment in foreign cities of American banking houses upon an adequate and sound basis or any provision whereby the Nation's stock of gold may be mobilized, increased, or protected when international balances may be against us.

Because our financial history compares unfavorably with that of England and the commercial nations of the Continent, not only in deficiency of methods provided for the protection of commercial credits but in that our Government, through its Treasury system, withdraws funds from the ordinary channels of trade. Our Treasury and Sub-Treasury system is not only unsound in theory but unsafe and burdensome in practice, for by it lawful funds are withheld from their natural uses, and in one administrative officer is alone reposed the discretion of placing these funds at the public's service, or withholding them, no matter what the need or strain may be.

The committee said its report was submitted to and approved by well-known bankers throughout the country, and that the facts adduced seemed to substantiate the contention of President-elect Wilson that the present system was badly in need of reformation. These were the members of the committee: D. G. Endy of the Artman-Treichler Company, Philadelphia, Chairman; C. D. Joyce of the A. Coburn Company, Philadelphia; O. J. Sands of the American National Bank, Richmond, Va.; A. H. Decatur of the Decatur & Hopkins Company, Boston, and G. W. White of the National Metropolitan Bank, Washington.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Business was active on the Consolidated Stock Exchange, the sales totaling 61,030 shares. Starting with a firm tone, the market changed to weakness later. The confused state of the Wall Street mind regarding the significance of the United States Supreme Court's ruling as to the Southern Pacific holdings of the Union Pacific was reflected in the later dealings. An adverse influence was also exerted by the reported breaking off of the Balkan peace negotiations. Previous to the receipt of the news from Washington Union Pacific broke sharply, selling as low as 160, when it was quoted at 160⅝ on the New York Stock Exchange. While it soon after rallied above 161, it fell rapidly when the news came of the Supreme Court ruling

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

The wheat market was narrow but firm, and prices closed at a slight net advance. Corn also made moderate advances and distribution continued active. Prices were firmer in the oats market, in sympathy with the advances in wheat and corn. Although the news was somewhat bearish for hogs, provisions were firm. Cotton was affected by the news of the Supreme Court decision in the old case of the bull pool of 1910, and the market was unsettled. Cottonseed oil was weak on selling pressure.

WHEAT.

The wheat market again showed a fine undertone and prices during the day, while moving within a comparatively narrow range, worked to a slightly higher level, closing at a net advance of ⅜c to ½c. A sharp cold wave over the West, with temperatures in many cases below zero, caused some apprehension of damage to the Winter wheat crop, notwithstanding the fact that the drop in temperature was preceded by snow over a part of the belt. There were evidences of a better foreign demand, export sales amounting to twenty-five loads at all positions. Recent predictions that Europe will require a large amount of high-grade American wheat for mixing purposes, together with a growing belief that surplus stocks in this country east of the Rockies are not going to be as large as had been estimated, is having a bullish influence on sentiment. The home consumption of wheat this season has been on an unusually large scale, while shipments abroad have also been quite liberal, and if Europe will require further heavy shipments, according to some authorities, stocks will have to be reduced to an unusually low level. Conditions in Argentina, however, are extremely favorable, and the continuation of fine weather in that country practically assures a crop of good quality, which will be on the market ready for shipment in a short time. World's exports for the week were 9,680,000 bushels, compared with 7,768,000 last week and 6,768,000 last year. The visible supply of native and bonded wheat in the United States increased 1,185,000 bushels, bringing the total to 71,902,000, compared with 69,706,000 last year. Receipts in Northwestern points were somewhat lighter, probably due to the colder weather, while cash markets were firm, and it is said that there was comparatively little pressure of cash wheat on the market. In the local market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at $1.06¼ elevator and $1.07¼ f. o. b. afloat; No. 1 Northern Spring, 99⅝c f. o. b. afloat.

CORN.

The corn market was also firm, closing at a net advance of ⅜c to ¾c. Offerings from the country were moderate, and continued heavy shipments from interior points indicated a continued active distribution. The export demand was also somewhat more active, and sales for the day were 17 loads, including 2 loads from New York. World's exports were 4,693,000 bushels, compared with 3,033,000 last week and 4,642,000 last year. The visible supply increased 661,000, compared with an increase last week of 1,422,000 and an increase last year of 320,000. Export corn in the local market was quoted at 55⅝c spot, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

There was comparatively little feature in the oats market, but prices were firmer, in sympathy with wheat and corn and in absence of selling pressure. The distributing demand for cash oats was also quite active, and the visible supply showed a decrease for the week of 65,000 bushels, compared with an increase last week of 332,000 bushels. The local cash market was steady; standard white quoted at 39½c; No. 3, 38c to 39c; No. 4, 37½c to 38½c; natural white, 37c to 39c; white clipped, 30½c to 41c, all track.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market showed a steadier undertone, and prices made moderate gains, notwithstanding the fact that the hog news was rather bearish and houses with foreign connections were moderate sellers. Commission houses were good buyers, nowever, and there was also more or less buying credited to stock yard interests. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 50,000, estimated for Tuesday 28,000; Kansas City received 6,000, and Omaha 5,600.

COTTON.

A report from Washington that the Supreme Court had handed down a decision in the so-called "cotton corner" case, which was started in 1910, that construed a corner as a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and rendered it necessary for the defendants to stand trial under the original indictments, had a very unsettling effect in the cotton market to-day. Selling became more or less general after this news was received, and it was not until prices showed net losses of from 13 to 20 points that enough demand developed to check the break. Rallies of 5 or 6 points occurred in the later trading, and the market closed steady, but at a net decline of from 9 to 15 points. It seemed rather difficult to trace a direct connection between the Washington decision which applies specifically to an action originating so long ago, but many local trades seem to think that the classing of a corner in the cotton market by the Supreme Court as coming under the provisions of the Anti-Trust Act, would render bull speculation less aggressive for the balance of the season. At any rate, there was undoubtedly heavy liquidation by old longs, although it is by no means certain that this was actually inspired either by the developments in the cotton case or the rumors that peace negotiations had been suspended in London. Reports of a continued slack spot demand in the South were not accompanied by more than a few scattering advices of any easier tendency in prices, but probably contributed to the decline, and as one of the day's sellers of long cotton himself expressed it, "without regard to the day's news, people long of cotton who had become tired waiting for an advance, liquidated, while bearishly disposed operators took advantage of the appearance of long cotton to force the break further than it might otherwise have gone."

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 3 points, in sympathy with rather easier cables. Early rumors that the Balkan troubles had been settled caused a little flurry of buying, which sent prices about 4 to 6 points net higher. There was no general demand, however, and when long cotton began to come on the market early in the afternoon, prices sold off very rapidly. Stop orders were uncovered on a scale-down, but trade buying appeared around 12.61 for March, and this, with covering, rallied the market in the late trading. There were a few January notices issued, and it was rumored that a little more cotton is heading in this direction for delivery on contract.

COTTONSEED OIL.

There was increased selling pressure in the cottonseed oil market, and, as the demand was slow, prices were easier closing at a net decline of 5 to 8 points. The selling came through commission houses, and, as it was believed to be against increased offerings of crude, longs became nervous and sold freely. The crude market was nominally unchanged, however, and some authorities were inclined to attribute the decline in futures to speculative operations.

The range of contract prices in the local market to-day was as follows:

COFFEE.

Unexpected strength abroad, where Havre advanced ¾ to 1f, and Hamburg was ¼ to ⅛ pfennig higher, caused an opening advance of 4 to 9 point. Cost and freight offers from Brazil were firm, unchanged to 10 points higher. The dullness in the spot market and an increase, according to local figures, of 598,538 bags in the world's visible supply during December, discouraged buying. Late in the day bulls supported prices and the close was steady. Total sales were 82,250 bags. The distant positions were relatively firm. The Brazilian cable covering Saturday's market reported Rio weak and 75 reis lower, and Santos quiet, unchanged. Yesterday was a holiday in Brazil. Spot coffee, Rio 7, 8⅜c. Warehouse deliveries in the United States last week were 70,257 bags, against 50,557 bags the previous week, and 80,833 last year; of the former amount New York had 47,258 bags. Receipts at Rio and Santos last week aggregated 182,000 bags, against 210,000 bags the previous week, and 108,000 bags last year. Contract prices follow:

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Upper East Side Dwelling Sells for $250,000—Gustav Baumann Disposes of Plot in Loft Zone—Fortieth Street Restrictions Void—Times Square School in Trade—Bronx and Suburban Deals.

The largest of the three private houses recently completed on the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Seventy-ninth Street by the Charles Buek Construction Company has been sold for occupancy for about $250,000. The deal was closed yesterday by the Douglas L. Elliman Company, and is of especial note, as it is the best private house sale made in some time, and shows that there is still a market for high-class residences erected by speculative builders. When Mr. Buek bought the vacant corner some time ago, which was the only unimproved portion of the old Cook block, he improved it with three high-class dwellings, one facing Madison Avenue and two on Seventy-ninth Street, the corner one, 22 East Seventy-ninth Street having a width on the street of 18 feet, while the adjoining one, 20 East Seventy-ninth Street, is 42 feet wide by 70.2 deep. The latter, the largest of the three, is the one that has been sold, the name of the buyer being withheld, the brokers simply stating that he is a New York resident.

Like its neighbors, the façade is of white stone, and it is of fireproof construction. It is five stories high. Adjoining it, to the west, is the home of J. Woodward Haven, and Mrs. G. A. Senff's home adjoins the latter, this being the former Sidney Dillon Ripley home, purchased a year ago. On the Fifth Avenue front James B. Duke lately finished his large house on the Seventy-eighth Street corner and H. Payne Whitney and James R. Fletcher occupy the other Fifth Avenue frontage.

Gustav Baumann Sells Plot.

One of the largest plots in the midtown loft zone that has changed ownership recently was disposed of yesterday by Gustav Baumann, formerly of the Holland House, to I. Randolph Jacobs and Everett Jacobs. The property consists of two old-fashioned brick dwellings at 130 and 132 West Twenty-ninth Street, on a plot 40 by 98.9 and the abutting property, consisting of a two-story structure on a lot 25 by 98.9 at 129 West Twenty-eighth Street.

Combined the two parcels form a plot of 6,500 square feet, and it is the intention of the buyers at the expiration of the present leases to erect a twelve-story store and loft building covering the entire plot.

Plans are now being prepared, and it is expected that the structure will be ready for occupancy in the Fall of the present year. Hell & Stern negotiated the transaction.

Old Greenwich Village Dwelling Sold

Another one of the old-fashioned three-story brick private dwellings, with mansard roof, that lined the streets of Greenwich Village when it was one of the select residential sections of the city was sold yesterday as a site for a tall commercial loft.

The dwelling, which is known as 706 Washington Street, occupies a lot 23 by 88 feet adjoining the northwest corner of Perry Street. It was sold for the estate of Mary Ryan by the Duross Company to the St. John's Park Realty Company, composed of Samuel D. Kilpatrick and James Cruikshank.

The purchasers will improve with a loft building. They are now erecting an eight-story building at 155, 157 and 159 Perry Street in the rear, and recently completed a building at 161, 163 and 165 Perry Street.

A Manhattan-Bronx Trade.

The seven-story loft building 624 East Thirteenth Street, on a lot 20 by 103.3, has been sold by Lowenfeld & Prager to Rose Markel for investment.

In part payment the buyer gives nine lots forming a plot 225 by 100 on the west side of Findley Avenue, 402.8 feet north of 169th Street. Jacob Sado was the broker in the trade.

$80,000 Deal in Wheatley Hills Section.

The heirs of the late George Powell yesterday sold for $80,000 the last of the old Powell farm, in the fashionable Wheatley Hills section of Long Island. The sale was made to an investor whose name is not divulged. It is said he intends to develop the tract as a high-class residential section. The property consists of eighty acres in the millionaire colony. It adjoins the estate of Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., and is near the Summer residence of Charles G. Bennett, Secretary of the United States Senate.

Buyer for La Touraine Apartment.

Louis H. Lowenstein of the Maxlow Realty Company has sold through Goodale, Perry & Dwight the La Touraine, a si-story elevator apartment at the northwest corner of Morningside Avenue West and 115th Street. The structure occupies a plot 100 by 85. Helen Hartley Jenkins is the buyer.

Times Square School in Trade.

An interesting deal is in process of negotiation in which the City of New York is planning to dispose of an old school which has long outgrown its usefulness in the Times Square section. The school is known as No. 80, on the north side of Forty-first Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, covering the plot from 223 to 229 West Forty-first Street, inclusive, 100 feet on the street by 98.9 deep. Its value as a school has been seriously impaired in recent years due to the changing conditions in the neighborhood, which have made the locality the theatrical and hotel centre, with large commercial buildings south of Forty-second Street.

The deal involves the sale of the school property to the syndicate which lately purchased the old Catholic Cemetery site from the Trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral on Eleventh and Twelfth Streets, between First Avenue and Avenue A. In part payment the syndicate, whose personality has not been divulged, will give in part payment fourteen lots of the cemetery plot for a new school, which is in a thickly populated district and where additional school facilities are needed.

The proposed deal has been approved by the Real Estate Committee of the Board of Education, and the plan is likely to be approved at an early date by the other city authorities.

The Forty-first Street plot, although exempt from taxation, shows an assessed valuation of $165,000 for the land or, with the building, a total of $190,000. The property adjoins the Liberty Theatre on the west. On the east is the 25-foot lot owned by Asa G. Candler, who is improving it in connection with his larger building in the rear on Forty-second Street, and just east of this plot is the New Amsterdam Theatre.

Fourth Avenue Corner Sold.

The C. N. Shurman Investing Company has purchased from the Protective Realty Company the northeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street, a plot 66.2 by 80. The property carries a mortgage of $290,000 and has been held at $400,000.

The corner will be improved with a sixteen-story store, loft, and office building on May 1 next. Albert Feldheim was the broker in the transaction.

Fortieth Street Restrictions Void.

By a recent decision handed down by Justice Delany the old private house restrictive regulations covering the westerly half of Fortieth Street from Sixth to Fifth Avenue have been declared void, due to the changing conditions, which in recent years have made the greater part of the block a business thoroughfare. About a year ago Mrs. Helene Pagenstecher brought suit to restrain Alma Carlson from altering her dwelling, at 38 West Fortieth Street, into stores. The Appellate Division upheld the restrictive clause, on the ground that there were several private homes in the block, while Bryant Park and the Public Library, across the street, were business deterrents there. An appeal was taken and the decision of the Appellate Division has been reversed. Within the past few months three or four other old dwellings have made business alterations. The houses primarily affected by the case were those to the east of the Café des Beaux Arts building, on the Sixth Avenue corner, extending beyond the Republican Club to the Engineers' Club.

Nameoki Club Property.

M. M. Hayward & Co. have sold the building at 233 West 100th Street, which has been occupied for the past ten years by the Nameoki Club, to a client, who will remodel the building into stores and kitchenette apartments.

Buyer for West Harlem Flats.

The three five-story flats 124, 126, and 128 West 139th Street, occupying a plot 26 by 99.11 each, have been sold by John S. Howell. Max Marx, who recently purchased the corner of 130th Street and Lenox Avenue, is reported to be the buyer.

Bronx Borough.

Eugene J. Busher has sold for a client of Dutton & Kilsheimer five and one-half lots at the northeast corner of Stebbins Avenue and Freeman Street, 113 by 116 by 124, for cash. This plot is one and a half blocks from the Freeman Street Subway station.

Albert Feldheim has sold to Katherine Le Brun for the C. N. Shurman Investing Company 4,323 Katonah Avenue, a four-story flat, on a lot 25 by 85.

F. W. Eggert has sold two lots on the east side of Richardson Avenue, 100 feet south of East 237th Street, for M. Stubbing of Oregon to M. C. Lange, for investment.

R. L. Sachs has sold for the Joel Wolf estate Lots 108 and 109, southeast corner of Barker and Mace Avenues, a plot 50 by 100, to J. Lewis.

Brooklyn.

John Bittner has sold his residence, at 408 Ocean Avenue, to Harry Faulkner. The dwelling, which is of Colonial design, occupies a plot 70 by 250. About $25,000 was involved in the transaction.

Fox's Agency and Fox, Rubin & Co. have sold the three-story flat building on the south side of Blake Avenue, known as 809 Blake Avenue, fifty feet east of Van Sicklen Avenue, on a lot 20.3 by 100, for Samuel Steinberg and Meyer Brody to clients of the Empire Real Estate and Mortgage Company, for investment.

$12,000 Theatre for Flushing, L. I.

The Murray Hill Theatre Company, composed of investors in the Murray Hill and Bowne Park sections of the Borough of Queens, has purchased from John W. Crawford a site for a new twelve-thousand-dollar theatre in Flushing.

The property consists of a plot 45 by 112 feet on Broadway, fifty feet west of Murray Lane. Plans have been prepared for the structure by Edward Richardson, and it is expected that the new playhouse will be opened by May 1. It will be used for high-class vaudeville and photo-plays.

New Jersey.

The three-story brick factory building at Ludlow and New Streets, in the Greenville section of Jersey City, at one time the plant of the International Watch Company, has been sold to a subsidiary company of the American Tobacco Company, and will be opened immediately as a cigar factory.

Over 500 hands will be employed in the new industry. The plant has been idle for three years, following the vacating of the place by the watch company.

Oscar Michael has purchased for investment the property at 54 Park Place, Newark, formerly occupied as a school for girls. The property has a frontage of forty-seven feet on Park Place and is 117 feet deep, allowing for a frontage on Division Place. On the site is a three-story brownstone-front structure which was the home of Samuel L. Dennis for many years.

New Branch of Corn Exchange Bank

The Corn Exchange National Bank has leased, through Edgar A. Manning, space for banking purposes in the new building at the northeast corner of Twenty-ninth Street, erected by the Realty Holding Company. The lease is for a period of ten years at a rental aggregating $90,000, and carrying a privilege to renew for a similar term. M. & L. Hess represented the owners.

Recent Buyers.

Daniel B. Friedman is the buyer of the dwelling at 312 West Ninetieth Street, sold recently by Florence D. White.

Mrs. T. Arthur Ball of 312 West End Avenue is the buyer of the residence at 26 West Seventy-sixth Street, sold by Henry Goldman.

Dr. Emil Heuel is the buyer of the dwelling at 151 West Eighty-seventh Street, sold recently by the Russell Raymond Estate. Dr. Heuel now resides at 144 West Seventy-ninth Street.

Dr. D. G. Yates is the buyer of the dwelling at 149 West Eighty-first Street, sold by Dr. Julius Sachs last week.

Commercial Leases.

The Duross Company has leased 513 Hudson Street for A. Sartirana & Co. to E. J. McManus. Also with M. & L. Hess the six-story building 223 West Twenty-eight Street for Charles W. Hoffman to May & Co. for a term of years.

Realty Notes.

The Harlem Property Owners' Association will meet Thursday evening, Jan. 9, at 147 East 125th Street.

Shampan & Shampan are preparing plans for an apartment house to be erected on the north side of Lafayette Avenue, 325 feet west of Tompkins Avenue, Borough of Brooklyn, on a plot 50 by 100 feet. The cost of the building is estimated at $40,000. The Clifton Place Realty Company are the owners.

A. Frank Shaw has been appointed receiver of rents for the property 1503 Park Avenue in the case of Agnes W. Evans against Maria Duggan to foreclose a mortgage.

The Charles F. Noyes Company has secured the managing agency of the twenty-story Madison Square Building at 15, 17 and 19 East Twenty-sixth Street, running through to Twenty-seventh Street. This is the building recently sold by the Noyes Company to Jacob Ruppert for over $2,000,000.

The United Real Estate Owners' Association will meet this evening at the Grand Union Hotel, Park Avenue and Forty-second Street.

Halters and Blankets on Blooded Horses Enter Free with the Animals.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday decided that blankets and halters accompanying blooded horses to this country are "usual coverings" and duty free within the meaning of the Tariff act of 1909. George E. Brown imported fourteen horses of registered English pedigree. The animals also were free, but the Collector at Boston exacted full duties on the accessories. Judge Waite held that the articles were necessary to the horses.

The board sustained a protest by Marshall Field & Co. on merchandise returned by the Appraiser at Chicago as woven fabrics composed in chief value of silk, yarn dyed, not weighted, and containing less than 30 per cent. in weight of silk. Duty was assessed at $1.25 per pound, but not less than 45 per cent. ad valorem, under Paragraph 399, act of 1909. The importers gained entry at 50 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 326 as cotton tapestries weighing more than six ounces per square yard.

Adverse action was taken on protests by G. W. Sheldon & Co. and Marshall Field & Co. on Japanese granite lanterns, assessed at 50 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 114 of the present law as manufactures of granite. The importers asked 20 per cent. on unenumerated manufactured articles.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The receipt of applications for the position of Superintendent of Laundries was begun yesterday by the Municipal Civil Service Commission, and will be closed at 4 P. M. on Jan. 20. The examination will be held Feb. 10. Candidates should have had experience in a laundry, and should have knowledge of laundry machinery and the latest improved methods of laundering. Their experience in this line, as well as in positions calling for the exercise of executive discretion, will be considered in the rating. The minimum age is twenty-one years. There is one vacancy in the position of Laundry manager in Bellevue and Allied Hospitals at $1,200 a year.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission will allow a hearing at 10 A. M. to-morrow in connection with the application of the Street Cleaning Commissioner that the requirement of competition be suspended in the case of Edward D. Very for employment as sanitary engineer in the Street Cleaning Department at $5,000 a year.

Notice is given of the proposed amendment to the municipal civil service classification by including in the non-competitive class, under the heading, "Positions in the Department of Health at compensations not exceeding the amount set forth below" (with or without maintenance) the following: Radiographer, $1,500 a year; Librarian, $900 a year; Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Otisville, N. Y., Superintendent, $3,000 a year. A public hearing will be allowed at the request of any interested person at the commission's offices, 220 Broadway, at 10 A. M. to-morrow.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for men only on Jan. 8, at the New York Custom House to fill vacacies in the position of laboratory assistant in physics in the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce and Labor, at salaries ranging from $900 to $1,200 per annum, and vacancies in positions requiring similar qualifications as they may occur. The duties in connection with these positions are similar to those of assistants in physical laboratories of scientific and technical institutions. As far as practicable, appointees are assigned to work in the subjects for which they are best fitted. Competitors will be examined in the following subjects, which will have the relative weights indicated:

General physics	25
Advanced general physics, or electricity	25
Education, training, experience, and fitness	50

Under Subject 2 competitors may elect to take practical questions dealing either with (a) advanced general physics, or (b) electricity. Applicants must indicate in answer to Question 1 of the application form in which of these special subjects, (a) or (b,) they desire to be examined. An educational training equivalent to that required for graduation from a college or technical school of recognized standing is a prerequisite for consideration for this position. Applicants must have reached their twentieth but not their thirty-fifth birthday on the date of the examination. Under an act of Congress applicants for this position must be examined in the State or Territory in which they reside and show that they have been actually domiciled in such State or Territory for at least one year previous to the date of the examination, which is open to all men who are citizens of or owe allegiance to the United States and who meet the requirements.

FLEES BY TRAIN WINDOW.

Army Deserter, Foiling Deputy, Jumps While Express Is Running.

MONTREAL, Jan. 6.—While being taken to-day to Plattsburg, N. Y., to answer a double charge of grand larceny and desertion from the United States Army, Henri Gross jumped through the window of an express train and escaped. He landed in a snowdrift, apparently unhurt, and was nowhere in sight when the train was stopped and backed.

The train was approaching Rouses Point when Gross, who was in the custody of Deputy Marshall Foster of Plattsburg, obtained permission to go to the lavatory and to have his handcuffs removed. Slamming and locking the door in the face of his guard, he smashed a double window and jumped out.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

FORM OF CONTRACT FOR NEW RAPID TRANSIT RAILROADS.

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing upon the proposed terms and conditions of a contract between the City of New York, acting by the Public Service Commission for the First District, and New York Municipal Railway Corporation, for the construction by the City and for the equipment, maintenance, and operation by said New York Municipal Railway Corporation of additional or proposed Rapid Transit Railroads hereinafter described in conjunction with certain existing Railroads will be held at the office of the Public Service Commission for the First District, No. 154 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, on the 14th day of January, 1913, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

Copies of the draft of said proposed contract may be obtained at the said office of the said Commission for one dollar each.

Such existing Railroads may briefly be described as follows:

Broadway Line: Beginning at or near the Broadway Ferry, in the Borough of Brooklyn, and thence extending over Broadway to East New York; thence over Fulton Street and Crescent Street to Jamaica Avenue.

Fulton Street Line: Beginning at Fulton Street and the East River in the Borough of Brooklyn and thence extending over Fulton Street, Snediker Avenue, Pitkin Avenue, Euclid Avenue, and Liberty Avenue to the borough line between the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens.

Myrtle Avenue Line: Beginning in the Brooklyn terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge and thence extending over Sands Street, High Street, Adams Street and Myrtle Avenue to Wyckoff Avenue.

Lexington Avenue Line: Beginning at Grand and Myrtle Avenues in the Borough of Brooklyn, and thence extending over Grand Avenue and Lexington Avenue to Broadway.

Fifth Avenue Line: Beginning at Hudson and Myrtle Avenues in the Borough of Brooklyn and thence extending over Hudson Avenue, Flatbush Avenue, Fifth Avenue, 38th Street and Third Avenue to 67th Street.

Brighton Beach Line: Beginning at Franklin Avenue and Fulton Street in the Borough of Brooklyn, and thence extending substantially parallel with Franklin Avenue over private property and intersecting streets to Flatbush Avenue; thence over private property to Church Avenue between East 15th and East 16th Streets; thence over private property between East 15th and East 16th Streets to Sheepshead Bay; thence southerly over private property to Brighton Beach; thence westerly over private property to a point in Coney Island west of West 5th Street.

Canarsie Line: Beginning near Pitkin and Snediker Avenues in the Borough of Brooklyn and thence extending southerly over private property to Canarsie shore.

Sea Beach Line: Beginning in Fourth Avenue near 64th Street in the Borough of Brooklyn and thence extending over private property between 65th and 60th Streets to New Utrecht Avenue; thence easterly and southeasterly over private property to a point in Coney Island near Surf Avenue and Stillwell Avenue Extended.

Such additional or proposed Rapid Transit Railroads may briefly be described as follows:

A part beginning in the Queens Plaza of the Queensboro Bridge, and extending thence across the Queensboro Bridge to the Borough of Manhattan, and to and under the Manhattan Plaza of the Bridge where the tracks diverge, one track continuing under 59th Street and one track continuing under 60th Street to and across 5th Avenue, where the tracks converge; thence under 59th Street, Seventh Avenue and Broadway to a point near Canal Street.

Another part beginning in Broadway near Canal Street in the Borough of Manhattan, and extending thence under private property and Canal Street to and across the Manhattan Bridge to the Borough of Brooklyn; thence under Flatbush Avenue Extension to a point at or near Willoughby Street.

Another part beginning in Broadway near Canal Street in the Borough of Manhattan, and extending thence under Broadway, private property, Vesey Street, private property, Church Street, private property, Broadway and Whitehall Street to the East River.

Another part beginning in the Borough of Manhattan under the East River near the pierhead line and extending thence under waterfront property, South Street, Broad Street, Nassau Street and Park Row to the Municipal Building; thence under Centre Street to a point near Walker Street, where the line divides into two branches, one branch extending under private property, Walker Street, and Canal Street to the approach of the Manhattan Bridge, and the second branch extending under Centre Street, private property, and Delancey Street to and over the Williamsburg Bridge to a connection with the Broadway Line of the New York Consolidated Railroad Company in Broadway in the Borough of Brooklyn.

Another part beginning under the East River at or near Whitehall Street in the Borough of Manhattan; and extending thence under the East River and private property to the Borough of Brooklyn; thence under Montague Street, Court Street, public property, Fulton Street, private property, and Willoughby Street to Flatbush Avenue.

Another part beginning near Flatbush Avenue and Willoughby Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn, and extending thence under Flatbush Avenue Extension, private property and Fulton Street, to a point at or near Ashland Place, where the line divides into two branches, one branch extending under Ashland Place, private property, and Fourth Avenue, to a point at or near 38th Street; the second branch extending under Fulton Street, St. Felix Street, private property, and Flatbush Avenue to a point near Malbone Street.

Another part beginning in Fourth Avenue, near 38th Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn, and extending thence under Fourth Avenue to a point at or near 86th Street.

Another part beginning in Fourth Avenue, near 38th Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn, and extending thence through private property between 38th and 39th Streets and under intersecting streets to a point in private property near Tenth Avenue and 39th Street; where the line becomes an elevated railroad; thence over Tenth Avenue, New Utrecht Avenue, private property, and intersecting streets to 86th Street, thence over 86th Street, private property, Twenty-sixth Avenue, private property, and Stillwell Avenue to a point at or near Surf Avenue.

Another part beginning in private property near Ninth Avenue and 38th Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn; and extending thence through private property and Ninth and Tenth Avenues to a point in private property near 37th Street and Fort Hamilton Avenue, where the line becomes an elevated railroad; thence over private property and intersecting streets to West Street; thence over West Street, private property, Cortelyou Road, private property, Gravesend Avenue, Shell Road, West 6th Street and private property to Surf Avenue.

Another part beginning in 14th Street at or near Sixth Avenue, in the Borough of Manhattan, and extending thence under 14th Street and private property to and under the East River to the Borough of Brooklyn; thence under North 7th Street, Metropolitan Avenue, and Bushwick Avenue to a point near Johnson Avenue; thence under Johnson Avenue, private property, Bushwick Place, and private property to a point in private property near Johnson Avenue and Waterbury Street, where the line becomes an elevated railroad.

Another part, beginning in private property near Johnson Avenue and Waterbury Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn; and thence extending over Johnson Avenue, private property, and intersecting streets to Wyckoff Avenue; thence over Wyckoff Avenue, private property, and Cooper Avenue to the right of way of the Long Island Railroad; thence over private property wholly or partly within said right of way, crossing over intersecting streets, to a point near Conway Street and Broadway; thence over Broadway to a point at or near Rose Place.

Dated, New York, December 30, 1912.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION FOR THE FIRST DISTRICT.

SURROGATE CITATION.

FRY, MARTHA ANN.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Thomas Marshall Fry, Howard James Fry, Thomas Marshall Fry, Jr., Willard C. Fry and Thomas C. Fry, the husband and heirs and next of kin of Martha Ann Fry, late of the County of New York, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Thomas Marshall Fry, of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York to have a certain instrument in writing, bearing date the eighth day of February, 1900, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Martha Ann Fry, late of the County of New York, deceased; therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office, in the County of New York, on the 10th day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Robert Ludlow Fowler, a Surrogate of our said [L. S.] County of New York, at said county, the 13th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

DANIEL J. DOWDNEY,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

WILBER C. GOODALE,
Attorney for Petitioner.
84 Pine Street (Room 607), Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

MASTER'S SALE.

CHANCERY SALE.—In Pursuance and by virtue of amended decrees of foreclosure and sale in favor of THE NEW YORK TRUST COMPANY, complainant, made and entered by the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, and of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, and of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, which amended decrees were dated on the 9th day December, A. D. 1912, and entered in said Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, December 9th, 1912, in said Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, December 12th, 1912, and in said Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, December 12, 1912, in causes pending in said respective courts, and entitled: The New York Trust Company, Complainant, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company et al., Defendants, Columbia Knickerbocker Trust Company, Complainant, vs. Detroit Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, Defendant; William J. Courtney et al., Complainants, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, Defendant; (Consolidated Cause. In Equity); the causes pending in the said Districts of Ohio being ancillary to the cause pending in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division: NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned, Special Master Commissioner of said courts, will sell at public auction to the highest and best bidders on WEDNESDAY, THE FIFTH DAY OF FEBRUARY, A. D. 1913, at twelve o'clock noon, standard time, of said day, at the Station of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, in the city of Springfield, in the State of Ohio, being on the property described to be sold, all the properties by the said decrees directed to be sold, to wit:

ALL the properties by the said decrees declared to be covered by the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage from the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company to The New York Trust Company, dated May 2, 1905, and by the said decrees directed to be sold, being

First—All the property which in the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage was described as follows—namely:

"All and singular the following described railroads situated in the States of Michigan and Ohio, to wit:

1st—The line of railroad formerly owned by the Detroit Southern Railroad Company and previously owned by the Ohio Southern Railroad Company, The Lima Northern Railway Company and the Detroit and Lima Northern Railway Company, comprising all and singular the line of railroad from the City of Detroit, Wayne County, State of Michigan, through the Counties of Wayne, Monroe and Lenawee, in the State of Michigan, and through the Counties of Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Allen, Auglaize, Shelby, Logan, Champagne, Clarke, Madison, Fayette, Highland, Ross, Pike, Jackson, Gallia and Lawrence, in the State of Ohio, to the Village of Rockwood in said Lawrence County, and all branches, additions and extensions thereof, including the branch or branches extending from said main line at Jeffersonville, Fayette County, northeastwardly through Fayette and Madison Counties to Sedalia, and from said Jeffersonville, southwestwardly through Fayette, Greene and Clinton Counties to Kingman, all in said State of Ohio.

The first named Lessor above nevertheless reserves the right to construct and maintain across the above described Second Parcel a track in consequence of which there will be a crossing of said track with the track which said lessee is to construct on said Second Parcel about two hundred and fifteen (215) feet East to Spring Street.

Together with the unexpired term thereof with the right, title and interest therein and thereto of the said The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, subject to all the terms, provisions and agreements in said lease contained; and also all the right, title and interest of the said The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company and the said Receivers thereof in and to that certain memorandum of agreement between the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company of the first part and The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company of the second part, dated the 15th day of August, 1907, relating to and concerning the property described in the aforesaid lease.

Third—The following described small parcels of real property and the following described equipment, to wit:

The Gravel Pit property at or near Springfield, Ohio, described as follows:

Being part of Sec 5, Twp. 4 Range 9 M. R. S. beginning at a stone planted as a monument at the S. E. corner of a certain tract of land conveyed to J. D. L. Snyder by Sarah D. Bechtle and others and recorded in Vol. 55, pages 2 & 3 of Clarke County Deed Records; thence S. 79 degrees W. 59.72 poles more or less to a stone monument at another of said Snyders corners; thence South 15 degrees E. 78 poles more or less to a stone planted as a monument on the north side of a street 40 feet wide running East and West; thence N. 79 degrees E. 59.72 poles more or less to another stone planted as a monument on the North line of said street; thence North 15 degrees W. 78 poles more or less to the place of beginning, containing 29.46 acres of land more or less; and being the same real estate conveyed to said Charles O. Straub by deed of Charles A. Newcomb and others dated Jan. 9, 1907, and recorded in Vol. 155, pages 557, of deed records of said county.

The following described parcel at or near Waverly, Ohio:

Situated in the County of Pike, State of Ohio, and in the Twp. of Pee Pee and in Survey No. 490, beginning at a point in the Center of the Waverly and Beaver turnpike being a corner to the lands of Charles P. Schaussell, Henry Gorman, Henry B. McKenzie and the South Line of the Right of Way of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Ry. Co., thence South 75 degrees E. 67 poles with said Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Right of Way to a point in said line which is also a point in the westerly line of the N. & W. Ry. Right of Way; thence with the line of said Norfolk & Western Ry. line S. 32¼ degrees E. 6 poles; thence leaving said railway line S. 70 degrees W. 45 poles and 4 links to the S. E. corner of garden lot fence; thence with the line of said garden lot N. 9 degrees, E. 8 poles to the N. E. corner of said garden lot fence; thence with another line of said garden lot fence S. 70 degrees W. 19 poles and 5 links to the center of the Waverly and Beaver Turnpike; thence with the center of said Turnpike N. 7 degrees W. 34 poles to the place of beginning, containing 8½ acres more or less.

Fourth: All other lines of railway and additional mileage of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company, and other property of any kind and nature which on May 2, 1905, was owned or held by said Railway Company or thereafter acquired by it by means of the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage bonds, or with the proceeds of the sale or disposition thereof, or from the fund of two million five hundred thousand dollars mentioned in the recitals of the said mortgage and referred to in sub-division 4th of the description of the property mortgaged contained in the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage.

The properties above described covered by said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage have heretofore been operated as one railroad system, but are so situated with respect to the liens thereon as to compel a sale in parcels. The said properties consist of two parcels, to wit: The first parcel, the Ohio Southern Division, containing 223.85 miles, comprising all and singular the line of railroad from the City of Lima, in Allen County, Ohio, through the Counties of Allen, Auglaize, Shelby, Logan, Champaign, Clarke, Madison, Fayette, Highland, Ross, Pike, Jackson, Gallia, and Lawrence, in said State, to the Village of Rockwood, in said Lawrence County, and all branches, additions, and extensions thereof, including the branch or branches extending from said main line at Jeffersonville, Fayette County, northeastwardly through Fayette and Madison Counties to Sedalia, and from said Jeffersonville southwestwardly through Fayette, Greene, and Clinton Counties to Kingman, all in said State of Ohio. The second parcel, that portion of the said Railway which extends from Delray (Detroit) to Lima, containing 137.6 miles, known as the Northern Division, and that portion of the said Railway which extends from Bloom Junction to Ironton, including the Dean Branch, containing 36.12 miles, known as the Southern Division, there being operated in conjunction with the said Northern and Southern Divisions forty-three miles of leased lines of railroad, making an aggregate of owned and leased lines in the Northern and Southern Divisions of 216.72 miles.

The properties covered by said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage will therefore be sold as follows: The Special Master Commissioner will first put up for sale that portion of the property known as the Ohio Southern Division described as aforesaid, subject nevertheless to the mortgage thereof from Detroit Southern Railroad Company to Central Trust Company of New York, dated June 1, 1901, to secure an authorized issue of bonds aggregating $4,500,000 of principal, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually March and September 1st, and under which bonds to the aggregate principal sum of $4,495,000 have been issued and are outstanding. Said principal outstanding sum has been matured. There is now due upon said bonds $4,495,000 of principal, besides interest thereon at the rate of four per centum per annum from September 1, 1910. Suit for the foreclosure of the said mortgage has been brought and decree of foreclosure and sale was entered therein by the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, December 19, 1912. The Special Master Commissioner will then and whether or not any bid has been received or accepted upon the offering of the Ohio Southern Division immediately put up for sale the parts of the property known as the Northern Division and the Southern Division, generally described as aforesaid, and he will then and whether or not any bid has been received or accepted upon the offering either of the Ohio Southern Division or the Northern and Southern Divisions, immediately put up for sale the entire property as a unit.

The offerings of the separate divisions will in each case be subject to the sale of the property as a whole and to the right of the Court to accept the bid or bids which it shall deem the highest and best in the interests of the parties. With each divisional parcel sold there will be included and sold as part thereof one-half in value and as nearly as may be one-half in kind and description of the supplies and materials in the possession of the receiver at the time of sale, division thereof to be made by the Receiver subject to the supervisory order of the Court; and with each divisional parcel sold there will be included and sold as part thereof the cars and equipment generally belonging thereto, to wit: in the case of the Ohio Southern Division the cars and equipment included within the Ohio Southern Division Mortgage to Central Trust Company of New York, hereinbefore described, and in the case of the Northern and Southern Divisions the cars and equipment included in the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage to The New York Trust Company, hereinbefore described; and with each divisional parcel there will also be included and sold as part thereof, one-half of the locomotives, cars, and equipment purchased under authority of the Court during the receivership.

The identity of the equipment will in all cases be determined by the Receiver, in accordance with the records in his possession, and subject to the supervisory order of the Court. In case the whole property shall be sold as a unit all of the said supplies and equipment will be included and sold as part thereof. In any event, the purchaser of any equipment which at the time of the sale shall be held under Equipment Trust Agreement or Agreement for Repairs or for Purchase shall take the same subject to all the terms and conditions of such Trust Agreement or Agreement for Repairs or Purchase, including all provisions for deferred payments; and such purchaser shall by such purchase be held to have assumed and to have agreed to carry out and fulfill the terms and conditions of the said agreements affecting the equipment so purchased by him.

The equipment, or parts thereof, is subject to the following equipment trust agreements or agreements for repairs or purchase:

Agreement with American Locomotive Company, dated September 15, 1909, for purchase of eight locomotives, numbered 100 to 107, inclusive, requiring periodical payments to September 15, 1913; amount due after December 1st, 1912, $27,911.25.

Agreement with American Locomotive Company, dated December 1, 1910, for purchase of twelve locomotives, numbered 108 to 119, inclusive, requiring periodical payments to January 14, 1916; amount due after December 1st, 1912, $77,400.

Agreement accepted November 1, 1911, with Crawford Locomotive & Car Company, for repairing two hundred gondola coal cars and two hundred box cars, requiring semi-monthly payments on basis "per diem" rates until full payment; amount due after December 1st, 1912, $56,635.15.

Agreement accepted November 9, 1912, with Central Locomotive & Car Works for repair of one thousand gondola coal cars and one thousand box cars, payments to be semi-monthly on basis of forty-five cents per day per car until full payment; amount due after December 1st, 1912, approximately, $500,000.

Agreement accepted November 19, 1912, with Norfolk & Western Railway Company, for repairs to five locomotives, payment to be made in receiver's certificates; amount due after December 1st, 1912, approximately, $15,000.

Agreement accepted November 9, 1912, with Central Locomotive and Car Works for purchase of five hundred second hand coal cars, payments to be made semi-monthly on basis of forty-five cents per day per car until full payment; amount due after December 1st, 1912, $157,395.60.

In the event that the properties shall not be sold as a unit but in separate parcels, as in this notice hereinbefore provided, any receiver's obligations and indebtedness incurred after September 1, 1912, and any indebtedness which, pursuant to the provisions of the said amended decrees or the further order of the said court shall have priority over the said Ohio Southern Division Mortgage and said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage, or either of them, shall be divided between and charged upon the respective divisions of the said railroad in accordance with the principles established by the report of the Master filed in the said Court in the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, December 9, 1912, subject to the further supervisory order of the said court.

The said Master Commissioner will accept no bid of less than $1,550,000 for the Ohio Southern Division upon a sale thereof as a separate parcel; he will accept no bid of less than $1,650,000 upon the Northern and Southern Divisions upon a sale thereof as a separate parcel, and he will accept no bid of less than $3,200,000 for the whole property upon a sale thereof as a unit. The said minimum sums were fixed by the Court in the said decrees in order to prevent a sacrifice and to protect the interests of all concerned as the least sums for which the said properties respectively should be sold. The Master will not accept any bid unless the bidder shall place in his hands at the time of the bid, as a part of his bid and a pledge to make the same good if accepted and the sale confirmed, the following sums in cash, to wit: Upon a bid for the Ohio Southern Division the sum of $100,000; upon a bid for the Northern and Southern Divisions the sum of $100,000, and upon a bid for the whole property as a unit, the sum of $200,000. Said sums may be placed with the Special Master Commissioner by certified cheque or certificate of deposit approved by the Master. The sum deposited shall be forfeited in case the bidder, if successful, shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees and any orders hereafter made as to future payments or otherwise; but each of said deposited sums may be applied on the purchase price of the parcel of the whole property in respect of which the deposit is made in case of such compliance by the purchaser, or returned in case the bid in question is not successful or the sale in question shall not be confirmed by the Court. The deposits in respect of either or both the parcels may, at the option of the bidder, be deposited on account of the required deposit for a bid on the entire property.

The court reserves the right to reject any bid and to resell the property in respect of which the bid shall have been made or any part thereof upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to payment of the remainder of the purchase price or any part thereof.

There shall be paid in cash of the price at which the said property shall be sold, in addition to the amounts paid at the time of the sale, such further portions of the purchase money as the Court shall direct. The remainder of the purchase money may be paid as follows:

Upon a sale of the Ohio Southern Division wholly or partly in cash and in claims payable under article 3 of said amended decree, or in receiver's certificates payable under article 3 of said amended decree, to the extent and proportion that such claims and receiver's certificates are by said amended decree charged upon the Ohio Southern Division.

Upon a sale of the Northern and Southern Divisions wholly or partly in cash and in claims payable under article 3 of said amended decree, or in receiver's certificates payable under article 3 of said amended decree, to the extent and proportion that such claims and receiver's certificates are by said amended decree charged upon the Northern and Southern Divisions.

Upon a sale of the whole property as a unit in cash or in claims payable under article 3 of said amended decree, or in receiver's certificates payable under article 3 of said amended decree; and also upon a sale either of the Northern and Southern Divisions or of the whole property as a unit in said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage Bonds, with overdue coupons thereon, or in said consolidated bonds, with overdue coupons thereon, at such proportion of value as the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon on distribution of the proceeds of such sale in case such price were wholly paid in cash.

All taxes and assessments upon the property sold and all said receiver's certificates and all claims payable under article 3 of said amended decree, will be allowed out of the purchase money where the purchaser produces proofs of such liens and claims and receipts for the payment thereof or surrenders such certificates. The Special Master will in his discretion accept temporarily instead of the actual delivery of the said bonds and coupons or receiver's certificate, the certificate of any trust company satisfactory to him that it holds the said bonds and coupons or receiver's certificates subject to the order of said Master, and will deliver them to him on demand for cancellation or other disposition.

Included in the upset price of the Ohio Southern Division above mentioned is the sum of $139,940.80, with interest accrued thereon, and in the upset price of the Northern and Southern Divisions is the sum of $105,059.20, with interest accrued thereon, being items set forth in subdivision 2, in Schedule A, of a certain Master's report filed in said cause December 9, 1912, and the purchaser or purchasers in lieu of depositing in the Registry of the Court said respective sums with interest may, as part of the purchase price, give a bond therefor as provided in said decree.

The said Special Master, in pursuance and by virtue of the amended decrees of foreclosure and sale in favor of Columbia Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, made and entered by the said District Courts of the United States in this advertisement of sale first mentioned, dated and entered on the same days and in the same places as the said decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, complainant, will also at the same time and place offer for sale and in separate parcels all other lines of railway and additional mileage of the defendant Railway Company and other property of any kind and nature which has been constructed or acquired in whole or in part by means of said Consolidated Bonds or with the proceeds of the sale or disposition thereof; subject only to purchase money liens thereon as in said Consolidated Mortgage set forth, not including in said property, however, any property which is subject to the prior lien thereon of the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage (all of which said property subject to said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage, is to be sold under and pursuant to the preceding provisions of this notice); one hundred shares of the stock of the Toledo Southern Railway Company and ten hundred and fourteen shares of preferred stock of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company, being certain property of the said Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company included in the mortgage of deed of trust from that company to Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant herein, dated May 2, 1905, to secure certain bonds designated as Consolidated bonds. The Master will accept no bid for the said shares of stock from any bidder who shall not place in his hands or deposit with him at the time of making the bid, as a pledge that the bidder will make good his bid if accepted by the Court, the sum of twenty-five dollars per share in cash, certified cheque or certificate of deposit approved by the Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder if successful shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees, and any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise, but which said sum shall be applied on the purchase price of the said stock in case of such compliance, or will be returned in case the said bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the court. The right of the court is reserved to reject any bid and to resell the said stock, or any part thereof, upon the failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the purchase price or any part thereof, in cash or otherwise, as may be directed. If either the said properties, not, as aforesaid, subject to the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage or the said shares of stock, shall be purchased by or on behalf of the holders of the said Consolidated Bonds, the remainder of the purchase price over and above the amount in cash required to be paid at the time of sale, may be paid either in cash or in receivers' certificates, or in claims payable under Article 3 of the aforesaid decree of The New York Trust Company, or in said Consolidated Bonds and overdue coupons thereon, at such proportionate value as the holders thereof will be entitled to receive thereon respectively on distribution of the proceeds of such sale, in case such purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

Any person proposing to purchase at the said sale either the said railway properties or the said stock, is referred to the said decrees in this notice specifically mentioned, for a more full and complete description of the property, rights and franchises therein directed to be sold, which it is proposed to sell in accordance with the foregoing notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said properties, rights and franchises shall be made. The said three amended decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and the said three amended decrees in favor of Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and all of the said decrees may be found filed and recorded in the offices of the Clerks of the United States District Courts at Detroit, Michigan, Toledo, Ohio, and Columbus, Ohio, respectively, and which are subject to the inspection of the public generally. Certified copies of the said amended decrees will be in the possession of the said Special Master at the time and place of sale, and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

LEGAL NOTICES.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division.—CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK against DETROIT SOUTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY et al.—In equity.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to and by virtue of a decree of foreclosure and sale made and entered the 19th day of December, 1912, in the above entitled cause, the undersigned, Elmer W. Voorheis, the Special Master appointed in and by said decree, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the station building of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company in the city of Springfield, county of Clark, State of Ohio, on the 5th day of February, 1913, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the following described railroads, property, premises and franchises ordered and decreed by said foreclosure decree to be sold by the undersigned, to wit:—

All and singular the entire line of railroad formerly constituting the property of the Detroit, Southern Railroad Company, comprising all and singular the line of railroad from the City of Lima, in Allen County, Ohio, through the Counties of Allen, Auglaize, Shelby, Logan, Champaign, Clark, Madison, Fayette, Highland, Ross, Pike, Jackson, Gallia and Lawrence, in said State, to the Village of Rockwood in said Lawrence County, and all branches, additions and extensions thereof, including the branch or branches extending from said main line at Jeffersonville, Fayette County, northeastwardly through Fayette and Madison Counties to Sedalia, and from said Jeffersonville southwestwardly through Fayette, Greene and Clinton Counties to Kingman, all in said State of Ohio, and constituting the properties heretofore belonging to the Detroit Southern Railroad Company as now constructed and operated, together with all the rights of ways, depot grounds, yards, terminal property and rights and all such real and personal property as may be germane to or necessary for the construction, operation and maintenance of said several lines of railroad and made a part of or placed upon the lines of railroad hereinbefore described; also, all the locomotives, engines, cars, rolling stock of every kind, tools, machinery of every kind, rails, spikes, joint fastenings, timbers, ties, superstructure and material of every kind necessary to be used in the construction, maintenance and operation of said lines of railroad, and also all the rights, powers, privileges and franchises now or formerly of or belonging to the said Railroad Company, with all the appurtenances in anywise thereunto belonging, and all other property now or formerly held by said Railroad Company in connection therewith, and all rights, franchises privileges pertaining thereto.

(Excepting from the foregoing described property so much thereof as upon an exchange of certain depot property at or near Springfield, Ohio, was conveyed by the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company and its receivers to the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland Railroad Company, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company and the Columbus, Springfield and Cincinnati Railroad Company, and were released by the complainant Central Trust Company of New York as Trustee of the said Ohio Southern Division Mortgage dated June 1, 1901, by three instruments all dated the 26th day of March, 1908; one running from said Central Trust Company of New York to the Cincinnati, Sandusky & Cleveland Railroad Company; another from said Central Trust Company of New York to the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company, and the third from Central Trust Company of New York to the Columbus, Springfield & Cincinnati Railroad Company. All of said deeds and releases are of record in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Clark in the State of Ohio.

The lands thus conveyed to the Cincinnati, Sandusky & Cleveland Railroad Company were in the said deed and release thereof described as follows:

"The real estate in the City of Springfield in the County of Clark and State of Ohio, upon which the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company and its predecessors have heretofore constructed, maintained and operated certain railroad tracks, the centre lines of which tracks are more particularly described as follows: From the intersection of the North Line of Monroe Street with the West Line of Linden Avenue measure northwardly along said west line of Linden Avenue three hundred and twenty-one and five-tenths (321.5) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of sixty-nine degrees and fifty-two minutes (69° 52') one hundred and seventy-three and nine-tenths (173.9) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of seven degrees and four minutes (7° 4') seventy-five and seven-tenths (75.7) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of two degrees and twenty-six minutes (2° 26') fifty (50) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of five degrees and twenty-four minutes (5° 24') fifty (50) feet to the place of beginning; thence from said place of beginning along the last described course fifty (50) feet; thence northwestwardly at angle to the left of five degrees and fourteen minutes (5° 14') fifty (50) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the right of five degrees and fifty-one minutes (5° 51') one hundred (100) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the right of ten degrees and eleven minutes (10° 11') seventy-seven (77) feet to a point of switch; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of fifty-eight minutes (58') seventy-three (73) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of three degrees and fifty-five minutes (3° 55') one hundred (100) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of six degrees and fifty-six minutes (6° 56') eighty-six (86) feet. Also from the above located point of switch northwestwardly at an angle to the right of four degrees and thirty-five minutes (4° 35') seventy-three (73) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of six degrees and thirty-three minutes (6° 33') one hundred (100) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of nine degrees and fifty-one minutes (9° 51') eighty-six (86) feet to a point one hundred and fifty-eight and three-tenths (158.3) feet south of the intersection of the north line of Washington Street with the west line of Spring Street."

The lands thus conveyed to the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company were in the said deed and release thereof described as follows:

"Real Estate situate in the City of Springfield, in the County of Clark and State of Ohio, to wit: a part of outlot Number eight (8), old number five (5), beginning at an iron bar driven down at a point in the west marginal line of Spring Street as now opened ninety-five (95) feet more or less southwardly from the south side of Washington Street as now opened; thence southwardly along said west marginal line of Spring Street sixty-five (65) feet to a point where an iron spike is driven down; thence north eighty-nine degrees (89°) west on the north boundary line of premises conveyed to A. D. Rogers by deed dated May 16th, 1857, by William White and wife and recorded in the Deed Records of said Clark County in Volume 37, at page 101, one hundred and forty-six (146) feet; thence north sixty-five (65) feet to the south boundary line of real estate belonging to the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company; thence east along said south boundary line one hundred and forty-six (146) feet to the place of beginning, being the same real estate acquired by the Ohio Southern Railroad Company (the predecessor of The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company) by condemnation proceedings as recorded in the records of the Probate Court of said Clark County in volume eight, at page 267; together with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, and all the right, title and interest of the said party of the first part, of, in and to the same, to the intent that the lands hereby conveyed may be discharged from said mortgage and that the rest of the lands in said mortgage specified may remain to the said party of the first part."

The lands thus conveyed to the Columbus, Springfield & Cincinnati Railroad Company were in the said deed and release thereof described as follows:

"The real estate in the City of Springfield in Clark County in the State of Ohio upon which The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company and its predecessors have heretofore constructed, maintained and operated a certain railroad track, the centre line of which track is described as follows: From the intersection of the north line of Monroe Street with the west line of Linden Avenue measure northwardly along said west line of Linden Avenue three hundred and twenty-one and five-tenths (321.5) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of sixty-nine degrees and fifty-two minutes (69° 52') one hundred and seventy-three and nine-tenths (173.9) feet to the place of beginning. Thence from said place of beginning northwestwardly at an angle to the left of seven degrees and four minutes (7° 4') seventy-five and seven-tenths (75.7) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of two degrees and twenty-six minutes (2° 26') fifty (50) feet.")

The following described Real Estate situate in the City of Springfield in the County of Clark and in the State of Ohio, to wit: From the intersection of the North Line of Monroe Street with the East Line of Limestone Street measure northwardly along said East Line of Limestone Street 257.4 feet for the place of beginning. Thence from said place of beginning Eastwardly at right angles 206.3 feet thence Northwardly at right angles 46 feet thence Westwardly at right angles 206.3 feet to said East Line of Limestone Street thence Southwardly at right angles and along said East Line of Limestone Street 46 feet to the place of beginning containing 218-1000 of an acre be the same more or less and all the estate title and interest of the complainant Central Trust Company of New York and of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company and receiver thereof either in law or in equity, in and to the said real estate, together with all the privileges and appurtenances to the same belonging, and all the rents, issues and profits thereof.

All the estate, title and interest of the complainant Central Trust Company of New York and of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company and the receiver thereof in and to a certain Indenture of Lease made on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1907, between the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company, The Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland Railroad Company, The Columbus, Springfield and Cincinnati Railway Company as Lessors and The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company as Lessee, recorded June 29, 1908, in the office of the Recorder of Clark County, Ohio, in Deed Records, Volume 182, page 382, wherein and whereby there was leased and demised by the said Lessors unto the said The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, its successors and assigns, certain pieces or parcels of real estate in the City of Springfield, County of Clark and State of Ohio, therein described; together with the unexpired term thereof with the right, title and interest therein and thereto of the complainant Central Trust Company of New York and of The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, subject to all the terms, provisions and agreements in said lease contained; And also all the right, title and interest of the complainant Central Trust Company of New York and of The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company and the receiver thereof in and to that certain memorandum of agreement between the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company of the first part and The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company of the second part, dated the 15th day of August, 1907, relating to and concerning the property described in the aforesaid lease.

The following described equipment:—Freight Equipment: 138 flat cars, 2,338 gondola cars, 79 dump cars, 842 box cars, 1 refrigerator car, and 44 stock cars. Miscellaneous Cars: 24 reg. std 8 wheel cabooses, 1 reg. std 4 wheel caboose, 4 temporary cabooses, 1 steam shovel car, 8 boarding and bunk cars, 6 bridge cars, 1 ballast unloaded car, 2 tool cars, 2 scale test cars and 1 gravel spreader car. Wrecking cars: 3 hand derrick cars, 1 diner car, 12 tool and supply cars, and 1 tie and rail car. Passenger cars: 4 baggage mail and express cars, 1 combination car, 1 baggage car, 4 compartment cars, 5 coaches, 1 official car and 1 miners' car; 40 engines and 25 cabooses.

With said property there shall be included and sold one-half of the supplies and materials in the possession of the Receiver at the time of sale, the division thereof to be made by the Receiver subject to order of the Court, and also one-half of the locomotives, cars and equipment generally belonging thereto and purchased during the receivership under authority of the Court, all such equipment to be taken by the purchaser subject to the terms and conditions of any equipment trust agreement, or agreement for repairs or purchase, the identity of the equipment to be determined by the Receiver in accordance with the records in his possession subject to supervisory order of the Court.

For a more specific description of such railroad, property, premises, franchises and equipment so to be sold, reference is made to said foreclosure decree filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Columbus, Ohio, on the 19th day of December, 1912.

The above mentioned railroads, property, premises and franchises specifically described herein and in said decree as aforesaid will be sold as an entirety in one.

The Special Master will accept no bid of less than $1,550,000 for the railroads, property, premises and franchises directed to be sold by said decree, and no bid will be accepted by said Special Master unless the bidder place in his hands at the time of bidding, as a part of his bid and a pledge to make the same good if accepted and the sale confirmed, the sum of $100,000 in cash, by certified check, or certificate of deposit approved by the Special Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder who is successful shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decree and of any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise, but the same shall be applied on the purchase price in case of such compliance, or returned in case the bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the Court. The right of the Court is reserved to reject any bid and to re-take and re-sell the property, or any part thereof, upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the remainder of the purchase price, or any part thereof, or upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any condition of the sale or any order of the Court in that regard. Included in the upset price of $1,550,000 above mentioned is the sum of $139,940.80, with interest thereon to September 1, 1912, in the further sum of $25,518.31, being that portion of the receivers' certificates issued and outstanding which is apportionable against the mortgaged railroads, property, premises and franchises if established as a claim prior to the aforesaid Ohio Southern Division mortgage, and the purchaser or purchasers, in lieu of depositing in the registry of the Court said sum of $139,940.80, together with the interest amounting to $25,518.31, may as part of such purchase price give a bond in such amount as shall be approved by the Court, conditioned upon the payment of said sum, with the interest accrued and to accrue thereon, if established as a claim prior to said Ohio Southern Division mortgage.

So much of the purchase price as is not in said decree directed to be paid in cash may be paid either in cash or in claims payable under article 4 of said decree, or in receivers' certificates payable under article 4 of said decree, or in bonds issued under said Ohio Southern Division mortgage, with overdue coupons thereof, at such proportion of value as the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon on distribution of the proceeds of the sale, in case the purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

All taxes and assessments upon the railroads, property, premises and franchises sold, and all said receivers' certificates, and all claims payable under said article 4 of the said decree, will be allowed out of the purchase money, where the purchaser produces proof of such liens and claims, and receipts for the payment thereof, or surrenders such certificates, and the Special Master will in his discretion accept temporarily, instead of the actual delivery of the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates, the certificate of any trust company satisfactory to him that it holds the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates subject to the order of the said Special Master, and will deliver them to him on demand, for cancellation or other disposition.

Any person proposing to purchase at the said sale the said railroad property, premises, franchises and equipment is referred to the said decree in this notice specifically mentioned for a more full and complete description of the railroads, property, premises, franchises and equipment therein directed to be sold which it is proposed to sell in accordance with this notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said railroads, property, premises, franchises and equipment shall be made. Certified copies of the said decree will be in the possession of the said Special Master at the time and place of sale, and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The extensive high pressure area that formed during the day over the Atlantic States and the adjacent ocean has effectually retarded the eastward progress of the western cold wave, and it has made but little progress since Sunday night, beyond reaching the upper Mississippi River and extending through Texas.

It still continues throughout the West, but with some slight moderation over the extreme Northwest.

The line of zero temperature extends to-night into the Texas Panhandle and North New Mexico, and the temperatures this morning in portions of South Arizona and South California were the lowest of record, San Diego, Cal., reporting 28 degrees. The lowest temperature was 36 degrees below zero at Havre, Mon.

It is much warmer in the Atlantic and East Gulf States, and temperatures were generally above 70 degrees from the State of Mississippi eastward. A trough of relatively low pressure still extends from Texas northeastward, and, as a consequence, general rains and snow fell east of thee Rocky Mountains, except in the Middle and South Atlantic States, with heavy rains and thunderstorms in West Tennessee and portions of Mississippi and Arkansas. In the extreme West the weather was fair, except on the extreme North Coast, where it is snowing.

It will be much colder Tuesday in the Ohio and lower Mississippi Valleys and the East Gulf States, and colder Tuesday night or Wednesday in the lake region and the Atlantic States. It will continue cold Tuesday in the Central West and Southwest, followed by rising temperatures Wednesday.

There will be snows and rains Tuesday east of the Mississippi River, probably continuing Wednesday. In the West the weather will be generally fair.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate, mostly west and northwest; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate variable; South Atlantic Coast, moderate south, except variable on the Florida Coast.

Steamships departing Tuesday for European ports will have moderate variable winds, with rain to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York—Rain or snow Tuesday; colder at night. Wednesday snow and colder; moderate variable winds.

Southern New England—Rain Tuesday. Wednesday snow and colder; moderate variable winds.

New Jersey—Rain Tuesday; colder at night. Wednesday rain or snow and colder; moderate south winds, shifting to northwest Wednesday.

Western New York—Snow and colder Tuesday. Wednesday local snows; colder east portion; moderate west and northwest winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Rain southeast, rain or snow north and west portions Tuesday. Wednesday snow and colder; moderate south winds, shifting to northwest.

Northern New England—Rain or snow Tuesday. Wednesday snow and colder; moderate variable winds.

EDUCATION NOTES.

Six applicants took the academic examination in mathematics at the Board of Education Hall Saturday, and five applicants took the academic examination in history.

In the Evening High School examinations yesterday there were thirty candidates for the position of woman teacher of trade dressmaking, fourteen candidates for teacher of Spanish, and fifteen candidates for teacher in costume design.

In the Evening School examinations yesterday there were fifty-two candidates for the position of Supervisor of commercial branch, and eighty-one candidates for woman teacher of sewing and dressmaking.

The Vocational School for Boys, 138th Street, west of Fifth Avenue, and the Manhattan Trade School for Girls, 200 East Twenty-third Street, will begin the new term on Feb. 3. All children desirous of attending these schools should register on the afternoon of Jan. 31. Public school principals have been directed by City Supt. Maxwell to bring this fact to the attention of their pupils who are fourteen years of age and who have completed the work of the 6B grade, particularly those who have failed of promotion in the grades 7A to 6B inclusive.

Printed copies of the courses of study of the various High Schools, with the exception of those of the Washington Irving and Commercial High Schools, have been sent to Principals of elementary schools having 8B classes.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission will give a hearing to-morrow morning to all those interested in the request of the Board of Education that the two physicians, who are to hold examinations of mentally defective children in the public schools be placed in the non-competitive class.

City Supt. Maxwell has sent the following circular to the Principals of elementary schools:

Ladies and Gentlemen: It is desirable that this office should be in possession of information as to the aggregate days register and the average daily register by grades, and I therefore request that you will fill in the aggregate register each month in column G of the monthly statistical report, and use the second subdivision of column H to show the average daily register and change the headings to correspond. The aggregate days register should be given for each class, but the average daily register is required only for each grade. The average daily register will be found by adding the aggregate days registers for all the classes of a grade and dividing the sum by the number of school days in the month.

In filling out Item 2 of the monthly statistical report, viz.: "New pupils admitted during the month," you will please be guided by the following interpretation of the term "new pupil":

A "new pupil" is one who is admitted for the first time to the public schools of this city.

Insert a new item (2a) to the right of Item 2, viz.: Readmissions, to include each pupil who previously attended a public school of this city, and who was discharged and is readmitted. The extension in the column headed "Entire School" should be the total of Items 2 and 2a.

Inasmuch as it will be necessary to transmit to the Board of Education a statement showing the number of pupils discharged each month and the causes for discharge, you will please see that the reports on discharges and the pupils' record cards sent to this office are delivered not later than the fourth day of the month following that in which the discharge took place.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, EASTern District of New York in Bankruptcy.—In the matter of THE STAR BRASS & IRON BED CO., Alleged Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of an order of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of New York, the undersigned, Robert F. Randall, receiver in bankruptcy of The Star Brass & Iron Bed Co., alleged bankrupt, offers for sale the property, assets and effects of the said alleged bankrupt, consisting of the following: Machinery, tools, merchandise, and all other personal property belonging to the said business except, however, all accounts, promissory notes, evidences of indebtedness, mortgages, covering either real or personal property, and except also any and all real estate of any kind, nature, or description. The business will be offered as a going concern on any bids for the entirety, except that the real estate in which the said business is located or any other real estate belonging to this estate is not offered. The above described property will be sold subject to the following liens and incumbrances: Any and all claims made or that may be made by any of the mortgagees that the machinery or any part thereof annexed to the property is a part of the realty and cannot be removed, and any and all chattel mortgages or other liens against the said property. Further particulars in regard to the said liens may be obtained from the receiver or from his attorney, Julius H. Reiter.

The above described property may be inspected on the premises, 13-15 Montauk Avenue, Brooklyn, at any time up to the sale from 8 A. M. until 6 P. M. Bids for the above described property, assets and effect, as an entirety, except, however, the assets above excepted, and the real estate, may be submitted to Julius H. Reiter, attorney for the receiver, at his office, No. 320 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before 12 o'clock noon of January 7, 1913, at which time and place bids will be opened by him and creditors may attend and express themselves in relation thereto. Each bid must be accompanied by certified check or cash for at least 10 per cent. of the amount of the bid. The receiver reserves the right to reject any or all bids, in which event the said property will be sold at public auction through J. W. & W. H. Reid, United States Auctioneers, on January 14, 1913, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, at the premises, 13-15 Montauk Ave.

Dated New York, December 30, 1912.

SUFFRAGISTS GO CALLING ON SOCIETY

Welcomed by Butlers, Who Say "Not in" and "Not for Suffrage" in Same Breath.

GET WORD FROM MRS. LOW

Reply from Ex-Mayor's Wife Causes Official Notation of "Family Indifferent"—Cardinal Not Visible.

The butlers of the Twenty-ninth Assembly District are not in favor of votes for women. This was one of the principal things brought out through the efforts of Dr. Mary Halton, district leader for the Woman Suffrage Party, to discover the sentiment of the voters in her district. Dr. Halton decided some time ago that what was needed was fewer pink teas and more practical political work. So last night some fifteen women, most of them young, were sent out through the territory to call upon the voters and learn their sentiments. Within the Twenty-ninth territory is a part of what the male politician has come to speak of as the "kid-glove district," but what, as one of the suffragists explained, the women will call the "low-neck dress district."

The women who started out from Dr. Halton's office, 616 Madison Avenue, last night to do missionary work left with some trepidation. Before they went the leader talked to them and gave them literature for distribution. She told them they were to ask whether the voter was in favor of giving women the right to vote, and if not to reason with him. When the woman of the house was seen they were to reason with her also. If no one could be seen then the battery of persuasion was to be turned on the butler.

So the district workers went forth, each group supplied with a list of the persons upon whom to call. The lists contained the names of Justice Dugro, the Hotel Savoy, Mrs. John Astor, Vincent Astor, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., former Mayor Seth Low, Lewis Cass Lalyard, Cardinal Farley, Clifford V. Brokaw, Mrs. W. Emlen Roosevelt, Mrs. Russell Colt, Mrs. Percy Rivington Pyne, Mrs. Isaac Guggenheim, Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, Ogden Mills, Mme. Gadski, and others whose names grace the pages of the social register.

It was Miss Martha Klatschken, who has just given up a good job to devote all her time to the cause, who led two other believers up the steps of the home of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr. The butler appeared at the door.

"No; Mrs. Vanderbilt is not at home." There was sympathy in his voice.

Miss Klatschken explained her mission. No; the butler did not know how Mrs. Vanderbilt stood on the question of women voting. He had never asked her opinion. The missionary asked permission to leave a circular.

"You believe in our cause?" asked Miss Klatschken.

The butler laughed, and then, as though he had committed a breach of etiquette, he drew in his face.

"No," he said; "I can't say I do," and as he shot the door: "I am married."

Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr., was not in, according to her deferential butler, and he was sorry the ladies were disappointed. He, like his brother next door, was opposed to giving women the right to vote. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman's butler was not even sympathetic. He was emphatically opposed to votes for women, and he said so as he closed the doors of the Harriman home, 35 East Forty-ninth Street.

Miss Eloise Innescourt, a pretty English suffragist, called upon Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Carnegie was not in, or if he was he was too busy to see his caller. Miss Innescourt was so confused she forgot which. She succeeded in getting word from some one inside the house, and the tenor of it was that Mr. Carnegie was not interested in the movement and did not believe in it.

"Is he open to conviction?" asked Miss Innescourt. Word came back that he was not.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor's home was dark when the group of women climbed the steps. At the first tinkle of the bell the lower part of the house sprang into light as by magic, but Mrs. Astor could not be seen. As to whether she was in favor of women going to the polls, that was a matter beyond the knowledge of the butler.

"Really, you know," he said, "that is not discussed."

When asked his own opinion, he had none. The caller pressed a circular into his hand, the door shut and the Astor house was again in darkness.

The declaration of Vincent Astor to one of the suffragists who hiked to Albany that he was not interested in the question of woman suffrage was repeated last evening when an attempt was made to see him. It was understood by the caller that he was out, though she was told that Mr. Astor might be willing to meet her by appointment and go into the subject. The information was carefully written in her notes.

It was Dr. Halton who led the three women who called upon Cardinal Farley. They were received by Mgr. Lavelle. He was sorry, he said, but the Cardinal wished to be excused. Dr. Halton spoke of the work women are doing to get the vote, and Mgr. Lavelle explained that the Catholic Church never took any part in politics.

"Well," said Dr. Halton, "the Cardinal must be in politics, for he said that the women of California were 'following a fad, and it would soon sink into oblivion.'"

Mgr. Lavelle said that in California the Cardinal had been much impressed in seeing the women go to the polls and the orderly way in which they went about the business of casting their vote.

"Perhaps the Cardinal was only in fun," said Mgr. Lavelle with a smile, referring to the statement about women following a fad. He repeated that the Church did not take part in politics, and added that the Archbishop of San Francisco had not been in favor of women voting, and yet, when they did get the vote, the Archbishop told the women it was their duty to vote.

"I think I will mark the Cardinal as 'open to reason,'" commented Dr. Halton as the women left the house.

Miss Innescourt obtained admission to the home of former Mayor Seth Low, and the three visitors took seats while a maid went up to announce them. A few seconds elapsed and the servant came down to announce that she had really forgotten, but Mr. Low was not at home. Mrs. Low was, however, and she consented to announce the callers to her. A few seconds more of waiting and she came down stairs a second time.

"Mrs. Low says, 'Mam, that she don't care to join."

The maid said for herself that she was not in favor of "them women," but she afterward amended this by saying that she had not given the matter much thought. So Miss Innescourt made this entry in her notebook:

"Home of Seth Low, family indifferent, maid open to reason."

Two minutes after the bell rang the door of the Brokaw home was opened about two inches.

"No," said a voice through the opening after the callers had explained their mission.

It was explained to the voice that the Brokaws were to be told that the suffragists had called, and would they give their opinion as to the question involved in their calling. There was a pause. Then through the door:

"And if I do I'll have no job."

The voice still has its job.

A special call was made at the St. Regis to see Mme. Gadski. She was out when Dr. Halton called the first time, and the second call was arranged over the telephone. The visit lasted about ten minutes. The singer said she was in favor of a conditional vote for women. Intelligent women, she thought, should have a vote, but "as to the others, oh, dear, no!"

The singer's husband did not look with favor upon even the vote for some women. He did not believe woman should have the vote, and he told the doctor so in a way which left no doubt as to his opinion.

Perhaps Dr. Jacobi thought patients were coming when the trio of missionaries called upon him at 19 East Forty-seventh Street. They were admitted at once. Miss Ida Almquist, who has the advantage of youth and good looks, was the spokesman. She explained the reason for their coming, and she smiled sweetly as she ventured the opinion that the doctor was in favor of women voting. The doctor was not in favor, and he told his visitors so.

"I may be converted in some future world, but not here," he told Miss Almquist.

Most of the others upon whom the women called were either out or engaged. Their butlers were for the most part sympathetic but not in favor of votes for women.

Dr. Halton voted the affair a great success.

GUARDIANS OF LIBERTY SPLIT

Announcement That Former Head Is Starting New Secret Society.

Ex-Congressman Charles D. Haines, Chief Guardian in the National Court of the Guardians of Liberty, of which he was one of the principal organizers in February, 1912, has resigned as the head of that organization and has moved his office to another floor in the building where the Guardians have their headquarters at 50 West Twenty-fourth Street. It was intimated yesterday that he had taken this step following a disagreement with some of his associates, and that he and his friends contemplated starting a rival organization. Mr. Haines was at Altamonte Springs, Fla., yesterday, and his version of the reported difficulty could not be obtained.

The official organ, The Guardian of Liberty, the first number of which has just been issued, carries this statement:

> Members of the Guardians of Liberty from different parts of the field have advised headquarters of the receipt by them of letters in which the names of Charles D. Haines, Augustus Barnett, and J. B. Cleaver occur as the promoters of a new order based on secrecy among its members. This organization has no relation to or dealings with the Guardians of Liberty, even though the names above mentioned are persons who have hitherto been actively identified with the Guardians. Local courts should be on the watch, so as not to be misled into any confusion on this matter.

Since the withdrawal of Mr. Haines the Guardians of Liberty have elected Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, to be Chief Guardian, and most of the other offices are filled by new men. Rear Admiral George W. Baird, U. S. N., retired, holds the office of Chief Attorney; P. Corning Edwards is Chief Recorder in place of the Rev. Dr. Augustus E. Barnett; Dr. J. D. Buck is Chief Custodian, and Dr. Thomas M. Stewart is Chief Vigilant.

Recorder Edwards is also the editor of The Guardian of Liberty, and despite the reference therein to ex-Congressman Haines and Rev. Dr. Barnett he said that Mr. Haines had withdrawn because of his desire to attend to his personal affairs.

The organization has attracted attention several times because of written articles and statements made in public by some of its members in criticism of the policy of the Catholic Church, which was characterized as a menace to American institutions and to the civil and religious liberty guaranteed under the Constitution. In this first issue of The Guardian of Liberty is an article pointing out that the Guardians of Liberty are "non-political" and "non-religious," and that if the Guardians are arrayed against the "sedition and treason of the Roman hierarchy in America it is for political and not religious reasons, and Rome can blame itself alone for such opposition." The article concludes: "Americans! Let us guard all our liberties at any cost, and to the last ditch, if necessary."

Gen. Daniel E. Sickles and Gen. Horatio C. King of Brooklyn resigned from the Guardians of Liberty after one of its members had made a speech concerning the purpose of the organization and the things it opposed.

CITY BREVITIES.

The Board of Directors of the Tuberculosis Preventorium for Children will hold a special meeting and reception in honor of Countess of Aberdeen next Thursday afternoon at the Academy of Medicine, 17 West Forty-third Street.

An illustrated lecture of "The History of Tammany Hall" was given at the City Club last night by Edward Kellogg Baird. Among the stereopticon views presented were some of the famous cartoons of Nast and many pictures of old New York. Mr. Baird's lecture was historical and not political. Many ladies were among those present.

County Judge Lewis L. Fawcett of Kings County was unable to appear yesterday at the opening of the new term of his court. Word was received from Spring Island, Port Royal, S. C., that he was ill there with the grip.

Sheriff Harburger yesterday appointed the following special deputy sheriffs: L. M. Boomer, manager of the Hotel McAlpin; Harry Kelly of the "Winsome Widow" company, Claude Robinson, Treasurer of the New Amsterdam Theatre, Gen. A. Delos Kneeland, and Rupert A. Ryley of 242 Fifth Avenue.

WHITMAN ASKED TO EXTRADITE SIPP

Dougherty Wants Accuser of Policeman Fox Brought to This City Without Delay.

GRAND JURY HIRES SLEUTHS

Private Detectives Now Searching Harlem for Graft Evidence—Rose Offers His Aid to Whitman.

Deputy Policeman Commissioner Dougherty asked District Attorney Whitman yesterday to take steps to extradite George A. Sipp, the Harlem resort keeper, who testified before the Curran committee that he had paid graft to Policeman Eugene Fox and who was arrested in Atlantic City, where he fled after Fox was arrested by order of Commissioner Waldo.

"I shall take up the matter at once," said Mr. Whitman, "because it is my duty to do so. Mr. Dougherty has sent me all the evidence he has. It will be presented to the special Grand Jury, and the witnesses will be examined. If the evidence is sufficient Sipp will be indicted, and then proceedings will be begun at once to bring him within the jurisdiction of the courts here. He cannot be extradited unless he is indicted. If the Grand Jury should deem the evidence insufficient and should fail to return an indictment Sipp would be released by the authorities at Atlantic City."

Sipp, it was said, hoped his lawyer would be able to procure his release on bail, but no Judge was available yesterday who was competent to sign the bond. Justice Kalisch was expected to reach Atlantic City last night, but word was received that he would not arrive until this morning. Then a motion will be made for Sipp's release. It was said that Sipp was suffering from a tumor, and that he should be in a hospital and not in a cell. In case bail was refused an application would be made, it was said, for the transfer of Sipp to some place where he could procure necessary medical attention.

It was learned yesterday that the police have four witnesses to the crime with which Sipp is charged. One of these is Martha Miller, now an inmate of the Magdalen Benevolent Home; another is Georgiana Risinger of 120 East 122d Street. The other two witnesses are cabmen, and the police have refused to give their names. They will only be called as witnesses, in case the testimony of the two women is deemed insufficient.

The arrest of Sipp has stirred all those who have been trying to better police conditions in this city. Henry H. Curran, Chairman of the Aldermanic Investigation Committee, said yesterday:

"Police Lieut. Stanton appeared before the committee under subpoena and testified. Then Detective Oliver accused him of trying to extort money three years before. Stanton was tried at Police Headquarters and dismissed from the department. Mrs. Mary Goode testified about police graft before the committee and she was so persecuted by the police that she was compelled to hide. Only two men know where she is. Then Sipp testified, and all at once the police discovered that he was guilty of terrible crimes. That is the only comment I shall make on the situation."

The special Grand Jury will meet today and a woman, who is expected to tell a story of police graft, similar to the one told by Mrs. Goode, has been subpoenaed to appear before it. It was said at Mr. Whitman's office yesterday that her story would probably corroborate the one told by Mrs. Goode, and that it might implicate some policemen whose names had not been connected with the graft accusations. Mr. Whitman said that he did not know whether any indictments would result from the cases that would be brought before the Grand Jury, but he was sure that he would not ask for any unless there was enough evidence to make convictions likely in the courts.

"Jack" Rose, the witness against Lieut. Becker, called on District Attorney Whitman yesterday with a proffer of help in running down police graft. Rose called without invitation, and Mr. Whitman received him coldly. After a talk of half an hour Rose was told to call again on Thursday with any proof of police grafting he might have. Mr. Whitman was somewhat puzzled by the visit. He could not figure out just what it was that Rose was after. He said that to credit Rose with wanting to help the criminal authorities to run down graft and crime needed mode credulity than he possessed. If Rose has any information that will help in punishing criminals it will be thankfully received, Mr. Whitman says, but if he is trying to punish somebody on his own account, he will be dismissed without ceremony.

It was reported yesterday that the special Grand Jury had employed five or six detectives to run down some of the stories that had come to it about police graft. Much of the work of these detectives, it was said, had been done in Harlem, with the result that information had been obtained to the effect that all of the disorderly resort keepers in that part of the city had combined to punish Sipp for daring to tell stories about paying protection money to the police. Nobody connected with the District Attorney's office would discuss the report, but inquiry showed that some special detective work was being done.

It was said that word had come from a detective assigned to inquire into the financial condition of Capt. Thomas W. Walsh, who was in charge of the East 126th Street Police Station for five and a half years, that he owned a fine home at Teaneck, N. J., which he had recently transferred, and that he also owned a $5,000 automobile.

Information obtained by these private detectives concerning the police would be submitted to the Grand Jury, it was said, in the form of affidavits, and the persons involved would be subpoenaed to testify.

VOTE FUNDS FOR INQUIRY.

Aldermen Appropriate $15,000 for Curran Committee.

At the meeting of the Aldermen yesterday, Chairman Henry H. Curran of the Aldermanic Investigating Committee moved the appropriation of $15,000 for the expenses of the committee. Alderman Walsh said that he did not deem the committee a necessary adjunct of the city administration. He said that the courts, the District Attorney, and the Grand Jury were all busy handling a situation which a "detestable crime" had made plain. Mr. Walsh referred to the Rosenthal murder. He closed by saying that the committee had already proved that there were vice and gambling in the city. The Aldermen voted in favor of the appropriation.

The committee will meet again at 2 o'clock to-day. Captains in the First Inspection District will be called, and questioned along the line followed when Capt. Ormsby was a witness. The purpose of this line of inquiry is to lay bare the present system of running the department.

RAISE AUTO SPEED PENALTIES

Aldermen Unanimously Pass Ordinance Allowing 15 Miles an Hour.

By unanimous vote the Aldermen passed an ordinance yesterday fixing the speed at which automobiles may go through the city streets at fifteen miles an hour. On some streets eighteen miles an hour is allowed. The present rate of speed allowed under the law is eight miles an hour. More serious punishment for violation of the law is provided in the new ordinance.

There is a graduated scale of punishment, the unit of one year being made the basis for determining "first, second, and third offenses." The first offense is punishable by a fine of from $25 to $100, or by imprisonment not to exceed fifteen days, or both; the second offense, if a conviction is obtained within a year of the first, of a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100, or by imprisonment not to exceed thirty days, or both, while for subsequent convictions the fine is to be not less than $100 or imprisonment for sixty days, or both.

Owners of cars, as well as drivers, will be held responsible for violations. The ordinance on this point says:

"Any person who shall operate, drive, or propel, and also any owner thereof riding theron or therein, who shall cause or permit any vehicle subject to provisions of Section 1 of this article, to be operated, driven, or propelled, in violation of any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor," &c.

The new law is to go into effect on March 1, and all ordinances now on the books which are inconsistent with the provisions of the new ordinance are repealed. The eighteen miles an hour speed is allowed on Broadway north of 125th Street and on Amsterdam Avenue north of 125th Street, in Manhattan; on the Grand Concourse and Boulevard, in the Bronx, and on Atlantic Avenue, Eighteenth Avenue, Flatbush Avenue, Fourth Avenue, Fifteenth Avenue, and King's Highway, in Brooklyn.

It also is provided that a rate of speed of twenty miles an hour may be maintained but not exceeded on the Queens or Hoffman Boulevard, in Queens, and that a speed of twenty-five miles an hour may be maintained but not exceeded "on public highways where the same pass through country sections which are substantially undeveloped and sparsely settled."

The provisions do not apply to vehicles carrying United States mails; wagons, trucks, and apparatus of the Police and Fire Departments, repair wagons of public service corporations, or ambulances.

OPENS SULLIVAN CASE.

Banker Charged with Appropriating $20,000 of Union Bank Funds.

The trial of David A. Sullivan, the former President of the old Mechanics' and Traders' Bank, indicted for grand larceny, began yesterday before Justice Frederick E. Crane in Part V. of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. Sullivan is charged with appropriating a note for $20,000 made out by the Ashford Company and deposited with his bank after the company had arranged for a loan to Mrs. Gazella Maske. The note was made out on Oct. 15, 1907, and Sullivan was indicted in September, 1911, during the course of an investigation of the defunct Union Bank. The jury was selected, the District Attorney outlined the prosecution of the case, and the testimony of the first witness was taken yesterday.

District Attorney Cropsey opened the case for the prosecution. He explained that the Ashford Company was organized for the purpose of lending money. It did not have any money of its own, according to the District Attorney, but when loans were arranged it easily got the money from Sullivan's bank.

Abijah Dederer, formerly Cashier of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank in Manhattan was the first witness called. He testified that he had heard of the Joralemon Security Company, but did not know anything of the Ashford Company.

The trial will be continued to-day.
